SHOWDOWN DUE IN CAPITAL ON RETRENCHMENT

House and President Are at Odds.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 17.—[Special.]—There will be a showdown in the house this week between the Democratic leadership of that body and the Hoover administration on the economy program. Its outcome will determine what prospect there is of effecting even the moderate curtailment of government activities and expenditures so far envisaged by the President and leaders in congress.

JOHN McDUFFIE.

President Hoover who did not bestir himself in behalf of any unusual economy program until after the Democratic economy committee of the house began operations is now aggressively pressing his omnibus bill which he estimates would cut expenses more than 225 millions of dollars.

The Democratic leaders are throwing cold water on his plan, asserting that it would not save more than 178 million dollars, and contending instead for their program of four bills designed to reduce expenditures about 200 million dollars.

Test on Two Programs.

The immediate test of strength between the supporters of the administration and of the Democratic programs will determine whether the house is to adopt Mr. Hoover's enforced furlough plan which the President claims would save 85 million dollars a year in government employes' pay, or the John McDuffie 11 per cent pay cut amove $1,000, which is estimat I would save 67 million dollars.

In proposing these economies both the administration and congress have made concessions to the increasing popular demand that neither dreamed of making in the first week of December when congress met and the President submitted his annual message. Neither one, however, yet contemplates any sweeping abolition of the paternalistic, subventionary and regulatory functions grafted upon the federal government which account for the expenditure each year of more than 800 million dollars of the four billion dollar cost of the central government.

Handouts Total Millions.

Neither the President's nor the congressional economy plan contemplates any radical or permanent diminution of the federal aid handouts to the states which now approximate 500 million dollars a year. Neither one envisages any radical reduction of the army of the federal bureaucracy which now numbers more than 600,000 persons. The conception of each plan is a temporary retrenchment, as a sop to the popular demand, until times mend, the agitation for economy subsides and it becomes possible to go full steam ahead once more with all the departments, bureaus, boards and commissions operating fully manned. The reason is that neither the executive nor congress is disposed to shear away the multitudinous paternalistic aids, subventions to various interests and regulations of business activities and personal conduct which have been taken over by the central government from the jurisdiction of the states.

Mr. Hoover, who is described as "government minded," is responsible for a large part of the development of the paternalistic services and subsidies to industry and commerce, particularly in the department of commerce now housed in the 17 million dollar palace the erection of which he promoted and achieved. He regards it the function of government to perform these services in every field of endeavor.

Want Something for Nothing.

In congress any radical abolition of these activities of the central government is hampered not only by such philosophy of the function of government but by the motive of getting for one class for nothing something that another class is compelled to pay for. Thus, for example, the outstanding aspect of the attempt to get appropriations reduced as little as ten per cent is the resistance of rural constituencies to the curtailment of services and privileges that are paid for by the 2,500,000 income tax payers who are the main support of the government and who live mainly in cities. Despite the fact that urban now slightly outnumbers rural population, rural America is still in the saddle in Washington.

BATTER IN JAIL, DRAG RAPIST TO TREE, HANG HIM

Saint Francis, Kas., April 18 [Monday].—Sheriff A. A. Bacon of Cheyenne county announced early today that he had been notified by telephone that Richard Read, confessed slayer and rapist of 8 year old Dorothy Hunter of Selden, Kas., had been hanged to a tree by a mob four miles southwest of Atwood, Kas. Read was taken from the Cheyenne county jail after the mob had forced officers to give up the keys.

Bacon said his informant was a member of the mob which abducted Read from the Saint Francis jail.

Tell Coroner to View Body.

A member of the mob also telephoned Dr. Charles E. Hennenberger, Rawlins county coroner at Atwood, to come and view the body. The coroner departed. It was Dr. Hennenberger who Saturday examined the body of the tiny victim and said she had been raped and then killed by a blow which fractured her skull.

Previously the mob had been reported as having passed through McDonald, headed toward Atwood, with the ultimate destination thought to be Selden, home town of the girl.

J. H. Indos, deputy sheriff, said the mob, heavily armed, numbered fifty. He said he gave up the keys when the mob began to batter in the brick walls of the small jail with telephone poles and attacked the cells.

Come Into Town Quickly.

Coming into town quietly in several groups, the mob gathered at the jail. Meeting Indos and other officers, they first sought to obtain the keys without violence. The officers refused. Then the mob began the battering and the officers relinquished the keys.

Indos said he overheard one of the men in the mob say the party was headed for Selden, home town of the girl. This was apparently confirmed when the mob, with Read, passed through McDonald, half way between Saint Francis and Atwood and in the general direction of Selden.

Sheriff Out to Meet Mob.

Sheriff Jennings of Rawlins county, with four deputies, was said by his son, Ralph Jennings, to have headed west to meet the mob, but Read was hanged before the sheriff's party encountered the lynchers.

Sheriff E. McGinley of Colby, twice saved Read from mob vengeance yesterday. He was spirited to a supposedly secret hiding place after he led officers to a haystack where he had concealed the girl's body.

St. Francis is many miles across the Kansas prairie from the scene of the rape and slaying. The girl was slain Friday after Read, an ex-convict, 53 years old, and a farmer bachelor, had lured her into his motor car Thursday evening as she was leaving the Selden schoolhouse.

Served Term in Colorado.

The slain child, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hunter, was buried in Hoxie, Kas., after the Selden high school auditorium had been crowded for her funeral service. She was one of four children.

After the funeral yesterday groups of men gathered in Selden and debated whether to seek Read's hiding place or let the law take its course. It was reported leading men of the town urged the citizens not to take mob action.

Read was sentenced in 1916 to a term in the Colorado prison for criminal assault on a 15 year old girl.

Delaware Girl Returned.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 17.—[Special.]—Negotiations of a Philadelphia priest and a coroner's physician delivered Hilda Brodsky, 8 years old, from the hands of kidnapers in this city today and restored her to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brodsky of Wilmington, Del., 54 hours after she had been abducted while walking toward a public school in her home city.

Police denied that Mr. Brodsky, a reputedly well to do hosiery manufacturer and notions dealer, had paid a ransom for the girl's release. The kidnapers had demanded $50,000.

With her return, unharmed, a man hunt was begun in four states for her kidnapers, whose names were said to be known to police. They were believed to be a man and a woman, the former a Philadelphia gangster.

Definite negotiations with the kidnapers were begun early today by the Rev. Joseph Pugliese of the church of St. Mary Magdalen. The priest worked in coöperation with Dr. Arthur Keegan, coroner's physician, who lives in the same neighborhood.

A POOR OUTLOOK FOR A HARVEST

WATCHMAN SHOT WHEN HE HALTS ROBBERY IN LOOP

Harry D. Smith, 26 years old, of 1421 Congress street, a Pinkerton watchman, was shot in the abdomen early this morning in a fight with four or five hoodlums in an alley off Adams street, between Wabash avenue and State street. He was taken to St. Luke's hospital and operated upon in an effort to save his life.

Apparently, police said, he had interrupted the men in an attempted burglary of the L. Fish Furniture company store, 208 South Wabash avenue. The door was partly open, and Smith's hat and gun were found at the door. Earlier it had been believed that Smith was attacked in an effort to eliminate him as a witness in a robbery case.

The robbers attacked Smith as he appeared in the alley. The watchman drew his gun. He was felled with blows from guns, blackjacks and other weapons. Three shots were fired.

Smith recently identified Lawrence King as one of the bandits in a $10,000 theft. On March 20 three men held Herman Saperston, his wife and another woman prisoners in his home at 5050 Glenwood avenue. They forced him to divulge the combination of the safe in the Cutler Shoe store, of which he is manager, in the Palmer house. One of the men then drove to the door, entered with a woman and emerged a few minutes later with $10,000 taken from the safe. Smith on March 30 identified King as the man who emerged from the store.

Youths Boast of 8 Attacks on Young Girls

Two young rapists who boasted that they had kidnaped seven or eight young women from the vicinity of the University of Chicago during the last few weeks abducted a high school girl and her escort last night and ravished the girl.

The rape was the latest of twelve or fifteen on the south side in little over a month, it was said, and the residents there are reported to be aroused. Police squads have been on the lookout for the hoodlums and are ready for a little quick shooting, if necessary.

Victim a High School Girl.

Last night's victim was an 18 year old senior in the Hyde Park High school whose name was withheld. She and Harold Overhiser, 20, of 5822 Drexel boulevard, a senior at Tilden High, were returning home from a movie when they stopped their car for signals at 67th street and Jeffery avenue. Two armed men, each about 24 years old, boarded their automobile. They forced Overhiser to drive to 81st street and Jeffery avenue. While one guarded the youth the other assaulted the girl. Then the first man raped her.

Boasts of Seven Other Rapes.

"This is an easy racket," boasted one of the men. "We've already raped seven or eight girls and we picked them up from around the University of Chicago."

The gunmen took $7 from Overhiser and then fled. Overhiser drove to the girl's home. Her father notified police and then took his daughter to the Chicago Lying-In hospital. Physicians said she was suffering from shock and hysteria. At the hospital it was said that two other young women had been treated there last week following brutal assaults.

YOUTH VANISHES AT PARTY; FEAR FALL OVER CLIFF

Frederick E. Reeve of Western Springs, a publisher, left for Boston last night following advices that his son, F. Winchell Reeve, 23 years old, a junior at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, had disappeared during a camping party Saturday night and had possibly fallen over a high cliff.

Details of the party and of young Reeve's disappearance were related last night by Martin Kellogg, an art student and roommate of Reeve at 151 Audubon road, Boston. Six couples were on the party, he said, and drove in four automobiles to the Bleak rocks at Eastern point, on the estate of Col. John W. Prentiss. A bonfire was started.

Reeve was delegates to search for driftwood for the bonfire. He walked inland in the darkness and never returned.

YOUTH WITH GIRL IS SHOT DOWN BY GIRL HE JILTED

A young woman whom he had jilted shot and seriously wounded Sigmund Katey, 28 years old, of 3032 West 41st place, when she saw him with another girl last night. He was taken to St. Anthony's hospital with a bullet in the abdomen.

Brighton Park police arrested Miss Genevieve Judanas, 23, of 4138 Archer avenue, as his assailant. She was hysterical and was taken to the psychopathic hospital on orders of Lieut. Paul Riccio.

Police said that Katey and Miss Judanas had been friends for eight months but that Katey had severed the friendship abruptly some days ago for the other girl, Miss Mae Malichek, 24, of 3036 West 42d street. Last night Miss Judanas encountered Katey and Miss Malichek at a neighborhood theater and again met them two hours later in front of 3046 West 43d street.

She and Katey exchanged a few words. Suddenly, it is charged, Miss Judanas fired. She had been holding her hands folded in front of her. Police arrested her at her home a few minutes later. She denied the shooting, but was identified by Katey and Miss Malichek.

GANG BEATS UP 2 ORDERLIES IN HOSPITAL STRIKE

Robert Guy, 26 years old, 2837 Burling street, and Powell Sinks, 28 years old, 2050 Van Buren street, orderlies at the Psycophathic hospital, were seized by four men early yesterday as they left the institution and were severely beaten. Sinks suffered a fractured jaw in the attack. Both he and Guy were employed at the hospital after about 50 employés went on strike several weeks ago in sympathy with 27 others who had been discharged. Guy said that while he believed the men were pickets of the strikers he did not recognize any of them. It was reported several days ago that an adjustment had been reached between the hospital management and the strikers, but none of the latter have been reëmployed as yet.

Fosdick and Rockefeller Church Aids Cut Salaries

New York, April 17.—[Special.]—Dr. Harry Fosdick and his associate ministers at Riverside church, known also as the Rockefeller church, have voluntarily reduced their salaries enough to cut next year's expenses of the church by more than $35,000, he announced today in his sermon, "Fares, Please." He asked the congregation's support in balancing the church budget.

BERLIN, April 17.—Adolf Hitler's National Socialists [Fascists] scored a victory today when their demand for the dissolution of the Oldenburg diet carried in the state plebiscite with the aid of the communist vote.

65 Cows Die in Farm Blaze; Hunt Fire Bug

Sixty-five head of pure bred Holstein cattle were destroyed early yesterday morning in a fire of apparently incendiary origin which swept through the cow shed and several other buildings on the farm of George Pollock, midway between Union and Huntley, in McHenry county, and 18 miles northwest of Elgin. The loss was estimated at $40,000.

Pollock is a leading member of the Pure Milk association, which virtually controls all the milk sold in Chicago area, and is known as one of the prominent dairymen in McHenry county. Possibility was suggested last night that the fire was a retaliatory measure in recent disputes between milk association members and independent producers.

Finds Oil Soaked Straw.

The blaze started in the cow shed and was discovered by Herman Barry, an employé of Pollock, when he was aroused by the barking of dogs. Barry rushed out. The exterior walls of the barn were aflame. Encircling the base of the shed was a fringe of flame. Also at the base were remnants of oil soaked straw. In addition all the windows and doors of the shed were open, obviously to allow a draft.

Concentrated efforts by Pollock, Barry, and others prevented the flames from spreading to the tenant house and to the farm house, but failed to save the horse shed, the corn crib, and a tool house. Nine draught horses were rescued.

Farmer Asks Investigation.

Pollock yesterday notified Paul E. Bertram of Crystal Lake, deputy state fire marshal, and asked an investigation. Will C. McQueen of Elgin, president of the Pure Milk association, was also notified, and announced last night that he would conduct an independent inquiry.

Pollock told the authorities that he had no enemies, and that he knew of no reason for the fire. He was certain, he said, the fire was incendiary. Only last Tuesday Pollock was an observer, but not an active one, of a near riot not far from Union between association members and a group of independent dairymen who were selling their products to a Chicago concern at prices lower than those set by the milk association. About thirty cans of milk were overturned. In the fracas Deputy Sheriff Harold Reese was slugged. Two men were arrested.

No Part in Dispute.

"I had no active part in the dispute between our association and the Union independents," said Pollock last night. "The matter was settled. I do not know why my cattle were destroyed. My loss is partly covered by insurance."

Pollock for many years operated a large feed business in the Lawrence avenue district in Chicago, and went out to McHenry county about six years ago. He bought the old Campbell farm and established what is considered one of the most modern dairy farms in that region. He was a member of various dairy groups, among them the Holstein Breeding association.

The fire which destroyed Pollock's stock was the second largest of the kind in the metropolitan area since last November when forty-three Guernsey cows were burned to death on a Will county farm. The total loss was $50,000. The victim was Isaac Lantz, whose farm is six miles north of Plainfield. Lantz at the time had been at odds with the Du Page county branch of the Pure Milk association.

Nicaragua Trains to Carry U. S. Marines; Fear Rebels

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, April 17.—(AP)—The newspaper La Noticia said today that passenger trains on the government owned Pacific railway would carry a United States marine guard, armed with hand grenades and machine guns, in view of the possibility that rebels around Leon and Chinandega might attack the line.

MASSIE'S STORY CALLED FALSE BY PROSECUTOR

Naval Officer Faces Grilling Today.

HONOLULU, April 17.—(AP)—Prosecutor John C. Kelley declared today that Lieut. Thomas H. Massie did not shoot Joseph Kahahawai, whose killing he confessed on the witness stand yesterday and characterized the defense plea of insanity as "the bunk."

The prosecutor flatly declared he believed Lieut. Massie was shielding one of the three other defendants in confessing he "held the gun" with which Kahahawai was slain. Kelley did not state which of the three, Mrs. Granville Fortescue, E. J. Lord, and Albert O. Jones, he believed Lieut. Massie was shielding.

Prepares for Attack.

The ruddy faced Irish prosecutor made his assertion while engaged in shirt sleeves, in the city hall, with local psychiatrists and Territorial Attorney Harry R. Hewitt in preparing for a vigorous attark tomorrow upon the defense insanity plea.

"He has not put forth any insanity case yet," Kelley declared, referring to Massie. "Not from his story. The lapse of memory he tells about is not insanity. Our doctors cannot see any proof of it yet. There has not been any motivation actions Massie has not shown that he knew any more after he got into the house [the home of Mrs. Fortescue] with Kahahawai than he knew before.

Scoffs at Insanity Plea.

"He says he is convinced Kahahawai attacked his wife. According to his testimony, the only thing Kahahawai told him was 'yes, we done it.' Massie already knew that. It is not like you got kicked on the head and had an immediate response. There was nothing that occurred in the Fortescue house to make Massie insane."

"Why, Massie did not even kill Kahahawai," the prosecutor said.

He did not say what he thought, but turned the finger of suspicion in the direction of Jones, who owned a pistol of the caliber with which Kahahawai was shot and in whose clothes a cartridge clip was found with one cartridge missing. Massie's pistol was a .45; Jones' a .32.

"If Massie killed Kahahawai," Kelley asked, "why did he use Jones' gun instead of his own? He admits that he brought his own gun to the Fortescue home that morning."

MASSIE FACES ORDEAL

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONOLULU, April 17.—Cross-examination of Lieut. Thomas H. Massie by Prosecutor John C. Kelley will enliven the next scene in the Fortescue-Massie murder trial tomorrow morning. Kelley will direct his effort toward breaking the story of the naval officer, who yesterday indicated that he had shot and killed Joseph Kahahawai during a mental blank after the young Hawaiian had cried out, "Yes, we done it!" referring to the rape of Massie's 21 year old wife, Thalia.

The absence of Mrs. Massie from the courtroom during this trial leads to the belief that she will be one of the witnesses to follow her husband on the stand.

Becomes Double Trial.

The injection of the legal insanity issue in the case of the killing of Kahahawai by Clarence Darrow, chief of defense counsel, has taken it out of the narrow groove which the prosecution sought to hold it in, and has opened the door wide to the issue of justification. The case becomes in effect a double trial, that of the cause of Kahahawai's death and that of the guilt of the Ala Moana rape suspects.

A jury disagreed on the rape case once and the whole territory has been divided ever since. Lieut. Massie's story on the witness stand yesterday puts the issue in a new light and also disposes of many evil rumors concerning the naval officer's wife and their relationship at the time of the rape last September.

There is a possibility that another naval officer will be invoked in the insanity vehicle in which Darrow has chosen to rest the deeper issues of this case.

It has been a brilliant defense far and sentiment in the town has already begun to change regarding the character of Massie and his actions following the rape of his wife. His attitude since that time seems to put in a subordinate rôle Mrs. Granville Fortescue, his mother-in-law, who, until now, had been assumed to be the leading one.

She appears to have assisted as an adviser, but Massie was the chief moving force and actor in the kidnaping and actual killing. A distinction was made in the defense, however, that the killing was not an act of revenge nor an "honor slaying," as it has long been called, but the result of a moment when Massie's normal voluntary behavior was lost, when a force beyond his control took possession of his mind and pulled the trigger upon which his finger rested without conscious will.

A Case for Alienists.

His awareness of events disappeared, according to the interpretation of the defense, at the final moment, and here the case enters the disputed realm of phychology and mental aberration where the alienists clash. Long medical terms are used and confusion of the jury may result. Underneath it all, however, lies the excuse to apply the unwritten law if the jurors choose a sort of "dementis Americana" as the groundwork, for Darrow refuses to define the type of insanity involved and says no one on earth can do so. He says that the doctors merely call the things by names and then quarrel over the meanings.

The veil has been only partially lifted on what occurred at the Fortescue home on the morning of the killing. The actions of Mrs. Fortescue and the seamen, E. J. Lord and Albert O. Jones, are unknown to Massie beyond the point of his "blank period" a moment before the gun went off and until he found himself in an automobile with Mrs. Fortescue and Lord on a country road an hour later.

Against his vagueness during that period, the prosecution has already placed in evidence the picture of Massie congratulating himself when a police officer said, "Good work, kid," to another police officer as the naval officer sat at the roadside near Kahahawai's body after the capture.

Mrs. Fortescue to Testify.

Evidence that the rope with the purple threads was procured in advance was made the most of by the prosecution to show a premeditated plan of disposing of the body. In order to clear the whole story it is essential now that Mrs. Fortescue and possibly the other defendants take the stand. The sailors, however, have been subordinated to mere standby figures with the exception of the actual kidnaping and the handling of the body afterward.

The blame for the killing rests where the public here always have thought it should rest—on the shoulders of Mrs. Massie's husband. His attitude and manner on the stand leave no doubt that he was convinced to the point of desperate despair that Kahahawai and his gang were guilty of the attack on his wife and that he was unable to get the police courts or other authorities to do anything effective about it.

The rumor concerning Lieut. Branson's actions on the night of the rape, Sept. 12, has also been dispelled, although the story of what happened at Ala Wai inn before Mrs. Massie left for her midnight walk leaves much to be told. It probably cannot enter this case, however.

Kelley in Peculiar Spot.

Kelley is in a peculiar position as a prosecutor. It would be to his advantage to throw a doubt on the guilt of Kahahawai in the present trial, but he will be called upon in the rape trial to prove guilty Kahahawai and the other living defendants who are now out on bail. Their own fears dictated the advice to go back to jail last night for their own protection.

The Hawaiians themselves, it is felt now, rather than the naval officers, might take affairs into their own hands if Massie's story convinces them and they are certain that the boys are guilty.

The Hawaiians are not defenders of rape, but have been led in this case to believe that the scales of justice were tipping unevenly. They know what disgrace has been brought upon the territory and they feel keenly even now, as the trial enters the third week, what the territory is reaping.

Strain Shows on Massie.

One result has been the revelations in Assistant Attorney General Seth Richardson's report, which is just being printed here in full. It is seen as the beginning of a movement which may result in drastic changes in the government here.

The strain of the trial is showing on Massie. His former boyish face is haggard and his hair is slightly streaked with gray. He set himself today to prepare for tomorrow's ordeal. Mrs. Fortescue is also showing the strain. Her face is drawn and her eyes are never still. A month ago she was vivacious and high spirited.

'KREUGER POLICE' TO START WORLD PROBE OF BOOKS

Special Body to Study Late Match King's Affairs.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, April 17.—(AP)—A special "Kreuger department of police" including four lawyers and six detectives, will be set up here tomorrow to conduct an international inquiry into the affairs of the late Ivar Kreuger, Swedish match magnate, who killed himself in Paris recently just before chaos enveloped his vast financial enterprises.

It was understood that more arrests would be made here soon, and that the police activities probably would extend to New York, Berlin, Paris, Amsterdam, and Geneva.

Directed Printing of Bonds.

It is said to have been established that the bonds, representing normally about $100,000,000, were printed at Kreuger's direction by a private firm in Stockholm about a year ago. The head of the firm said that only forms were turned out, that they bore no signatures or numbers, and that in only a few of them was the sum they were supposed to represent inserted.

The firm had no reason to suspect the forms were to be used for an illegitimate purpose, it was said. The experts who investigated said that forty-two treasury bonds of £500,000 [$2,500,000 normally] each had been forged by Kreuger, and that he alone was responsible for their presence in his private safe. The forged signature E. Brelli for the Italian monopolies board was clumsily done, the experts said.

3 Ex-Associates Arrested.

Three men formerly associated with Kreuger—Carl Lange, Sven Huldt, and Victor Holm—have been under arrest for two days, and it was charged that they have participated in a series of complicated transactions for Kreuger since 1925.

These transactions, it was said, gave the impression that the position of the Swedish Match company and similar organizations was better than actually was the case.

The aura of romance that clung to the Swedish financial leader in his business activity has been completely dispelled by the investigation of recent weeks, launched after he was found shot to death in his Paris apartments with a pistol nearby. One newspaper called him a cool defrauder and gambler.

Say Hitler Involved.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 17.—Several Berlin newspapers today asserted that a receipt for $23,000, signed by Adolf Hitler, National Socialist (Fascist) leader, was found in the safe of the late Ivar Kreuger in Stockholm.

This was taken as confirmation of rumors which have been circulating that Hitler had been accepting campaign funds for his Fascist forces from international anti-communist leaders such as Kreuger. Fascist authorities tonight issued a bitter denial of the report.

Cubans Grab Guns from Two Bandits and Kill Them

SANTA CLARA, Cuba, April 17.—(AP)—Two bandits who sought to rob Isidora Cortina's store near here last night were shot and killed by Celio Rodriguez and Antonio Gonzales, employés, who took advantage of the robbers' carelessness to wrest their guns from them. Rodriguez was wounded seriously and Gonzales slightly.

WHY TOTAL ECLIPSE OF THE SUN IS RARE

The diagram shows how an eclipse of the sun occurs when the moon gets between the earth and the sun. The heavy black cone [A] is the umbra in which all sunlight is shut off by the moon. It is only within the comparatively small area where the small end of this cone strikes the earth that the total eclipse is observed. The penumbra [B] covers the area of partial eclipse which is not such a rare phenomenon.

Planes and Balloons to Gather Data.

During the afternoon of Aug. 31 a total eclipse of the sun will sweep down from the arctic region across the province of Quebec and the northeastern corner of the United States, and out over the Atlantic at Cape Cod.

Airplanes and balloons will be used by Dr. Oliver Justin Lee, associate professor of astronomy at Northwestern university, to record temperature and barometric changes accompanying the eclipse. Dr. Lee will make his tests at Fryeburg, Me. Many other astronomers will gather on Mount Washington, in New Hampshire, where the view will be excellent, according to Prof. Philip Fox of the Adler planetarium.

Eclipse a Weird Spectacle.

In a total eclipse darkness covers the earth in the path of the moon's shadow, which travels from 200 to 600 feet a second. Chickens go to roost and the cows come home. Dogs howl in the weird half light that gradually disappears as the moon encroaches upon the sun.

There is a noticeable drop in the temperature, and this, as well as the barometric changes, will interest Dr. Lee and other scientists. An eclipse gives the astronomer a remarkable opportunity to study the solar atmosphere and motion pictures of the corona will be made by Dr. Lee and his assistants.

This year's total eclipse will last approximately 100 seconds, according to Prof. Fox. The maximum obscuration in Chicago will occur between 2 and 4 p. m., with three-fourths of the sun's surface blotted out. Prof. Fox said, the change in light would be hardly noticeable here.

Total eclipses occurred in some parts of the United States in 1923 and 1925, but Chicago has not had one in many years.

FEW PAY THEIR TAXES ON SUNDAY; ONE WEEK BEFORE THE DEADLINE

Despite the fact that only a week remains in which to pay 1930 taxes without penalties, few property owners took advantage of the fact that the county treasurer's office was open all day yesterday to make their payments.

About 200 payments were made, aggregating $30,000. Last Friday, when 25,000 taxpayers jammed the treasurer's office, some $6,000,000 was received. The office was kept open yesterday in the hope of alleviating a similar rush this week. Most of those who paid yesterday were working people who are unable to go downtown during the week.

The penalty date on 1930 taxes, advanced last Friday by action of the county board, falls on Saturday. Chief Clerk Otto C. Woerter had a full force of clerks working in the treasurer's office until 9 o'clock last night to catch up on mail payments. Dozen's of sacks of mail went untended last week because of the number of clerks needed to wait on taxpayers making their payments in person.

ANTI-FASCISTS HALT MUSSOLINI'S PLAY IN WARSAW

BERLIN, April 17.—(AP)—A dispatch from Warsaw to Wolff's News agency said the opening performance there of Benito Mussolini's play, "Campo bi Maggio," was interrupted tonight by anti-Fascists who showered the audience in the National theater with handbills and shouted, "Down with the dictatorship."

The police were unable to curb the outbreak.

BOY NAMED JOE IS BAD LUCK FOR A PAIR OF MAES

The troubles of Mae Mullin, 18 years old, 4227 South Albany avenue, and her chum, Mae Parker, 19 years old, 5318 Lowe avenue, began Saturday night when they returned from a movie and found the Parker home dark. Miss Parker, fearing a reprimand from her mother for staying out late, started to go home with her chum.

On their way they accepted a ride with a boy named Joe, who is 16 years old, they told the police yesterday. Joe picked up three companions. One of the latter had a paper bag in which were a hammer, a saw, and a screwdriver—handy tools for amateur burglars.

At 3 a. m. yesterday, Police Sergt. John Gapinski and his squad saw the car with the four youths and two girls in it, and gave chase. Joe, speeding west in 50th street, turned out his lights in an effort to elude the police. As a result, he failed to see a railroad embankment at Leavitt street.

The automobile bounced up the embankment and came to a stop on the tracks. The boys fled. Sergt. Gapinski and his squad found the two girls hiding nearby. With the help of railroad employés, they pushed the car, later found to be stolen, off the tracks just before a fast passenger train passed. Then they took the two Maes to the detective bureau.

GIRL, 15, TRIES SUICIDE.

Margaret Olson, 15 years old, 1739 North Troy street, tried to commit suicide last night in her home by swallowing a quantity of cleaning fluid. She was taken to the county hospital, where it was said she will recover.

BREACH WIDENS BETWEEN SMITH AND ROOSEVELT

Reconciliation Asserted to Be Impossible.

New York, April 17.—[Special.]—Recent developments in the contest between Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt and former Gov. Alfred E. Smith for the Democratic nomination for President have so widened the breach between them that reconciliation of these two former political friends and associates has become virtually impossible, was the opinion expressed today by close friends of each.

The feeling of resentment, which at first seemed stronger on the part of Mr. Smith, is reported to have extended to Gov. Roosevelt. The governor is understood to have been angered by Mr. Smith's veiled criticism of him in his Jefferson day speech and what he regards as Mr. Smith's attempt to inject the religious issue into the campaign.

Based on Another Speech.

It was made known that Mr. Smith's statement was based on a speech by John F. Dockweiler, son of the Democratic national committeeman from California, who questioned Mr. Smith's availability because of his religion. Mr. Smith, Gov. Roosevelt has been informed, failed to state that the alleged injection of the religious issue in the California campaign was by a Roman Catholic.

The governor also has been informed that Smith candidates for delegates to the national convention have raised the Catholic issue openly and in one instance have circulated handbills appealing for votes for Smith candidates headed, "Cannon and Heflin Must Go."

Gov. Roosevelt is reported to feel that Mr. Smith's recent tactics have been intended to injure him for the election, if nominated, as well as for the nomination, and to believe that these tactics have been unfair.

End Keynote Talk.

The last week's developments have ended all talk of the possibility of Mr. Smith placing Mr. Roosevelt in nomination at the Democratic national convention. It is understood that Gov. Roosevelt, according to the way he feels at present, would not care greatly whether or not Mr. Smith spoke for him, if he should obtain the nomination.

Friends of the governor recalled in that connection Mr. Smith's speeches for Mayor Walker in the 1929 city campaign, in one of which he did not even mention the mayor's name, and declared that such support was worth little to a nominee.

The break between the two candidates, now become definite, has increased the bitterness of the primary contests to be held in Massachusetts and Pennsylvania on April 26, which now have become of particular importance with 112 delegates involved, 36 from Massachusetts and 76 from Pennsylvania.

ROOSEVELT IN CITY

Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, leading contender for the Democratic nomination for President, paused in Chicago yesterday on his way to St. Paul, where he is to make a bid for western support in a speech tonight.

The governor was greeted by a large delegation of Democrats in the Illinois Central station at 2:15 in the afternoon. The delegation was headed by Chief Justice Harry Fisher of the Criminal court, representing Mayor Cermak, who is at French Lick; Clayton F. Smith, chairman of the Democratic county central committee; and County Clerk Robert M. Sweitzer.

Accompanied by His Wife.

Gov. Roosevelt was accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt. He remained in his car for more than an hour with members of the delegation before he was wheeled to an automobile and taken to the Union station, where he boarded another car. He left at 6:30 on the Burlington.

He received reporters with Mrs. Roosevelt at his side. He declined to reveal the theme of his speech tonight other than to hint that he will answer the denunciation of "demagoguery" aimed at him by former Gov. Al Smith at the Jefferson day dinner in Washington last week. The answer, the governor said, is to be indirect, through presentation of his political creed.

Has More Points to Discuss.

"In a previous speech I stressed three points," Gov. Roosevelt said. "They were reconstruction of the tariff, restoration of the purchasing power of farmers, and relief of small banks. At that time I said I had a dozen points. It will be safe to say that I shall discuss another point or possibly several more."

When the Chicago Democrats congratulated him on the increasing number of his pledged delegates, and expressed hope of seeing him in the White House, he smiled.

As the governor came to the platform of his car to pose for photographers he was cheered by the crowd which waited to catch a glimpse of him.

"No Debt Revision"

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 17.—The diplomatic correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph in tomorrow's issue will state that, although Ambassador Andrew W. Mellon in his speech at the Pilgrims' dinners last week carefully avoided any mention of war debts, he has had frequent opportunities for private conversations with British ministers, officials, and fellow ambassadors since his arrival.

Mr. Mellon, the correspondent says, made it perfectly clear that it would be futile for America's European debtors to endeavor at this time to raise the question of any revision—whether by cancellation or reduction—of their respective or collective obligations.

The writer further states that Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson has just been speaking to Premier André Tardieu of France in almost identical language and that, if any more formal and public expression is to be given to the views of the United States, it will be given by Mr. Stimson rather than any ambassadors.

"But it is not Stimson's intention to make public allusion to the matter during his present stay in Europe if it can possibly be avoided," the story says.

ALL DETECTIVES ON CITY FORCE TO CARRY CLUBS

Nightsticks, hitherto carried only by uniformed policemen, became a part of the equipment of every detective squad yesterday. The detectives were given the clubs as a result of several minor riots recently, in the progress of which it was discovered frequently that two detectives, not recognizing each other as members of the force, would fall to fighting. The sticks will serve as means of identification as well as weapons. Patrolmen carry plain sticks, sergeants have sticks with blue tassels, and lieutenants and captains of police have red tassels on theirs.

WALKER PLANS RADIO APPEAL FOR BEER PARADE

New York, April 17.—[Special.]—Mayor James J. Walker is contemplating a radio appeal, to be broadcast on a nationwide network of stations, to crystalize sentiment in various cities throughout the country for a "beer parade" on May 14.

The mayor said tonight he is certain the sentiment of the people in the country is for the return of beer.

"The parade will furnish the best count of noses that I can think of," the mayor said, "much better than the passing of resolutions, or the writing of letters to representatives in congress."

The details will be worked out at a meeting at city hall this week, probably on Wednesday, with a committee to be selected by the mayor tomorrow. Invitations will go out from city hall and the response thus far, it was said, justifies the belief that the committee will be representative of the city's business interests as well as labor, and the public as a whole.

Merchants of Gotham Vote 2,372-40 to Alter Dry Law

New York, April 17.—[Special.]—Members of the Merchants' Association of New York voted 2,372 to 40 in favor of some form of modification of the prohibition law, it was announced today. The majority voted for outright repeal of the 18th amendment, the voting on this question being 2,009 to 148.

SALOONS TOLD: CLOSE IN JUNE, HOOVER'S ORDER

Hear City Must Be Dry for Conventions.

Chicago's speakeasy proprietors have been informed that the city, by orders from Washington, is going to be dry during the big national party conventions in June, if the rest of the country has to be denuded of prohibition agents to make it that way.

"Hoover says you can't operate in June," is the way the message is transmitted to them. "No ifs or ands —if you try it you'll be handled rough."

Political observers said yesterday that great pressure has been put on official Washington in the last few weeks by dry organizations, who, fearing that both parties will put liberal planks in their platforms, desire to have a lily pure city for the delegates.

Unusual Activity Denied.

Col. Amos W. W. Woodcock, national prohibition director, denied that any unusual activity had been ordered by his office, stating that Administrator Malachi L. Harney is responsible for all the cleanup work being done here. Despite this, the belief of the bootleggers that the word comes from high sources is unshaken.

"Don't tell me," said the owner of a saloon near the Chicago Stadium yesterday, "I know. Agents here are passing the dope. They said Hoover sent it down and that's enough for me. They said the month of June and not the month of July.

"The idea is that these dry people think if delgates can't get bootleg liquor they won't vote for legal liquor. Besides that the drys want to make a showing. They want to prove that any place can be dried up if enough authority is put behind it."

Plans Are Revised.

So seriously is the situation regarded in speakeasy circles that many owners have revised their plans for the expected June harvest.

"I intended to stock up with something extra," said the owner of another saloon in the Stadium neighborhood. "I was dickering for a little southern moonshine to add to the regular layout of drinks, just so the delegates from the south would feel at home. But this stuff has got me scared and I won't take the chances."

Records show that during the early part of April there has been unusual activity among the agents. Since last Tuesday a total of 125 places have been raided. Arrests have been made in each. Stocks of liquor have been destroyed and furniture confiscated.

Retail bootleggers, too, have been made nervous by the rumor that many strange agents, imported from other districts, are roaming the metropolitan district, making purchases and card-indexing the locations.

The appeal for the drying up of Chicago is said to have been made by leaders of the Anti-Saloon league, the W. C. T. U., and other dry groups.

MRS. MILLER TO BE HONORED.

Mrs. Bina West Miller of Port Huron, Mich., Republican national committeewoman from her state, will be the guest of honor in the Chicago Stadium May 18, when members of the Woman's Benefit association celebrate the 40th anniversary of the founding of the organization.

FRENCH NEWSPAPER SEES U. S. AS HEADED TOWARD PROSPERITY

PARIS, April 17.—(AP)—A belief that the financial crisis in the United States now is passing through its final "healing phase" and that America is headed for renewed prosperity was expressed today in the newspaper Le Temps. The newspaper said it thought the American recovery would be achieved without any real inflation.

"American money will remain stable," said its weekly financial review. "Losses will be registered and accepted.

"The United States will enter a period of new credits, with the likelihood of an economic prosperity less brilliant than before the crisis, but more real and more solid."

Nearly two columns were devoted to the article. It was signed by Frederic Jenny and led the special financial supplement of the newspaper.

Reviewing conditions after the passage of the Glass-Steagall act in the American congress, which permits banks to borrow money on securities other than those stipulated in the federal reserve regulations, M. Jenny said:

"This chapter in the financial history of the United States is full of lessons. It shows how difficult it is to remedy economic depression by monetary means without at the same time enfeebling the national currency. If things go normally the budgetary deficit will be met, or at least considerably reduced, by new fiscal resources and economies. The bonus proposition will be sidetracked.

"There will be no inflation in the proper sense of the terms. The currency will remain solid."

PLAN TO FLY OVER 'ICE MOUNTAINS' OF ANTARCTIC

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 17.—[Special.]—The ice mountains of the bottom of the world are to be mapped by two of America's most daring airmen. Lincoln Ellsworth, veteran explorer who has made two air expeditions into the frozen wastes of the north polar regions, will fly across the uncharted area known as the antarctic continent. His pilot will be Bernt Balchen, who already has traversed the south pole by air. The expedition, preparations for which have already been started, is being sponsored by the American Geographical society.

BERNT BALCHEN.

The adventure into the antarctic will be purely a voyage of discovery with one of the most important problems to be solved that of establishing the truth of the theory that there may be two instead of one continent in the antarctic.

The explorer and his pilot, according to a brief announcement from Dr. Isaiah Bowman, director of the Geographical society, expect to leave New York next summer.

Ellsworth and Balchen plan to fly generally easterly across the entirely unknown ice wilderness which separates the Ross from the Weddell sea, a distance of approximately 1,500 uncharted miles.

LINDBERGH BABY IN DETROIT, SAYS MAN OVER PHONE

Declares Child Will Be Returned in Week.

Toledo, O., April 17.—(AP)—A mysterious telephone call saying the kidnaped Lindbergh baby is now in Detroit and will be delivered to his parents within a week was received late tonight by the editorial department of the Toledo Times.

The call came from a man who said his name was Patterson, his home New York City. He said that although the child was still in the possession of the kidnapers they had come to a disagreement and that the purpose of his call was to notify Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, the parents, not to pay more money for ransom.

Unable to Trace Call.

Patterson said a message would be sent within two days to a probate judge in Toledo telling how and where to find the child, safe and well.

Before the Times could trace the call the man hung up. Police and telephone company officials, however, began efforts to locate its source.

Although the police admitted the call might have been one of the hundreds of tips which have given false information, they said several points of "Patterson's" story sounded like the truth.

Considerable evidence has accumulated in the east tending to confirm "Patterson's" words that the gang has come to a disagreement, such as the fact that two seemingly separate negotiations for the baby's return have been conducted—one in New York, the other in Norfolk, Va.

Purple Gang Involved.

The failure to surrender the child when the first $50,000 ransom was paid also looked like possible "double-crossing" within the gang, the police said.

"Patterson's" information that the baby is in Detroit was seen by the Toledo investigators as coinciding with the previously expressed opinion of New Jersey authorities that remnants of the notorious "Purple" gang of Detroit were involved.

Just before he hung up the receiver the mysterious caller told the Times he did not dare say more.

Condon Expects Baby Home Soon.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 17.—[Special.]—Contact has been reestablished with the gang that accepted $50,000 for the return of Charles A. Lindbergh Jr., Dr. John F. Condon—Lindbergh's "Jafsie" intermediary—announced late today.

His brief statement, made into the talking picture microphones at a charity baseball game he umpired, predicted the early redemption of the 21 months old heir, now missing for 47 days.

"We are in contact with the kidnapers and the baby will be returned soon, I hope," said the 72 year old Fordham lecturer, who has pleaded in newspaper advertisements for "better directions, please," ever since he handed over the package of currency in a Bronx cemetery two weeks ago.

Disappears from Home.

Resumption of negotiations with the three men and two women who have the baby began only this morning, the New York News ascertained. Dr. Condon, who disappeared from his home Saturday, established the new communication at another home only a few blocks away. His announcement was entirely consistent with other developments of the day.

Col. Lindbergh, according to reliable information, has deposited a large sum in New York so that any part of it may be turned over to the kidnapers at any time of the day or night by persons authorized to deal with them. It was learned that the amount was $100,000 and that half is in gold and half in currency.

Keeps Out of Sight.

As a result of the new contact, it was reported, Col. Lindbergh himself will confer with an agent of the kidnapers either tomorrow or Tuesday. He has insisted that further payment will be made only if the baby is returned simultaneously.

Lindbergh kept out of sight today, as did Col. Henry Breckinridge, his confidential advisor, who spent several hours Friday and Saturday with Dr. Condon.

An unconfirmed report that gained wide circulation during the day put Col. Lindbergh and Col. Breckinridge in contact with a rum ship off Cape Cod Saturday evening. The two men alighted beside the vessel in an amphibian plane it was said.

No Verification of Flight.

No verification of the supposed flight could be obtained at Cape Cod, and Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, queried at Hopewell, declared: "We know nothing of this."

Notwithstanding his faith in Dr. Condon, Col. Lindbergh is following with close attention the efforts of the Rev. H. Dobson Peacock, Rear Admiral Guy H. Burrage, and John H. Curtis, in Norfolk, to arrange for the surrender of the baby upon payment of the ransom. Three times during the day Col. Lindbergh telephoned Mr. Curtis to ask for the latest news. Each time he was told there were no new developments. The three Norfolk men were holding themselves in readiness to answer a summons which they seemed to expect would call them to a final parley with the man, who all three look upon as the bona fide representative of the kidnapers.

Col. Schwarzkopf's car drove in and out of the estate twice today, and late in the day New Jersey police officials began to congregate at the Lindbergh home, apparently for their usual Sunday conference.

SINN FEINERS REFUSE TO ENTER DE VALERA'S DAIL

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

DUBLIN, April 17. — President Eamon de Valera met with new trouble over the week-end concerning his decision to abolish the oath of allegiance to the British king. His situation became extremely complicated by the extremist Sinn Fein movement after he had first antagonized big employers of labor who are threatening to close down part of their works.

De Valera has argued from the beginning that once the oath disappeared all parties would enter the dail. To this he received an unexpected setback today when the Sinn Fein party issued a statement declaring they were the only "Simon Pures."

They announced that they will not enter De Valera's parliament. They represent and stand for a United Ireland, with one army, one navy, one parliament for the whole of Ireland. Politicians declared today that this situation will make De Valera's task much more difficult, inasmuch as he is now faced with the dilemma of the Labor party, which holds the balance of power in parliament. It is understood the Labor members have pledged their support to the bill doing away with the oath.

The W. R. Jacob Biscuit Manufacturing company issued a statement to its employés that "while it did not wish to influence political opinions" it was compelled to state that in the event of the Free State breaking from the British empire its "Dublin factory will close for export and British trade." This will mean a reduction of its employés from 2,500 to 1,000.

There is considerable speculation in Dublin concerning the steps the Guinness brewery will take. The Guinnesses are the largest employers of labor in the Free State, and it is known they have had an alternative site for a brewery near Manchester, England, for many years.

PRIEST REBUKED BY PRELATE FOR TALKS BY RADIO

Boston, Mass., April 17.—[Special.]—Cardinal O'Connell, in an address in which he repeatedly said he was talking as a "Catholic citizen" and not as a prelate, today criticized the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, famed Catholic radio speaker, for his Sunday radio talks.

Although he did not name Father Coughlin, the Cardinal identified him beyond doubt.

"The radio presents a new problem," the cardinal said. "There is a man in Florida or Michigan who talks every Sunday afternoon. He talks to the whole world. What right has he to do this? If he talks about things purely religious and established Catholic truths and teachings, we do not mind.

"The Catholic church is a tremendously serious organization. It deals in human souls. You cannot toy with the welfare of humanity. The teachings of Christ's church are for all. The doctrine of the church knows no class. You cannot blow up the rich, laugh at the bankers, make sensational accusations against the banks, or utter demogogic talk to the poor in the name of the church which is for all rich and poor alike.

"This Sunday afternoon radio address has been stopped for the season. I am glad, as it had gone a little too far. We cannot have people making themselves popular at the expense of one or the other. Popularity does not last. It is like a bouquet thrown at the opera singer—sometimes it hits on the head. They may cry Hosannas today and crucify you tomorrow."

ASSEMBLY DUE TO GET BACK ON JOB TOMORROW

Tax Penalty Date Is One of First Problems.

One of the first problems confronting the legislature when it resumes its special sessions tomorrow is that of straightening out the delinquency dates on 1930 tax collections in Cook county.

GOV. EMMERSON.

The date was fixed originally by statute as Jan. 1. The 1930 tax bills, however, were not mailed out until late in February, and the county board adopted a resolution providing that the charge of a penalty of 1 per cent a month on all tax payments made after the delinquency date should not apply until after April 15.

Deadline Again Postponed.

Then last Thursday the board again postponed the delinquency date until Saturday, April 23. This was done at the request of County Treasurer McDonough and was largely the result of the physical impossibility of handling the last minute rush of tax payments. The actions of the county board in postponing the penalty date must be ratified by the legislature before they become legal.

Gov. Emmerson has vetoed suggestions that he call a fourth special session of the legislature to run concurrently with the three which convene tomorrow, it was reported last night as legislators prepared to depart for Springfield.

A fourth session to enact legislation for the protection of state bank depositors and holders of real estate mortgage bonds was urged during the Republican primary campaign by Omer N. Custer, the Emmerson candidate for governor. Custer was defeated last Tuesday, and the governor is said to feel that the fourth session would be too much of a burden on the taxpayers.

Predict Slim Attendance.

It was predicted yesterday that attendance at the present three concurrent special sessions would be slim, and that it might be impossible to get the two-thirds vote necessary to pass measures containing emergency clauses to make them effective at once.

The first of the present concurrent sessions was called to enact financial relief bills for Cook county governments. The second was called to consider retrenchment legislation, and the third to pass unemployment relief acts. All three were recessed on Feb. 18.

EFFORTS OF RACKET COLLECTING AGENCIES BRING COMPLAINTS

Operations of three racketeering collection agencies have led to complaints from hundreds of Chicago business men recently, the Chicago Better Business bureau warned in a bulletin issued yesterday.

The first approach of the racketeers is similar to that of a legitimate collection agency, the bulletin states. A merchant is solicited for accounts to be collected, but the solicitor specifies that his concern wishes only accounts long past due, which the merchant has given up as hopeless.

Some time later the merchant is informed that the agency has located a bank account in the name of a debtor of the merchant. He is asked to furnish between $60 and $70 for "court costs." That is the last he sees of the money.

When he asks about collection of the debt, he is told that all of the money was spent in obtaining a judgment, and that the bank account, after all, was not in the name of the merchant's debtor. Or the merchant is told that the money for "court costs" was solicited from him by an employé who was working a private racket, and that the agency has dismissed the employé and disclaims responsibility for his actions.

GOOD SAMARITAN TO AUTO CALLERS IS DEAD IN FIRE

Muskegon, Mich., April 17.—(AP)—At least one man was burned to death, possibly two, when one of two men who stopped at a farm house for gasoline to start their stranded automobile lit a cigaret while the farmer was draining the fuel from his own truck tonight.

Charles Mullally, 50, the farmer, died in the fire which destroyed his garage and home.

Officers were waiting for the ruins to cool to search for the body of John Carlson, Muskegon, said by Joe Patarze, his companion, to have been burned to death. Patarze, 38, and also of Muskegon, is in Mercy hospital here with burns about his face and legs.

He and Carlson had awakened Mullally to buy or borrow gasoline for their automobile.

ONE SLAIN IN RIOT OVER DESIGN OF PORTO RICAN FLAG

Many Are Injured as Mob Storms Capitol Building.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, April 17.—(AP)—A young high school student was killed and scores of persons were injured, several seriously, when hundreds of Nationalists rioted in protest against a design for Porto Rico's official flag at the new capital building here early today.

The mob, variously estimated at 500 to 1,500 strong, armed with stones and fence pickets, swarmed into the building to protest against the senate's passage of a bill making the one star independence banner the island's official flag, source of a long standing controversy.

As police fought back, a section of the marble balustrade on a stairway gave way in the crush, letting 20 or more persons fall 25 feet to a concrete basement, while the shattered marble fell on the others as they retreated.

Jail Political Leaders.

Pedro Albizu Campos, president of the Nationalist party, and José Portilla, a former city assemblyman, were arrested on charges of inciting to riot. Warrants were prepared for the arrest of others.

The raid on the capitol was preceded by a Nationalist meeting in the principal plaza to observe the birthday anniversary of the late José De Diego, advocate of independence for Porto Rico and the creation of a Caribbean state through a league of Spanish speaking islands.

Albizu Campos climaxed a speech with the announcement that he would lead the crowd to the capitol in protest against adoption of the independence emblem as the official flag. On the way the crowd armed itself with stones and fence pickets.

Storm Into Capitol.

The crowd swept aside a dozen policemen to enter the capitol where the house of representatives still was in session. It surged up the marble steps. Police made a stand at the stairs, using their clubs to drive the raiders back. A considerable number, however, gained the second floor and were heading for the legislative chamber when other police drove them down the stairs.

After the mob was driven out, the representatives, who had hastily scattered, reassembled. Manuel F. Rossy, speaker of the house, appointed three members to investigate the riot.

Santiago Iglesias, Socialist senator, repeated today his previous contention in the senate that one flag—the American flag—was enough in Porto Rico. For a quarter century attempts of the legislature to adopt an island flag have failed. Gov. James R. Beverley urged the designation of an official flag in a recent message.

Brookfield Police Seek Pair Who Shot Druggist

The Brookfield police yesterday were seeking two robbers, one of whom shot and killed William J. Stinson, 42 years old, in an attempted robbery of his drug store at 9045 Monroe avenue, Brookfield, Saturday night. Police Chief Edward O'Connor said he believed Stinson was shot when he resisted and the bandits became panicky. Stinson, though wounded, chased the bandits to the street where he collapsed and died a few moments later. No one obtained a description of the men, Chief O'Connor said. The druggist lived with his wife and daughter at 195 Quincy road, Riverside.

AUTO HITS THREE; DRIVER AND GIRL VICTIM KILLED

Car Crashes Into Trolley; 2 Hurt.

A reckless driver, swinging his automobile in a complete turn at Western avenue and 24th street last night, struck three young women who were waiting for a surface car, killing one and injuring two, and then lost control of his machine. It crashed into the car for which the girls were waiting and the driver lost his own life. The dead were:

Fail to See Auto.

Standing in the street near the tracks the girls failed to see Davis' car. He was driving rapidly south, according to witnesses, when he suddenly made the turn to go back north. He cut in just ahead of the surface car, struck the girls, and, half turning to the south again, collided with the surface car.

Mrs. Ferucchio Giovannini, standing at a second floor window of her home, saw the accident. Other witnesses took Amelia and Miss Leoni to St. Anthony's hospital, where their condition was described as serious.

William Edwards, 62 years old, of 8017 Rhodes avenue, died last night at the Englewood hospital of injuries suffered Saturday night when he was run down by an automobile at 67th and Green streets. The driver was Walter Mayer, 38, of Tinley Park, Ill.

Toll Raised to 319.

The deaths of Davis and Miss Giovannini and Edwards increased the Cook county motor toll for the year to 318.

The body of a man struck and killed Saturday at Halsted street and Fullerton avenue by a motorist who did not stop was identified yesterday as that of Bert Ulless, 50 years old, 619 Fullerton avenue.

The fatal crash at 24th street and Western avenue occurred a few hours before the new police accident prevention squads were scheduled to begin operation. The new squads, working on eight hour shifts, were scheduled to go into service at midnight.

FIND RUINS OF ANCIENT CITY OF PRE-INCAIC ERA IN SOUTHWEST BOLIVIA

(Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.)

LA PAZ, Bolivia, April 17.—The ruins of a large and ancient city, similar in style to those of Tiahuanaco, have been found fifty miles from Tarija near the Argentine border in southeastern Bolivia, according to private reports received here today. Besides the ruins, the reports say, bones belonging to a still older era were found.

Since colonial times searches have been made at various periods for the ruins of an old Indian city known as Antigal, believed to have been the seat of an extensive culture of the pre-Incaic period.

BOSTON MOVES TO SLASH PAY OF CITY EMPLOYES

Boston, Mass., April 17.—[Special.]—Officeholders are in a furor over a proposed salary reduction ranging from 5 to 20 per cent affecting all city and county employes receiving $2,500 or more per year, and a proposal for the establishment of $6,000 as the maximum salary of any appointive official. The proposal goes to the city council tomorrow.

The conviction that two million dollars can be cut from the appropriation budget by such a graduated salary program and by eliminating the unnecessary personnel in various overmanned departments, provides basis for action to avert any increase in the tax rate.

The best previously offered in the form of budget reductions concerned possible savings aggregating $347,600. Councilmen indicated the budget would be passed. Unless definite action is taken tomorrow or a special meeting is held Wednesday no funds will be available in several departments to meet Friday's pay rolls.

CHICAGO STARTS CLEANUP DRIVE THIS MORNING

Chicago starts its spring housecleaning this morning. During the next two weeks the community will be urged to clean up, paint up, and plant its properties in preparation for the summer and visitors. Preliminary work of the drive has been done by the High School Cleanup Campaign league, headed by Miss Evelyne Blanzek, a junior at Harrison Technical High school. Each high school has a committee to carry on the activities.

Posters urging the cooperation of business men and home owners have been put up in many places, and the subcommittees of the schools will follow up the posters by a house to house canvass, requesting that clean up jobs be undertaken during the two weeks of the drive.

LACK CASH FOR FOOD, SHOT.

George Sanders, a Negro, ate 20 cents' worth of breakfast yesterday in the restaurant of Nick Anas at 1810½ South State street. He had only 18 cents. Anas shot him in the hand. Police locked up the restaurant man.

TWO PARKS SEEK $6,000,000 FROM U. S. FOR BRIDGE

Ask Loan to Complete Outer Drive Span.

The Lincoln and south park boards have applied to the federal Reconstruction Finance corporation for a credit of $6,000,000, in order that they many complete the outer link bridge at the mouth of the Chicago river for the opening of the World's Fair next year. The announcement of the application was made yesterday by President Warren Wright of the Lincoln park board.

WARREN WRIGHT.

His board has abandoned all major improvements, including work on the bridge, because the commissioners refuse to sell the park bonds at a 25 per cent discount, Mr. Wright said. That is the best offer they have had for the issues which provide the only means of financing the improvements, aside from federal assistance, he said.

The request for a loan from the federal agency has been presented through its president, Gen. Charles G. Dawes.

"Our only hope of completing this job in time for the World's fair, as we had hoped to do, is in getting help from the government," said Mr. Wright. "I know Gen. Dawes will do all he can to help solve our problem.

"Failure of a large number of people to pay their taxes has seriously curtailed Lincoln park's revenue, just as it has the revenue of all local tax-supported bodies. Park funds are low and it is our intention to keep out of debt if possible by eliminating all expenditures except those of an absolutely necessary nature."

Work on the foundations of the link bridge was started more than a year ago, but was halted last winter when the park boards ran short of funds.

Pavement of the extension of the outer drive in Lincoln park, from Montrose to Wilson avenue, is to be started soon. This project, costing approximately $400,000, is to be paid for by the state out of gasoline tax receipts.

OHIO BUSINESS TO TAKE TAX CUT FIGHT TO HOOVER

C. of C. Delegation to Call on President This Week.

G. W. ROSSETTER.

Leaders of the Ohio chamber of commerce, which has joined in the battle of midwest business interests against excessive governmental expenditures, will carry the fight personally to President Hoover on Wednesday.

George W. Rossetter, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, which has taken the lead in organizing the war against the tax spenders, announced yesterday the plans of the Ohio business men to register their protests directly to the President. Mr. Rossetter said that increasing momentum has brought the drive to the point where the governmental executives and members of congress must grant the relief sought.

The invasion of the capital by the Ohio delegation was decided upon at a meeting of the Ohio chamber of commerce last week, at which representatives of business organizations all over the state aligned themselves in a fight for a balanced budget.

Will Meet Congressmen.

In addition to meeting with the President, the Ohio leaders will entertain the entire Ohio congressional delegational at a dinner on Wednesday night at which they will take every step to convince their political spokesmen that the voters of their state are serious in their demands for lower governmental costs and for the reorganization of certain federal departments.

"This Ohio pilgrimage to Washington," said Mr. Rossetter yesterday, "follows closely after the recent dinner conference had by officers of the Chicago Association of Commerce with the Illinois Manufacturers' association and leaders in the Illinois delegation in congress. It is setting a fashion for other delegations now being planned by business leaders from other middle western states, and should convince our senators and congressmen that the rapidly increasing multitude who want to know the why and the wherefore of every tax dollar are in no mood to take evasions for answers."

Clubs Join in Drive.

Mr. Rossetter announced that the Central Lions club and other Lions neighborhood organizations have enlisted in the Chicago anti-tax-waste movement, and that the Chicago Rotary club has also announced its support.

Members of the Illinois Taxpayers' association are now being urged by their officers to get behind the tax fight, according to L. L. Castetter, secretary of the rural campaign that already has resulted in lower governmental budgets in several of the downstate counties.

South Bend, Ind., April 17.—[Special.]—A family quarrel ended in tragedy here tonight when James Horvath, eighteen, shot and killed his father, Joseph Horvath, 51, a grocer, after the parent had threatened him with a knife, according to the youth's story to police. The young man himself telephoned police after the shooting and gave himself up when they arrived. Police found the knife still clutched in the slain man's hand. A thirty-eight caliber revolver was used.

Retires on Pension

B. C. Lewis, conductor on the Capitol Limited of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, made his last official trip yesterday. Mr. Lewis, who has been in the service of the railroad for 51 years, will be retired on pension after his last run, which terminated at Willard, O., last night. He is 71 years old. Mrs. W. G. Brown, wife of the general passenger agent of the railroad, presented him with an armful of roses at a short ceremony in the Grand Central station before the train pulled out.

BRITISH BREWERS FIGHT NEW RIVAL, 'EMPIRE' WINES

Price Level Nearly Even with Beer.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 17.—A battle of the brewers is on in Britain against a new common enemy invading the country from overseas. The new legions come flying the Union Jack, however, and have the support of the "Buy British" campaign which seeks to confine all purchases within the empire. The adversary is Australian and South African wines.

In London and its environs a rough estimate sets forth that empire wine sales during the recent Easter holidays were something over 47 per cent more than a year ago.

Cuts Brewers' Receipts.

This revenue is naturally taken out of the pockets of the hard driven brewers, who are now taxed so heavily that their sales are on a steady decline. Beer is the drink of the working people of England, men and women. But they drink beer only because it is least expensive.

If they can afford it they drink gin and port, or perhaps stout. These beverages are more genteel and less bloating. But Australian and South African wines now have a price level almost equal to that fixed for beer, which generally costs 8 or 9 pence [about 12 to 14 cents] per pint in the public bars frequented by working class people. Prices are not identical as to quantity, of course, but measured in the kick provided empire wines break about even with Britain's beer.

Shops "Close" to Wines.

Therefore the brewers are up and doing to meet the new competition. "Pubs" from one end of the country to the other are now placarded with signs exhorting the customer to drink more beer. Beer is British, and the food values it contains are loudly extolled.

Many of the big crewers control giant chains of saloons, and these naturally impose rigorous restriction on the brand and type of drink sold in their houses. Wine agents say these "controlled" houses have baycotted dominion wines altogether.

To meet this competition agents in London are urging producers in Australia and South Africa to open a chain of empire wine shops throughout the kingdom.

ECONOMY SLOGAN SETS DEMOCRATS A 'RARIN' TO GO'

But Warring G. O. P. Forces Fear to Meet.

BY PARKE BROWN.

While warring Republican factions were wondering about their leadership yesterday, the leaders of the Democratic party in Illinois determined to go ahead with economy as their slogan.

Under the provisions of the state primary act, both Republican and Democratic county conventions must be held today as preliminaries to the state conventions which, according to the same act, must be opened next Friday. The Democrats are "rarin' to go" while the Republicans, because of factional difficulties, are fearful of the consequences if the hostile factions of the primary are called together.

Plank on Economy.

Under these conditions the Democrats took the lead yesterday by promising they will incorporate in their county and state platforms absolute commitments to a program of saving money for the taxpayers.

Numerous conferences have been held in Chicago since the polls closed last Tuesday. But the important factor in the situation is definite word that Mayor Cermak, resting at French Lick Springs, Ind., has decided that the Democratic party must adopt a program of retrenchment in state affairs, such as he has instituted in Chicago, if it hopes to win in the fall.

Here, in brief, are the proposals that Mayor Cermak and his associates hope to see incorporated in the Democratic state platform:

Consolidation of the Chicago park systems, with the county forest preserve system under one board of commissioners named by the governor, the mayor of Chicago and the president of the Cook county board.

Shortening of the ballot by elimination of positions such as court clerkships, the consolidation of offices such as city treasurer, city controller and city collector, and provision for four year terms for aldermen.

Elimination of unnecessary positions including country town assessors and collectors.

Hope for Resignations.

To carry out this program, the Democrats propose to include in their platform a pledge that those elected officials whose positions are eliminated by the retrenchment program will resign their offices in the event that the economy legislation is successful.

But even more strenuously than the economy idea, the Democratic platform, it is said, will declare for the termination of prohibition. So far as is known only one nominee is a dry. He is Kent E. Keller, renominated for congress from the 25th district. Unless he changes his attitude, it is said, the organization in that district may refuse to support him.

The Democratic county convention also is expected to shift some of the organization lines as a result of the big Democratic vote last Tuesday. Because of the switch to the Democratic ranks, the country towns of the county probably will be revised on the basis of the vote cast in the primary.

The Republicans were reported still at sea over their problems. The postponement of the state convention announced by State Chairman C. J. Doyle was said to have led to a desire to delay the selection of a county chairman and other matters of organization scheduled for today.

It is believed there is little chance of an agreement upon a chairman who could successfully lead the party's local forces for the next two years.

It was suggested that a temporary chairman might be placed in charge. B. W. Snow or William H. Weber of the country towns were mentioned in the discussions, until something more like peace has settled on the party.

The west side group led by George F. Barrett was said to be still intent upon his selection as chairman but the lesser factions, still in control, were said to favor postponement.

MEXICO DEPORTS CHICAGO WOMAN; HER CHECKS BAD

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

MEXICO CITY, April 17.—Three alleged swindlers were deported from Mexico today as "pernicious foreigners." They were Roy Reynolds of St. Louis, John F. Heedman of San Diego, Cal., and Anna Harper of Chicago. Mexico City police stated they would be picked up by American authorities.

Their alleged fraudulent transactions in Mexico, according to Luis Lara Robelo, chief of detectives, totalled 200,000 pesos, nearly $100,000. They operated all over Mexico, he said, buying automobiles with Cuban checks drawn on American banks.

It was further said that investigations showed the three were associated with the notorious Joy B. Harper, who was extradited to the United States several months ago after passing a year in the penitentiary here. Anna Harper is his wife.

Floods Sweep Over Polish Villages; Destroy Crops

PINSK, Poland, April 17.—(AP)—Floods had destroyed more than half the crops in this section today and numerous villages were under water.

KILLS HIS WIFE FOR SINGING AT CHURCH AFFAIRS

Greencastle, Ind., April 17.—(AP)—Said by police to have objected to his wife's singing at church affairs, Elisha Baldwin, 66, Putnam county farmer, today slashed her throat and then attempted to kill himself. Mrs. Baldwin died in a hospital two hours later.

The attack, witnessed by their 12 year old son, Morris, and Mrs. Baldwin's elderly mother, occurred in the Baldwin home northwest of here as Mrs. Baldwin was dressing to sing at a funeral.

Baldwin accompanied his wife here after the attack and surrendered to authorities. His self-inflicted cuts were only minor wounds.

Walter Winchell, Writer, Seriously Ill in New York

New York, April 17.—[Special.]—Walter Winchell, Broadway columnist, has suffered a general breakdown and is confined to his home seriously ill, his wife revealed today.

CARVETH WELLS, NOTED EXPLORER, IS SUED BY WIFE

New York, April 17.—[Special.]—Carveth Wells, the kind of a fellow who might throw red pepper into the faces of sleeping lions—was served with divorce papers tonight on returning to New York from one of his many treks.

The noted explorer and adventurer is being sued by Mrs. Louard T. Wells, who on many occasions accompanied her husband on jungle safaris. She spent six years with him in the Mayala jungles and her own intrepid exploits on the globe's savage frontiers have often rivaled those of her husband as breath taking thrillers.

In her petition for a divorce, which will be filed in Supreme court, Manhattan, Mrs. Wells names Miss Zetta Robart of Alexandria, Va., as the co-respondent.

In her papers, Mrs. Wells states that her globe gallivanting husband obtained a divorce in Morelos, Mexico. She charges the Mexican decree is invalid because she was never notified about his intentions to divorce her, and that she was in no way represented at the hearing at which he obtained his freedom.

Mrs. Wells' complaint says that the explorer married Miss Robart on last March 7. He will have twenty days to answer her complaint.

FLY TO MEXICO, DIVORCED, WED; ALL IN 4 HOURS

MEXICO CITY, April 17.—(AP)—A divorce and marriage triangle involving three Americans was completed in less than four hours today at Chihuahua City, said dispatches received here.

William Horwitz and his wife, whose maiden name was Agatha Nolen, arrived there by airplane and obtained a decree by mutual consent within an hour, the dispatch said. Shortly afterward Mr. Horwitz and a woman named Margaret Walsh, who had arrived in a second airplane, were married. The newlyweds departed in one airplane while the former wife left in the other. None of their American addresses was given.

PUBLIC WORKS PROGRAM PILES UP ITALIAN DEBT

Costs of Government Are Found Doubled.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, April 17.—Premier Mussolini's government is now squarely confronted with the financial problems arising out of two or three years of spending more than the country's revenue would justify.

The state as a going concern in consequence has too much overhead. The budget has shown a deficit for two years. Unpaid bills have piled up and the floating debt is increasing.

The overhead has been acquired through costly government and what is looked upon as too much government. The state has been concerning itself [in accordance with the principles of the so-called corporative state] with a wide range of social and economic enterprises. A heavy bureaucracy, many commissions and committees of control and generally increased governmental machinery have resulted.

Costs Doubled and Tripled.

Provincial and local government is estimated to cost two and three times what it did in previous years. Large amounts of government revenue go into subventioned industries and commercial enterprises through agencies called "parastatale," or organs set up to establish indirect government control and and to industry. Transport, insurance, mining, metallurgy, hydroelectric production, chemical production, and thermal exploitation are some of the activities over which "parastatale" control is now exercised.

All are a danger to healthy economic development and a heavy charge on taxpayers, Giuseppe Belluzzo, former minister of national economy, warned recently in arguing against the substitution of the corporative state to such an extent for private initiative. Recently, too, the few voices of opposition that remain in the senate were raised against excessive subventioning of shipping lines to which Mussolini replied that at least work was thereby afforded for the masses.

Public Works Increase Taxes.

Besides the "parastatale" activities of the state, the heavy cost of bureaucracy and government, the tax burden is increased according to some critics by undue heavy expenditures for public works. In this respect 4,000,000,000 lire [about $200,000,000] were allotted during the last year and during the last nine years 26,000,000,000 lire [$1,300,000,000] have gone into public works, land improvements, and roads. This is justified by the government on the ground that it provides work in times of crises.

Taxation in Italy is now estimated at 31 per cent of the national income. That appears to be the saturation point. Revenue has been falling off for two years. Mussolini in December, 1930, just after a 10 per cent wage cut had been effected, said: "Creation of fresh or increase of existing taxation must be excluded as a means of raising revenue to meet the budget deficit."

The necessity of such exclusion has been emphasized during the present year, during which the world economic crisis generally added its weight to an internal crisis which the country had already been experiencing for several years.

The consequence is that the Italian budget has been in deficit since 1929. The public debt has increased by between 4,000,000,000 and 5,000,000,000 lire and according to some there is a big backwash of unpaid bills, while protested private bills have been estimated to amount to 15,000,000,000 lire [$750,000,000] between 1919 and 1932.

Need Still More Money.

In view of these difficulties the government's need to get more money through taxation is evident and yet there appears no easy way of increasing revenue receipts by augmenting present levies in either direct or indirect taxation. The limit has apparently also been reached in governmental employés' salary cuts.

At the present juncture indirect tax receipts are 61,000,000 lire [$3,050,000] down; customs revenue is 500,000,000 lire [$25,000,000] down; the tobacco monopoly 61,000,000 lire [$3,050,000] down. The sales tax on the other hand is 33,000,000 lire [$1,650,000] up. Income tax receipts, however, have largely fallen off.

This makes a problem and a melancholy picture for the budget commission. The treasury report as of the end of February shows a deficit in the current budget of 2,223,000,000 lire [$111,150,000]. A small sum, perhaps, compared to the budget deficit in the United States, but in Italy, it must be remembered the budget is complicated and does not include state revenue, which goes into the various "parastatale" budgets which are separate and autonomous.

New Loan Floated.

The government furthermore has just floated a new internal 5 per cent loan of 1,000,000,000 lire [$50,000,000] to meet 915,000,000 lire [$45,750,000] in similar 4¾ per cent nine year treasury bonds falling due in November.

The amount of moral suasion exercised in floating such loans is not always to be estimated. In any case a similar conversion loan floated last year to redeem 4,000,000,000 lire [$200,000,000] of treasury bonds was oversubscribed by 3,000,000,000 lire [$150,000,000]. Last year the excess was turned back, but this year it has been hinted that the government might keep the oversubscription for current budget needs and issue new bonds against them.

HONOR FRANKLIN

The marble statue of Benjamin Franklin that stood for 41 years in the Virginia hotel was on exhibition in the lobby of the Union League club yesterday, the 142d anniversary of Franklin's death. Benjamin Franklin Affleck, chairman of the Benjamin Franklins, an organization of men bearing the great statesman's name, purchased the statue and lent it to the Union League club for exhibition. The Virginia hotel is to be razed for a parking lot.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WAILUKU, Maui, Hawaii, April 5.—[By Mail.]—From what great and seemingly inexhaustible reservoir does the cosmic ray derive its energy?

Seeking the answer to that question, Dr. A. H. Compton, noted physicist of the University of Chicago and Nobel prize winner, together with Mrs. Compton and their 14 year old son, "Buster," are travelling half way around the world and back again.

Maui, home of the famed mountain Haleakala, was the first stopping place on this journey and at a height of 9,300 feet the scientist made his initial tests last Saturday and Sunday, April 2 and 3.

Take 80 Readings.

From 6 p. m., April 2, until 12:30 p. m., April 3, the scientists took 80 complete readings of the effects of the cosmic ray.

Dr. Compton is not making any statements that time and further experimentation in other parts of the world will not support. After the 18 hour vigil, his only remark was: "The readings are uniform. The first test of this equipment on a mountain summit has been very satisfactory."

"Experiment," Dr. Compton continued, "justifies the belief that the cosmic ray energy is 10 to 10,000 times as great as the energy of an atom of helium breaking off from radium. It is a scientific fact that the atom of helium, just described, has one million times as much energy as is developed in the burning of hydrogen in oxygen.

"Whence does the cosmic ray derive this energy? Where is the vast reservoir? Is it in the sun, is it greatest in the long watches of the night or in the bright light of day?

On Saturday morning, April 2, the party started for Olinda, 4,000 feet up the side of Haleakala, the House of the Sun. Olinda is where the automobile road ends and trails begin. It is also where apparel befitting tropical climes is discarded for clothing more suitable to the lower temperatures found at elevations of 10,000 feet in the early days of April.

Sturdy pack ponies carried 400 pounds of equipment and apparatus. Mounted on other horses were the members of the party.

Arrive at Summit.

For four hours the procession moved toward the summit, and finally at about 5 p. m. reached the site of Haleakala's famed rest house, 9,300 feet above sea level. Yawning at them was the great pit, 2,700 feet deep, 35 miles in circumference.

No army detail ever swung into action quicker than did this group of scientists on the lofty heights of Haleakala. Boxes were assembled, unlocked and unpacked, and within an hour a winner of a Nobel prize was seated in a tent not much larger than the "pup" variety of the army, announcing his readings.

There was a brief respite for dinner. Then for a final look at the sun.

All through the night they continued. One of the things in which Dr. Compton and Dr. Millikan are interested is the comparison of diurnal and noctural figures. Candle lanterns were used. They served not only as sources of illumination but as heating plants.

At 3 a. m. Sunday they slept. Readings started all over again at 7 a. m. The final reading, the 80th of the experiment, was taken at 12:30 p. m.

Dr. Compton's findings: A set of readings to compare with similar experiments in other parts of the world.

RAID REVEALS PARK RIDGE HAS LIQUOR PROBLEM

Chief of Police H. W. Johnson of Park Ridge yesterday led four of his men in a raid on the bungalow home of Carl Madsen, 27 years old, Northwest highway and Potter road. Madsen and seven guests, all men, were arrested and a quantity of gin and alcohol was seized.

The guests, who were shooting craps when the police appeared, resisted arrest. One of them, A. L. Nelson, 29 years old, of Des Plaines, was clubbed into submission. In the mêlée Policeman C. J. Moburg was bruised by blows. After discovering that Madsen's automobile was loaded with gin and home brew, Chief Johnson issued a statement.

"Park Ridge is astonished at the discovery of a bootlegging establishment in the corporate limits," he said.

DOOMED WOMEN PLAY PINOCHLE IN DEATH HOUSE

Ossining, N. Y., April 17.—(AP)—The quietest card game in the books is being played daily in the Sing Sing death house by a white woman and a Negro woman with the aid of their keepers.

Mrs. Mary F. Simpson of Homer, N. Y., and Ruth Brown of New York City are housed in adjoining cells and are shut off from each other's view by a solid wall of masonry. They toss the cards through the bars of their cell doors on to a small table in the corridor. A matron gathers them up and passes them back at the end of each game.

No, it isn't bridge—its pinochle.

Mrs. Simpson was condemned to death for the slaying of her 14 months old child and the Negro woman for killing a man of her race.

LEAGUE INQUIRY BODY HALTS TRIP INTO MANCHURIA

Awaits Safety Guarantee for Chinese Member.

PEIPING, April 17.—(AP)—The visit of the league of nations commission to Manchuria will be delayed, it was understood today, until the new Manchurian state of Manchoukuo, sponsored by Japanese, makes its attitude clear on the presence there of Dr. Wellington Koo, the commission's Chinese member.

WELLINGTON KOO.

The latest press reports from Manchuria said Manchoukuo officials were adamant in their stand that Dr. Koo will be arrested if he sets foot inside Manchurian territory.

The league commission has been just as firm in its insistence that Dr. Koo accompany the commission with full protection as scheduled.

Japan Promises Protection.

[The Japanese government has said it will do its best to see that Dr. Koo is unmolested if he accompanies the commission, which is examining Sino-Japanese affairs, but said it has no influence with the Manchoukuoan government.]

The commission has almost concluded its hearings on Manchurian affairs from Chang Hsueh-liang, Manchurian war lord who controlled that section of China until the Japanese invasion last September, his staff and Japanese military officials and business men.

Testimony was taken on the customs, salt revenue, railways, army airplanes, politics and economics. The young Marshal Chang told, among other things, how he and his wife had lost a fortune in jewels alone when the Japanese occupied his palace in Mukden.

Other witnesses before the commissioners were a group of Mongolian nobles and Manchu princes, who gave an account of the historical relations between China, Manchuria and Mongolia.

The Japanese witnesses in giving their side of the case related difficulties of carrying on business under the old régime, and stressed what they called the everlasting disregard and violation of their treaty rights.

MUKDEN, April 17.—News of the occupation of Pogranitchnaya by Gen. Wan Fu-lin's Chinese army today had a decidedly disquieting effect on the inner circles of Mukden. It is conjectured that Wan Fu-Lin, in holding the eastern terminus of the Chinese Eastern railway, is an excellent position to receive arms, munitions and supplies from Siberia.

High Japanese military authorities here admit that they have not been informed of the exact strength of the Russian forces in Siberia but are certain that the soviet armies along the Manchurian border have practically doubled since December.

Russo-Jap Clash Threatened.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, April 18.—[Monday.]—The likelihood of a Russo-Japanese clash in Manchuria increased today with a statement from the Japanese foreign office in which Moscow was accused of responsibility for the troop train wreck near Harbin recently.

The Japanese consul at Harbin today telegraphed that while lacking positive proof, everything indicated that communists were behind the wreck plot. The foreign office spokesman, commenting, declared that "if such acts are repeated, they will naturally lead to serious consequences. Our military authorities have learned that the Russians are preparing for actual fighting."

The foreign office spokesman was of the opinion that Secretary of State Stimson and Maxim Litvinov, Russian foreign commissar, may reach some understanding at Geneva and join hands should a Russo-Japanese clash occur.

Reds Ask Mukden to Recall Consul.

Moscow, April 17.—(AP)—Soviet Russia asked the Manchurian government [Manchoukuo], today to recall its consul from Blagovestchensk, Siberia, on charges that he had abused the privilege of coded telegrams by sending to various part of China and abroad appeals signed by Gen. Ma Chan-shan, Manchurian minister of war.

The request, issued by the foreign commissariat, said Gen. Ma, is in refuge in Heilungkiang province, of which he is governor. The commissariat ordered that none of the Manchurian consul's telegrams be transmitted and asked that a substitute consul be appointed.

Reports from Harbin last week said that Gen. Ma had severed relations with the new Manchurian government and established military headquarters at Taheiho, across the Amur river from Blagovestchensk, in preparation for a campaign against the Japanese.

A telegram from Peiping, China, published in Russian newspapers today said that 400 Russian "White Guards" besieged the offices of the Chinese Eastern railway at Harbin recently.

POLICE BAFFLED BY MURDER OF ITALIAN CONSUL

Hunt Motive for Picco's Killing in Springfield.

Springfield, Ill., April 17.—[Special.]—With county and city officials without a clew, Giuseppi Castruccio, Italian consul general of Chicago, arrived in Springfield this afternoon to aid in the investigation following the assassination last night of John M. Picco, Italian consular agent.

Picco was shot to death last night while leaving the home of his brother, Dominick Picco, in the west part of the city. Three men riding in a new automobile fired several charges of shot into Picco's head and body. His 12 year old son, whom he held by the hand, escaped injury.

Thus far no motive for the assassination has been established. Although many rumors were current, all of which were investigated by police and were found to be groundless, Chief of Detectives Jesburg announced tonight that there were no new developments in the case.

Confers with Officers.

Consul Castruccio, shortly after his arrival in Springfield, conferred with Springfield officers and talked for some time with Dominick Picco, brother of the slain man. He was unable to advance a motive, authorities said.

Dominick Picco returned to Springfield a few months ago from Italy, where he spent most of a year visiting with relatives in his native land. While there are rumors that dealings with his fellow countrymen may have caused enemies to slay John Picco, authorities declared nothing had developed in their investigation to indicate that Picco was a part of any "racket." His work as an arbitrator for the state industrial board brought him in contact with a large number of foreign speaking persons.

Picco held this place during the Lowden administration and was reappointed by Gov. Emmerson. He returned recently from a campaign tour of various counties of the state, but had not been seen as much as usual on the streets, and some are of the opinion that he may have received threats since he came home ten days ago. If so, he did not communicate them to his family.

Widow Seriously Ill.

Mrs. Picco, who has been seriously ill at a Springfield hospital for some time, was told of her husband's death this afternoon and was taken to the family residence.

Consul Castruccio upon his arrival here declared that in his judgment Picco's death was not due to the work of anti-Fascist sympathizers.

"Picco was a wealthy and honorable citizen," he said. "He held the appointive position as consular agent for twenty years, but was an American citizen."

Washington Seeks Report.

Gov. Emmerson today received a telegram from the state department at Washington, asking him to submit a full telegraphic report on the killing of Picco. State police were instructed to make the investigation and the information will be given to Washington as soon as possible.

STIMSON DICKERS WITH GERMANY ON DISARMAMENT

GENEVA, April 17.—(AP)—Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson sought from talks with Germany's representatives today a method of reducing armaments that would be most likely to bring success to the international disarmament conference here.

The American secretary, preliminary to a meeting of the general commission of the conference tomorrow, was visited by Chancellor Heinrich Bruening and Dr. Bernard von Buelow.

With them he discussed the general subject of disarmament, but especially the method of reduction most likely to be accepted. He told interviewers, on his arrival yesterday, he hoped to assist in bringing about some concrete result as one of the most valuable methods of contributing to world peace.

Mr. Stimson may attend the meeting of the general commission scheduled for 10 a. m. tomorrow. But all today he remained at Villa Manor Bessinge, his temporary home in Geneva, most of the time resting in bed.

REFORMS IN RAILWAY REGULATIONS.

It is to be hoped that congress will find time to consider and pass the bill just reported favorably by the house committee on interstate commerce repealing the recapture clause of the transportation act.

This clause creates a revolving fund for the aid of weak railroads which is to be made up of payments by the railways of one-half their net income over 6 per cent. At the present moment there is no possibility of such a contribution from even the strongest roads, but the provision represents bad public policy and should be repealed.

Aside from any consideration of justice to investors in railroads which may some day be prosperous enough to earn more than 6 per cent—an improbability, if not an impossibility, as long as regulation is influenced as it has always been by politics—any effect it might have in better times would be to keep afloat railroads which, at least in many instances, ought to be eliminated. Some of these roads should never have been built, and others have outlasted their usefulness owing to the use of new and better forms of transportation. If the railroads which are sound economic enterprises earn more than is necessary for the maintenance of a high efficiency, the protection of their credit, the just compensation of investors, and the accumulation of proper reserves for legitimate improvements and use in times of distress like the present, the excess should go to the shipping public in the form of reduced rates. To use it to bolster up roads not self-supporting is to divert money, the public's money, without adequate benefit to the public.

The recapture clause was a product of the prejudice against success which is felt by a class of politicians who call themselves progressive and purport to be defenders of the public against malevolent wealth. In this case as in most others it defeats progress and penalizes the public which it pretends to protect. The interest of the public is in the development of an efficient system of transportation, not in the forced survival of inefficiency.

Another amendment of the act which ought to be adopted directs the interstate commerce commission to "give due consideration, among other factors, to the effect of rates on the movement of traffic"; to the need for "adequate and efficient railway transportation at the lowest cost consistent with the furnishing of such service," and to the providing of "revenues sufficient to enable the carriers, under honest, economical, and efficient management, to provide such service."

This amendment asserts a policy wholly in the public interest and should have governed the commission's regulations from the beginning. Whether that policy will be permanently operative in regulation by an agency hitherto and almost inevitably affected by the influence of politics and misguided public feeling, many will doubt. But there is evidence that the present personnel of the commission have a broader and sounder view of regulation than their predecessors and are disposed to be guided by considerations fundamental to the maintenance and advance of railway transportation.

AGAIN THE ALIMONY RACKET.

"I leave this world because of laws that make the racket of alimony possible. I have paid $2,500 a year for thirteen years to a woman who tricked me into marriage. I had the grief, she had the gravy." Final remarks of a suicide.

Former Chief Justice Olson, while disapproving the way out chosen by this victim of the alimony racket, says: "Concerning this whole alimony matter, there is no question that the courts are overdoing the throwing of men in jail because they don't keep up their payments. It is true some men evade payments [willfully], but there are many others who are unable to pay, yet some of them are put in jail anyhow."

Primarily these wrongs are the responsibility of judges. Judge Olson says: "A lot of women are making alimony nothing but a racket, and I'll venture that for every man putting it over on the court in using the depression for not making payment there is a woman who is getting alimony by fraud. These are hard times and judges should be extra painstaking about committing men to jail because they can't pay alimony. In many cases it is easier for a woman to get a job now than a man."

Since some judges are susceptible and lacking in discrimination, the question of more strictly defining and limiting their procedure is worthy of consideration. The evil described by Judge Olson has grown into a racket for unscrupulous women and lawyers which is especially oppressive at this time and the result is not only injustice to its victims but to legitimate claimants of support. The scope of alimony must be reduced by law if the discretion of judges is as faulty as it appears to be. In too many cases alimony is merely a means of escaping marital responsibilities and gaining support for which there is no longer an excuse.

FEDERAL AID.

Senator Tasker Oddie of Nevada doesn't want retrenchment at the expense of Nevada's take in the federal spending game. He is one of the defenders of the public buildings bill which some senators want to cut 10 per cent, a modest effort, though it is making a great to-do in the senate. The gentleman from Nevada's attitude reminds us of a bill lately passed by the house providing federal aid to the states for their unemployed. Illinois was interested that under this philanthropic measure it would receive $5.05 per unemployed person while Nevada would receive $631.21 per capita of its unemployed. We have to thank Senator Bingham of Connecticut for this information disclosed on the senate floor.

The bill is a conspicuous example of the process by which the great majority of our people are exploited by a minority through unequal representation and by political tactics taking advantage of misdirected or uninformed public sentiment. Its result would be to distribute aid without relation to need. The states where there is greatest unemployment would supply most of the alleged relief fund, but would receive a small proportion of it relatively to their need. Thus Senator Bingham shows that Arizona, having .3 per cent of the unemployed, would receive 1.4 per cent of the fund, or four and a half times as much as her proper ratio. Michigan, with 6.2 per cent of the total unemployed, would receive only 3 per cent of the fund, or less than half her fair share. Ohio, receiving $9 per capita of unemployed, would be one-eighth as well off as Idaho, receiving $75.42 per capita.

The income tax records quoted by Senator Bingham show that ten states—namely: New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Michigan, Ohio, California, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Missouri, and Connecticut—pay about 80 per cent of the taxes, and would receive under this bill only 30 per cent of the fund. But this, a better comparison from the standpoint of the emergency for which the bill is proposed, shows that while these ten states have about 65 per cent of the total unemployed they would receive only 30 per cent of the relief. Illinois out of every $2.50 raised in this state would receive less than $1 per capita of unemployed, and this disparity would not go to communities of greater need but of less.

This bill with its gross inequity is an example of the danger and probably the inevitable evil of federal aid under American political conditions. But it is only one of the illustrations of the widespread interests which are resisting retrenchment and will prevent substantial relief if the taxpayers' demand is not organized and vigorously directed.

FOR THE INTEGRITY OF THE CONSTITUTION.

In a hearing of the senate judiciary subcommittee considering prohibition, Senator Bingham having made a weighty argument on the fiscal aspect of the question, his former colleague, James W. Wadsworth Jr. of New York, put aside his prepared speech and attacked the constitutional weakness of national prohibition. No doubt the folly of ignoring the sorely needed financial relief which the taxation of alcoholic beverages would give us is plain enough even to members of congress who persist in ignoring it. But the basic errors of prohibition are not financial. They are moral and political. Prohibitionists have no respect for constitutional arguments for obvious reasons, but their importance to the welfare of the nation and the survival of self-government can no longer be shirked. It is of concern to every one that the 18th amendment is a departure from and perversion of the principles of the constitution.

Mr. Wadsworth summarized this consideration with characteristic force and ability. The amendment, he pointed out, is "the only police regulation in the entire constitution. The other amendments enable the people to say to the government, 'Thou shalt not.' But this permits the government to say to the people, 'Thou shalt not.' It would be just as unconstitutional if it were a police regulation for bidding you to speed your automobile. It simply does not belong in the document."

The fundamental law of a great nation should not descend to the level of a police regulation.

WHEAT AND MILK.

[The Dairy Record.]

Dairy people never seem to be able to get over being indignant that wheat unfailingly occupies the headlines in the daily newspapers while any reference to dairy markets is confined to two inches of small type, tucked away in some dark corner. Even congress, they point out, seems to think that wheat is the major American crop. But this is not all, for here are the United States department of agriculture and the federal farm board, which certainly should know what's what, devoting a lot of time, attention and money to the wheat grower and giving, by comparison, scarcely a casual glance at the dairy industry. Why, they ask indignantly, is it possible that the newspapers, congress, the department of agriculture, and the farm board don't know that milk is the most important American farm crop and that the annual income of the dairy industry is greater than the incomes of wheat and cotton combined?

Perhaps a lot of the attention focused on wheat is a hangover from the days when it was the greatest American crop and the country's most important staple. However, there are other reasons why it continues to get more attention than its monetary value appears to warrant. For one thing, it is, more than any other article of food, an international commodity and it is still the recognized primary staple. Its influence upon the dairy business may be negative, but even a negative influence may be important. Right now, for example, there is perhaps no other one thing which can influence dairy markets favorably as rapidly as a sharp recovery in wheat prices. It is undoubtedly true that much of the surplus which is now depressing the dairy markets would disappear if wheat farmers and growers of other crops which would be affected sympathetically by favorable wheat prices would retire from the dairy business. And make no mistake about it, they will get out of dairying just as fast as they can make a living from wheat or those other crops, for the wheat farmer doesn't like to milk cows. The work is too hard and there is too much of it to suit him.

Dairymen, then, have an interest in the wheat farmer to the extent that they want his prices to improve to the point where they will get him out of the dairy business. Further than this their interests are as wide apart as the poles, and some of our dairy leaders who, even in normal times, battle so eloquently for the wheat growers, might as well recognize the fact. With considered reflection we make this statement that an equality of income between the wheat farmers and the dairy farmers is unfair to the latter. From the standpoint of investment, training, skill and hard work, the dairy farmer is entitled to greater returns. The dairy farmer works 365 days a year at hard labor; the wheat farmer feels entitled to a living from five months' work and not all of that very hard work, either.

THIS CHANGING WORLD.

In the old days, now and then, we used to talk about getting on the water wagon. Now it's the beer wagon. Statesmen are growing so timid that they hate to take a bath any more. It's the water. They hate to drink water. They don't want to walk out in the rain. It's water. The statesmen used to tell us how beautiful water was. How it glistened as in the form of dew it hung upon the petals of the rose. How in the form of rain it fell upon the parched soil and brought forth the green grass and the nourishing corn and the life-giving spinach. How sweet water was to the lips of the poor wanderer in the desert. And now that's all out. Now it's beer! Look at the money beer will bring in taxes. Look how beautiful the amber is sparkling in the tall steins. How the foamy froth at the top glistens with all the colors of the rainbow. How happy it will make the workingman to drink a glass of real beer at five or ten cents the glass instead of speakeasy beer at seventy-five cents per shot. Ah, beer! glorious beer! where have you been all this time? Make way there, men! Open a path, let those statesmen through; they want to get on the beer wagon. And it's damn near time.

SPRING IMPULSE.

Let's play at being happy—
Young again . . .
And run above soft grass
Beneath cool rain!
Let's play at being children—
Carefree, glad . . .
You'll pay a forfeit
If your lips are sad!
Let's play at make-believe—
Discard these books . . .
And worship Fairy Queens
Beside green brooks!
You'll say some foolish things
I'll think are wise . . .
And Spring shall find a challenge
In our eyes!

THEY'RE GOING to do away with tanks, gas, high explosives, and bombs at the world disarmament conference at Geneva. All well and good—BUT—take out all those demon things and the soldiers would still be unhappy as they march into battle. And what causes the soldiers more unhappiness than anything else? Second lieutenants, that's the answer. They've got to cut out the shavetails or war is never going to be really bright and gay.

THIS IDEA of cheap money seems pretty good. We want to see the time come when we can buy a bushel of dollars for fifty cents. But, of course, we expect each of the dollars in that bushel to be worth a full one hundred cents. Naturally. But if we buy the bushel of dollars for fifty cents, will each dollar—now, there's a question?

THA DUKE INSTRUKS SNOWSHOE AL ON THA RAISIN' & CARING OF INFUNTS.

Hey, lissen! The other Sunday afternoon a beootiful limousine sneaks up in front of our igloo an' anchors, an' out of it steps none other than my dear friend the Duke of Bakrak, with 2 of his offspring in tow. The 2 offspring consists of Miss Cyclone Bakrak, age 5, and little Mr. Destruction Bakrak, age 3.

"Salutations an' all that tripe," yawns the Duke. "I understand youse have got a new baby. I also understand, much to my surprise, knowing you as I do, that you ain't charging nobody fifty cents to look at him, so I have brought a few of my children over to give it a glance. Come, children, we will step in an' take a squint at the little eskimo."

Well, after our eight lbs of hunger an' howls had been duly inspected, we drifts into the living room, where Mr. Bakrak drapes his girlish figger all over a chair an' proceeds to tell us how to raise a child.

"Yup," says he, "nobody knows more about bringing up kids than me an' the Dutchess, on account we have three—or is it four? No, I guess it's three—of our own, an' they are very obedient, well behaved an'—tsk! tsk! Destruction, look what you have done to Al's radio! How many times must I tell you never to pull the tubes out of radios and step on 'em! Well, as I was sayin', folks, it ain't no trick atall to raise well mannered children—oh, shame on you, Cyclone, for pullin' the canary's tail feathers out! Uncle Al won't like you no more! Yes, folks, children are a blessing an'—Here, here, Destruction, git away from that goldfish bowl before—Ow-w-w, there it goes! Now look what you did! The poor little fish are scrambling all over the carpet! Uncle Al won't let you come over here no more. Well, as I was about to say, folks, children are rays of sunshine an'—why, Cyclone, where did you git that great big hunk of wallpaper? Oh, oh, I see where you got it! Now Uncle Al will have to move the davenport over to cover that spot! Is that nice?"

So, for the next two hours the Duke tells us all about the art of raising children correctly. During this time little Destruction wanders around our wigwam sinkin' his teeth into all the radiators an' makin' them spring leaks, while his sister takes up 3 sq. feet of flooring in the kitchen so's she can look down into the boiler room and throw books at the janitor.

"Well," says Mr. Bakrak, finally, grabbing his hat, "we must go now. Come, kids, we will come back next Sunday an' see the baby again. So long, Al, next Sunday I will bring all my children over."

About 5 minutes after they have went the landlord knocks on our door and says: "I got bad news for you. On account you ain't paid your rent, I am giving you 10 days notice. Which means you gotta get outa here by a week from Wednesday."

"A week from Wednesday hell!" says I, "I gotta git outa here before next Sunday!"

EARLY DIAGNOSIS OF MEASLES.

A FEW days ago we told of a line on the inner surface of the lower eyelid, about a quarter of an inch from the border. This is an easily seen symptom of measles which appears about three days before the eruption. On the second day before the eruption the red line has been changed to a red band of swelling, and the loose folds of the membrane are showing evidence of swelling.

Another very early sign, but one that is not so easily seen, is what is known as Koplik's spots. To observe these the child stands in a good light before an open window. The mother, or teacher, takes her position with her back to the light. The child opens his mouth widely and the observer looks for small spots about the size of a split pea. They may appear bluish or reddish, and they have a tiny, whitish, central area.

These spots are not much swollen, nor are they uniform as to color, nor do they stand out like a vaccination on an arm, but, viewed by a good light, they are enough different from the surrounding tissues to be readily seen. The best place to look for them is on the inner surfaces of the cheeks, but the search should extend to other parts of the mouth and also to the eyes. Occasionally one or more of these spots can be seen on the inner surface of the lower lid and around the swollen inner corner.

These spots and the eye signs described in the earlier article show before the eruption appears and when there is not much else to cause suspicion of measles.

There is another very early sign and, equipped as so many homes now are, it is not a difficult one to notice. A mild fever precedes the eruption, and even precedes the stage of considerable discomfort by a day or more. This is a sign that the army puts great dependence on when measles appears in a recruit camp. The temperatures of all persons under suspicion are taken several times a day. A mild fever that is not otherwise easily explained, appearing when measles is around, is held to be a sign of trouble due in one or two days. This fever, which goes before measles, is somewhat like that of malaria in that it comes and goes. Therefore, if the temperature is not taken several times daily and recorded, the fever may be missed. The fevers of the early stage of smallpox, infantile paralysis, dengue, and some other diseases have this come and go quality. If, perchance, a child is isolated on suspicion of measles, and it proves to be a false alarm, no great harm has been done.

Another guidepost of great value, when it is to the point, is a history of exposure within ten days. If measles is known to be around, and there is a suspicion of exposure within ten days, the eye symptoms described in the previous article and the mouth spots and fever described today are very suggestive. If measles is to be controlled, action must be taken on these suspicious symptoms. When the child becomes definitely sick with a dry cough, the eyes are red and weeping, the eruption is appearing, and the body is filled with aches and pains there is no trouble in knowing what the disease is. But what's the use of locking the stable door if the horse has been gone for three days?

It is for this reason that we say the control of measles lies with parents and teachers. Health departments and physicians are standing on the sidelines.

GETS RID OF CANKERS.

R. N. writes: Until ten months ago I was a frequent sufferer from canker sores on the gums. They were so painful that I had to go to a dentist for treatment. However, in a short time I would be troubled again. I tried eliminating certain foods to discover the cause, but that did not help. A friend who had been troubled as I was highly recommended chlorozene. I inquired of my dentist and he spoke highly of it. I dissolve one tablet in an ordinary sized glass of water and use it as a mouth wash. I have not been troubled since. A stronger solution may be used if necessary.

STOCKINGS DO THE TRICK.

G. L. P. writes: Why are some opposed to the wearing of elastic stockings in the treatment of phlebitis of the leg? These have afforded me the greatest relief over a period of years. It is only when the stockings lose their elasticity and my legs are deprived of this support that they become inflamed.

REPLY.

I do not know.

ALLEY NOW CLEAN.

Chicago, April 10. — [Friend of the People.]—Will you please inform me how often the alley between Aberdeen and May streets is supposed to be cleaned? The last collection we had was Feb. 18, 1932. The alley is now almost impassable and a menace to public health. The tenants in the building on the corner make no pretense of placing garbage and refuse in proper receptacles.

C. B. P.

Report is made that alley was given a thorough cleaning the day after the complaint was written. The regular schedule of service cannot be maintained due to the fact that our forces are now working on a four day week basis; in consequence the service is curtailed. This curtailment is made necessary because of lack of funds. Report also states that the owner of building referred to has been notified to provide proper receptacles for the accommodation of refuse output and to see that further dumping is stopped. Location will be kept under observation.

Superintendent of Streets.

MORTGAGE OBLIGATIONS.

Chicago, April 10.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A certain party has two houses, both covered by mortgages. He is unable to keep up payments on both houses and in order to save one must give up the other. 1. Will they take both houses or just the one on which payments are not made? 2. Do they have a right to put a lien on the house retained? 3. What steps would have to be taken to save one of the homes?

S. M. M.

1. If, on the foreclosure sale, the property does not bring enough to pay the mortgage debt, then the creditor can take a deficiency decree which can be enforced against other assets.
2. See No. 1.
3. You might try to get the mortgage holder to give you a release in exchange for a quitclaim.

STOCKHOLDER'S LIABILITY.

Chicago, April 5.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I was a stockholder in a bank. Am I liable for this stock, which was sold twelve years before the bank failed?

F. L.

You might be held for your pro rata share of debts that were incurred while you were a stockholder but it seems probable that such debts have been paid.

CHINA-JAPAN WAR, 1895

TOKIO, Jan. 10.—A news agency reports that the king of Corea has been assassinated.

YOKOHAMA, Jan. 10.—A rumor is in circulation here to the effect that the king of Corea has been prostrated by an epileptic fit.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 10.—There is no information in possession of the Chinese, Japanese, or Corean legations here respecting either the reported sickness or assassination of the king of Corea, as announced in dispatches from Japan.

YOKOHAMA, Jan. 10.—It is rumored here that 1,000 men belonging to the first army of Japan, operating in China, have been invalided by the cold weather. Gen. Nodzu telegraphs from Shugan under date of Jan. 8 that the Chinese facing the third division of the Japanese army in the west have retreated on Kokan. The advance guard of the Chinese near Lajo Yang has advanced to Kansenho. The rear of the Chinese force is quartered a few miles northeast of Hai Ching.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—A Shanghai dispatch says that severe fighting has taken place near Jehol, Mongolia, 120 miles northeast of Peking. Hundreds of wounded Chinese are reported to be arriving at Tientsin daily.

YOKOHAMA, Jan. 11.—An official dispatch received here says the division of the Japanese army commanded by Maj. Gen. Nogi attacked Kaiping yesterday. The battle lasted for four hours, at the end of which time the town was in the hands of the Japanese. The Chinese fled towards Hai Shaksai with the Japanese in close pursuit. Dispatches from Kin Chow say Japanese scouts report a large force of Chinese moving down to support the Kaiping forces.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 12.—The Novoe Vremya, in an article on the far east: a question, says that if Russia's peaceful and friendly overtures shall be ignored she will be compelled to support by arms her claims in Corea.

28 YEARS AGO TODAY

APRIL 18, 1904.

LONDON.—A dispatch from Shanhaikwan says that a steamer which has arrived at Newchwang from Chefoo reports sighting a Japanese fleet consisting of twenty-six war vessels and 100 transports in the Gulf of Pechili, north of Port Arthur, steaming northwards. It is believed the fleet was going to Yinkow, southeast of Newchwang.

ST. PETERSBURG.—It is said that the Japanese torpedo flotilla attack on Port Arthur April 13 was intended to cover a landing from nine transports at Shwandtaitse, twenty miles southwest of Takushan, with a view of cutting off the retreat of the Port Arthur troops to Siuyen and Kaiping, destroying the railway, and preventing troops stationed in southern Liaotung from effecting a junction with the main Russian forces concentrated at Liaotung and Mukden. The execution of this operation only failed owing to the fact that all places on the peninsula suitable for the landing of troops are protected by mines, well fortified and strongly guarded.

TIENTSIN.—A report has been received here that Port Arthur was bombarded all day yesterday and that the action is being continued.

NEW YORK.—Picked up by an aged "sandwich man" on 23d street, offered to a street peddler of automatic toys for 35 cents, and finally bought for 50 cents by Lena De Guelle, a flower woman, the family jewels worn by Gen. U. S. Grant's wife during her lifetime, and lost by his daughter, Mrs. Nellie Grant Sartoris, late Saturday, were restored to the distracted owner at the Holland house. The jewels are valued intrinsically at $6,000, but their associations made the loss irreparable to Mrs. Sartoris.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

APRIL 18, 1916.

MEXICO CITY.—During the day no messages have reached Mexico City tending to confirm the report of the finding of the body of Villa and the general disposition in official circles is to discredit the report.

MEXICO CITY.—The newspaper Accion Mundial, which is the official organ of the Carranza government, prints prominently on its front page an editorial in which it criticizes the state department at Washington "for sending with excessive precipitation and most laughable disorder its famous punitive expedition against Villa and the realization which finally dawned on the American government that the dangerous situation thus created had therein much that was infantile and much of bad faith." The editorial adds: "Fortunately, the people and the government of Mexico have been able to see the matter clearly and have had the dignity and patience to await a satisfactory solution." The article closes by declaring that the conduct of the Mexican people and government furnished a splendid example for the United States.

BRADFORD, R. I.—The Gilt Edge express, a fast all steel through passenger train from Boston on the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, tore a path through the rear cars of a local train at Bradford station. In the crash and a fire that quickly enveloped the two rear coaches of the local at least eight persons were killed and nearly forty injured.

FROM A GOVERNMENT CLERK.

Chicago, April 12.—It does appear that the commotion being raised, directed against federal government expenditures, might be a smoke screen either to obscure the waste, extravagance and corruption in local government, or to direct public attention away from the income tax laws just proposed. Shouts are leveled at the national budget when New York City, alone, staggers under the load of a two billion dollar deficit, and it doesn't seem to worry them in the least.

It may be necessary to shoot high to get any results in governmental economy, but facts presented in the light of prejudice and selfishness are only destructive, not constructive. Go ahead and print the truth, but please print the whole truth and nothing but the truth. Please, for the sake of fairness, discriminate and direct your cannon toward the real enemy—local politics—where the corrupt business man and the corrupt politician, on account of their proximity and relation to each other, find it so easy to practice their deep laid plans against the taxpayer, who is unable to defend himself. I have more respect for the bank robber, for bank robbing takes real courage and, if you please, a certain degree of spunk.

How about the customs service of the treasury department of the national government? This service is maintained to assist industry so that the workman may not be reduced to the level of cheap, foreign slave labor. If anything, the customs service, requiring no taxes and being wholly self-supporting, might be broadened in its activity. As a matter of fact, no replacements have been made for some time for those deceased, or retired; no promotions have been made for over a year and the equipment such as office furniture has, for a long time, been a disgrace to any self-respecting American.

CLERK.

AT THE POLLS.

Chicago, April 13.—I had a little experience at the primary election, April 12, 1932, that I think might interest the public.

At 4:30 p. m. on that day I went to the polls to cast my vote. When I was to receive my ballot I was told that I had voted earlier in the day. Upon further inquiry I also learned that whomsoever it was that voted for me was given a ballot of the opposite party of which I am registered. What have we got election checkers and judges for?

It is quite obvious that our present system is about as efficient as a rowboat on the ocean. Any crook can walk into a polling place and by merely reciting the name and address of some registered voter receive a ballot to which he is not entitled.

It is about time that some means of identification be requested before a ballot is issued.

A BAD EXAMPLE.

Chicago, April 13.—As some of the distinguished gentlemen representing these United States in Washington seem to be laboring under the impression that a cut in wages paid government employés would be a bad example for industry, don't you think it would be a good plan for each of us who have suffered a cut in salary since December, 1930, to drop a line to his congressman, senator, or the house in general? It might be a revelation to them to know that industry conceived this plan of effecting economies some two years ago.

THE STENOGRAPHER.

CONGRESSIONAL STATISTICS.

Evanston, Ill., April 11. — Political vitality lives with the drys. Of the 150 members of congress who were there in 1919 at the Volstead act vote 115 voted dry, 21 voted wet, and 14 did not vote.

In the senate there are 33 senators who voted for the Volstead act; 4 who voted "no," and 3 senators who did not vote. [Of the 4 senators voting against the law, 2 have since then consistently voted in support of enforcement.]

In the present house of representatives, 82 members remain who voted for the Volstead act but only 17 members who voted against that law. Eleven other members of the house who voted for the Volstead act are now in the senate; 2 who failed to vote are now in the senate, but not a single member of the 1919 house of representatives who voted against the Volstead act is now in the senate.

In other words, nearly 30 per cent of the present congress were there at the Volstead fight. Of these survivors, 77 per cent voted for the Volstead act; 14 per cent voted against it; and 9 per cent failed to vote.

For the last thirteen years the wet and dry question has been a factor in congressional elections. Wet organizations have marked the drys for political slaughter. But the political ax has wreaked its havoc mainly among the wets and we feel this indicated the most authoritative referendum on national prohibition.

MRS. ANNA MARDEN DEYO.

A NEW FORM OF CREDIT.

Cicero, Ill., April 9.—In the present period of depression it would be of considerable help if the workers would be enabled to draw checks, not on the banks but towards their own work. That is, they would issue vouchers for so many hours' work in their own trade or profession, and with these vouchers, certified possibly by some municipal authorities, town clerks, or others, they would be enabled to purchase at least some necessities of life, such as food, etc. The cities and towns could institute free clearing houses for these vouchers, where they would be exchanged and bought by those needing the specified services.

Of course, a system like this that would have to be worked to details, would be considerably more cumbersome than a system of paying by money or checks, there would be more chance for fraud, and possibly some other objections may be cited against it, but I firmly believe that it could be worked to the benefit of the workers who are willing to work and spend the money that they make in their work. A system like this would especially benefit the home trade, since home work would be available and would be offered to anybody needing it and looking for it.

DR. L. STOLFA.

POLITICAL PROPAGANDA.

Geneseo, Ill., April 10.—I am a citizen of a small Illinois city. Every street and gutter in the town is littered with political literature. Pictures of dozens of candidates and their respective platforms, all printed on high class paper, blow about under foot, disregarded by most people and creating a very filthy condition, particularly in the alleys. Thousands of dollars throughout the state are wasted in printing this unread propaganda. If the money wasted on political advertisements were spent for food, clothing, and other necessities there would be no such things as depression.

OLD HOMESTEAD LOSES LURE FOR RICH AMERICANS

They Want Several Homes Rather than Palace.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 17.—[Special.]—The American man of wealth no longer builds a palace as an ancestral home but goes in for several transitory residences in different parts of the country or of the world, says a report by President Hoover's survey of social trends made public today by the American Institute of Architects.

This tendency, extending down the scale of wealth, the report suggests, may mean the passing of the personal suburban dwelling and the rise of the "model village" or the standardized house.

The report, described as an analysis of the rôle which architecture plays in the present art consciousness of the social body, and an indication of how this popular consciousness has changed and is changing, was prepared by Dr. Leicester B. Holland, chief of the division of fine arts of the library of congress and chairman of the institute's committee on the preservation of historic buildings.

Business Buildings First.

Business buildings, stimulated by lavish use of funds and popular interest, have assumed first importance in American architecture, Dr. Holland finds. Government architecture, he asserts, is "aesthetically unimportant." College architecture tends toward "archaistic theatricality." Churches, libraries, and other cultural foundations, it is predicted, a century hence will rank as the outstanding architectural relics of the present.

"The interest of the most wealthy citizens in their homesteads is tending to decrease," said Dr. Holland. "This is largely due to an increase in mobility. Instead of concentrating on a single establishment, it is becoming the practice to maintain two or more residences in different parts of the country or even in foreign countries.

"And usually these are not built or bought with a view to family possession for generations, or even for many years, but for an immediate and often transitory occupation. In fact, the very wealthy, instead of building new palaces, or elaborating ancestral homes, are in many cases simply reoccupying country seats of colonial times, with their attention controlled as much by antiquarian romance as by architectural interest.

Demarkation Is Slight.

"The result is that the former sharp demarkation between the domestic architecture of the very wealthy and the moderately well off no longer exists.

"It is to be expected that the effect of mobility will extend constantly down the scale of wealth, with a consequent tendency to lessened interest in the personal suburban dwelling. The 'model village' or the standardized house may in time replace it. There will probably result an increase in economy, possibly an increase in beauty, but also a decrease in aesthetic responsiveness. For it is only the selective interest of the individual that makes for critical appreciation.

"The city apartment building illustrates this reaction. Modern apartments are architecturally far more interesting that the uniform rows of city houses they replace. But they have very little effect on the architectural consciousness of the community. They are chosen by their inhabitants almost wholly from considerations of location, cost and luxury of appointments, regardless of whether they are built by the foremost architects or wholesale by contracting firms.

Personal Trade a Factor.

"On the other hand, business buildings, such as stores, offices and theaters which a century ago were of almost no architectural consequence have today assumed prime importance. This change is due chiefly to the modern devotion to advertising in all commercial undertakings, though with this there enters an element of personal pride on the part of the merchant owners.

"A markedly different situation exists in regard to governmental buildings, state houses, postoffices, city halls, court houses, public schools, etc. The class of work has far greater permanence and permits more time for careful study than does commercial building, but places considerably less emphasis on aesthetic appeal."

OHIO TROOPS ON GUARD AS SLAIN STRIKER IS BURIED; 8,000 AT BIER

Cadiz, O., April 17.—(AP)—Shot to death in a clash with deputy sheriffs and Ohio national guard observers several days ago, William Kimbell, 55, Bradley, became the martyr of striking bituminous coal miners of eastern Ohio today.

Kimbell was buried at Mount Pleasant, near his home, after between 8,000 and 10,000 fellow strikers and friends marched past his bier in the Methodist Episcopal church at Smithfield.

Gathering of the strikers at the bier was the signal for national guard troops in Harrison county to establish strong defenses about the Somers mine of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, near Adena, where Kimbell was killed, and at the Harmon Creek Mining company and the Tasa Mining company, near Hopedale. Miners gathered in Smithfield several hours before the funeral and after a mass meeting at the fairgrounds marched down the main street to the church.

After viewing the body the crowd moved to the cemetery, nine miles away. Throughout the march the miners were orderly. There were no disturbances in Springfield.

College Registrars Open Convention Tomorrow

The twentieth convention of the American Association of College Registrars will open tomorrow at the Stevens hotel. About 250 college and university registrars will attend. Prof. E. J. Moulton, dean of the graduate school of Northwestern university, will welcome the registrars. Speakers will include: Prof. L. L. Kandel, Columbia university; H. H. Armsby, Missouri School of Mines; Dr. W. S. Learned, Carnegie Foundation; R. M. West, University of Minnesota, and Dr. J. T. Singewald Jr., Johns Hopkins university. The convention closes Thursday.

Negro Cop Held; Accused of Posing as Dry Agent

Patrolman Addeller Guy, colored, of the Wabash avenue station, and Arthur Reeves, 3736 South Park way, also colored, were placed in cells at the detective bureau yesterday, charged with impersonating federal officers. James Moore, Negro bootlegger living at 4717 South Park way, told prohibition agents who arrested him on Saturday that he had been paying $10 a month as protection money to Guy and Reeves, who represented themselves as dry agents. Guy has been a policeman for 19 years.

Willys, Envoy to Poland, Will Arrive in U. S. Today

Washington, D. C., April 17.—(AP)—John N. Willys, American ambassador to Poland, is to arrive in New York tomorrow aboard the Europa for a vacation. He left Warsaw after cabling the state department of his intention of taking a leave, and officials said today he would discuss the extent of his absence after reaching the capital. No reason for the ambassador's return to this country was given by him to the department. It has denied several times since he took the post that he intended resigning in the near future.

DENTISTS FIGHT OVER CLINICS IN ELECTION BATTLE

Two Tickets in the Field; Vote Tuesday.

Two factions in the Chicago Dental society, which has a membership of 2,412, are campaigning actively in preparation for the annual election of officers, which will be held Tuesday evening in the Palmer house.

The regular ticket, representing those now in power, is asking an indorsement on the record of a year in office. Their opponents, the independent faction, claim that they will be swept into office on a policy of uncompromising opposition to any form of corporate practice of dentistry.

Regular Candidate Replies.

To the assertions of the independents Dr. Howard Miller, the regular candidate for president, made an answer yesterday, accusing them of using a "demogogic appeal" in their attempt to win. He asserted that he and the rest of his slate are just as strongly opposed to low cost corporate clinics as the insurgents.

"The present attempt to discredit the administration of the society and to take advantage of widespread economic unrest to inflame the membership is demagogic," he said. "The mention of a pay clinic is as inflammatory to the dentist as the word communism to the capitalist. The insurgents are trying to make capital of mass fear in the profession.

"Three years ago this same independent faction advocated the practice of dentistry by unlicensed and untrained dental laboratory technicians. They were decisively beaten on this platform and have been casting about ever since for a battle cry to put themselves into office."

Recalls Rosenwald Proposal.

"Last May the Rosenwald Foundation clinic proposition was turned down by an overwhelming vote of the society membership. The matter was a closed chapter after that. Revival of interest in the subject is a blatant political gesture. The real issue is whether scientific and educational progress under the present administration shall be obstructed to gratify the personal whims of a very small minority."

Officials of the Rosenwald Foundation have withdrawn their offer to finance a clinic, it was said.

Dr. Gail M. Hambleton, of the independent faction, asserted that he would introduce an amendment to the society's constitution to make any member participating in corporate practice subject to expulsion. Dr. Miller retorted that his slate is pledged to secure passage of legislation to guard the public and the profession from the "vicious effects of corporate practice."

Claim of Independents.

However, the independents have continued to maintain that "a small and powerful group within the society secretly favors the toleration of the corporate practice of dentistry in an unethical way."

GOLDYE HOFFMAN, MEDICAL WOMEN'S CLUB HEAD, DIES

Dr. Goldye L. Hoffman, president of the Medical Women's club of Chicago, died of pneumonia yesterday at her home, 3248 Douglas boulevard. She was 38 years old. Dr. Hoffman was graduated from the University of Illinois college of medicine in 1915 and at the time of her death was an associate in gynecology in the school. Funeral services, conducted by Radium chapter of the Eastern Star, will be held at 1 o'clock tomorrow in the chapel at 3556 Roosevelt road. Burial will be in Forest Park cemetery. Two brothers, Harold and Mark Hoffman, and a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth H. Buchhalter, survive.

Henry J. Witt, Former Court Bailiff, Dead

Henry J. Witt, 82 years old, retired personal bailiff to former Judge George Kersten of the Circuit court, died Saturday night at his home at 3828 Pine Grove avenue. Funeral services will be held at the home at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Witt was a native of Germany, and came to America in his youth. He retired as a bailiff several years ago after 14 years of service. He was a member of the Bailiffs' association. Surviving Mr. Witt are his widow, Fredricka; two sons, Larry and Louis, and a daughter, Lillian.

Attorney W. H. Gallagher Dies After Fall in Home

Attorney William H. Gallagher, 44 years old, a member of the law firm of Ward, Gallagher & Rabold, 105 West Monroe street, died yesterday in the Augustana hospital of a skull fracture which he suffered earlier in the day when he fell in the bathroom of his home at 5842 North Artesian avenue. Mr. Gallagher was born in Peru, Ill., and studied at the Illinois College of Law, which later became De Paul university. He was a Mason. Surviving him is his widow, May.

COL. C. G. HOLDEN DEAD; MANAGED OLYMPIA FIELDS

Col. Clinton Grant Holden, for seven years general manager of the Olympia Fields Country club until his retirement Jan. 1 because of illness, and well known throughout the country as a club executive, died yesterday at the home of Dr. Charles B. Alexander of Harvey. He was 60 years old and a veteran of the world war.

In his twenty-two years in club work, Col. Holden directed organizations here, in Cleveland, Newark, and Milwaukee. He opened and managed the Colonial Club of Cleveland, and then helped to organize and equip the University Club of Cleveland, which he managed for five years. Later he was associated with the Cleveland Country club and the Union Club of Cleveland. From there he came to the University Club of Chicago, serving five and one-half years as manager.

At the outbreak of the war he went to Fort Snelling, then to Paris and to London. He served on Gen. Pershing's staff for four months. Returning to Chicago, Col. Holden went to the South Shore County club, and then to the Newark Athletic club.

Surviving Col. Holden are three brothers, Clayton, Ross, and Charles, and three sisters. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow at Kerr's chapel, in Harvey, with the Rev. H. Campbell Dixon of Louisville, officiating. Burial will be Thursday at Conneaut, O., Col. Holden's boyhood home.

THOUSANDS DIE IN EARTHQUAKE IN CHINA, REPORT

HANKOW, China, April 17.—(AP)—Chinese reports trickling in from northeast Hupeh province today said an earthquake on April 6 took a terrible toll, "several tens of thousands of persons perishing."

The dispatches said that the quake, which slightly jarred the Yangtze valley, had affected scores of towns and villages in northeast Hupeh. The reports, belated because of lack of communications, painted a picture of appalling conditions.

"Human corpses and dead animals are strewn over the ground in the stricken area," the Chinese messages said.

TWO NOTED IRISH NATIONALISTS DIE ON THE SAME DAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, April 17.—Two noted members of the old Irish parliamentary party died today.

Capt. William Archer Redmond, war hero and long a prominent independent nationalist, collapsed at the funeral of a friend at Waterford and could not be revived, while Jeremiah MacVeagh, who was Irish national member of the British house of commons from 1902 to 1920, died here.

Capt. Redmond, the only son of John Redmond, famous nationalist and chairman of the Irish parliamentary party in the British house of commons, was 46 years old. He served in commons from 1918 to 1922 and had served continuously in the Free State parliament since 1923. Capt. Redmond created sensation before the general elections by becoming a supporter of the former government of William T. Cosgrave.

Mr. MacVeagh, 61, was a lawyer and journalist and represented the London Daily News during the so-called "Anglo-Irish war." He was a great wit and during Irish debates at Westminster frequently set the house of commons rocking with laughter.

POLICE BREAK UP STREET MEETINGS IN NEW ZEALAND

AUCKLAND, New Zealand, April 17.—(AP)—The unemployed of Auckland abandoned their avowed intention of holding an outlawed public meeting today, but volunteer police and marines from the British cruiser Philomel were called upon to break up bands of hoodlums. The city remained tense after the intermittent rioting and looting of last week. The mayor had prohibited public meetings.

Unconfirmed rumors were current that governmental emergency economy measures, including a 10 per cent salary cut for all government employés, would be met by a general strike, preceded by a walkout of seamen next Thursday.

Motorized units of police and volunteers cruised through outlying districts, breaking up small bands of rowdies as soon as they started to form. Elsewhere detachments were kept busy erecting barbed wire barricades with which to blockade the streets in event of further trouble. A communist leader sought by police in connection with Thursday's riots remained in hiding.

Rites Held at Rockford for Miss Julia Lathrop

Funeral services for Miss Julia Lathrop, 74 years old, prominent child welfare worker, who died at her home at 1204 National avenue, Rockford, on Friday night, were held there at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The Rev. John Gordon, pastor of the Congregational church of Rockford, officiated. Among those who attended were Miss Jane Addams, founder of Hull house and associate of Miss Lathrop. Miss Lathrop was the first head of the children's bureau of the federal department of labor. In 1923 she was named one of the "twelve greatest living American women" by the National League of Woman Voters. President Hoover sent a message of condolence to Mrs. Anna Case, sister of Miss Lathrop.

GUARD OFFICERS AWAIT CALL TO ARMY'S SCHOOL

200 Will Take Part in Custer Maneuvers.

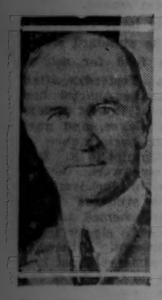
More than 200 officers of the regular army, National Guard, and reserve from Illinois will take part in maneuvers at Camp Custer, Mich., in May when a tactical problem involving the defense of lower Michigan against an invasion from the west and south will be worked out.



MAJ. GEN. FRANK PARKER.

Orders for all officers to report for the maneuvers will be issued in the near future, Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commanding the Sixth corps area, announced yesterday. Gen. Parker will command a group of armies and direct the maneuvers. Col. W. H. Burt, chief of staff of the Sixth corps area, will be chief of staff at the maneuvers.

Will Command Blue Units.

Illinois officers who will command "blue" units in the movement are Brig. Gen. Carlos E. Black, adjutant general of Illinois; Maj. Gen. Roy D. Keehn, commanding the 33d division, Illinois National Guard; Brig. Gen. Frank C. Bolles, commanding Fort Sheridan; Brig. Gen. Frank C. Bolles, commanding Fort Sheridan; Brig. Gen. Frank R. Schwengel, Illinois National Guard, and others.

Regular army troops from Fort Sheridan, Fort Brady [Mich.], Fort Wayne [Mich.], and Fort Monmouth [N. J.], and detachments of National Guard signal troops from Chicago and Ypsilanti, Mich., also will be ordered to Camp Custer for the maneuvers.

Will Report May 15.

The reserve officers will report to camp on May 15, and will be given a week of intensive training under regular army instructors to prepare them for the tactical problem beginning May 23. On that date the headquarters of the 6th army, the 1st corps, 2d corps, and 1st cavalry corps, and the eight divisions belonging to these corps, will be set up on a selected defensive position west of Battle Creek, Mich. The Illinois National Guard will be one of the units.

According to plans, the regular army officers stationed in Illinois and reserve officers from the state will be assigned principally to the headquarters of the 6th army, the 1st corps, and 1st cavalry corps, the 86th division, and 65th cavalry division. Others will be on Gen. Parker's staff or assigned to other units in the "blue" forces.

CERNY ASSUMES OFFICE TODAY AS CICERO MAYOR

Mayor Elect Joseph G. Cerny of Cicero, who, with his other Democratic colleagues, swept the Cicero election on April 5, will assume office today. Mr. Cerny is expected to tell of the plans of his administration to the townspeople at the inaugural ceremonies this evening in the town hall.

Mr. Cerny was elected over Joseph Z. Klenha, Republican, by a majority of 5,399 votes. Mr. Klenha had been president of Cicero for the last fifteen years, before and during the time that Al Capone made the town his headquarters.

"Hoodlumism and hoodlums will be forced out," said Cerny after the election. "The citizens of Cicero are respectable and all taints of gangdom will be removed."

Richey V. Graham, son-in-law of Mayor Cermak, who lives in Cicero, vouched for the sincerity of the new régime in its program. Mr. Cerny said also that the 175 places in the town selling beer would not be molested as long as they are operated in an orderly fashion.

Flying Forecasts

Special flying route forecasts for the period from 9 p. m. April 17 to noon April 18:

Route forecasts for the 12 hours ending at noon:

Evansville-Atlanta—Overcast with occasional rain near Atlanta; moderate northeast winds shifting to east near Evansville up to 1,000 feet, and moderate southwest to west near Atlanta, and moderate northeast near Evansville at 5,000 feet.

Cleveland-New York—Partly overcast near Cleveland and somewhat overcast near New York; fresh northwest and north winds near Cleveland, and strong northwest near New York up to 1,000 feet, and strong northwest winds shifting to north near Cleveland at 5,000 feet.

100 in Party

More than 100 Chicago members of the Daughters of the American Revolution left on the Capitol limited of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad yesterday to attend the 41st annual continental congress at Washington, D. C. Their visit will take them to the capital during cherry blossom time. A sightseeing tour of Washington and surrounding points of interest has been arranged.

Convention Opens Today.

Washington, D. C., April 17.—(AP)—To their forty-first continental congress, opening tomorrow, Daughters of the American Revolution delegates today made a bicentennial celebration prelude.

Honoring the first President, they crowded two chapels of Washington cathedral and listened to Representative James M. Beck of Pennsylvania plead for the preservation of the home, which he said was being destroyed "in this feverish age."

The congress, which has sometimes been stormy in years past, this year promises smoother sailing. Only the slate of golden haired Mrs. Russell H. William Magna of Holyoke, Mass., famed for her success in raising funds for the beautiful headquarters here, is in the field for the national offices.

Swamped!

THE DUTCH MASTERS CIGAR CONTEST ended at midnight, April 11th. Complete arrangements had been made in advance for handling a great mass of entries so that the judges could make their decision promptly.

BUT—we underestimated by tens of thousands the number of replies. The judges are snowed under, swamped! Each entry is being carefully read, but it is going to take weeks, yet, to finish the task conscientiously.

Just as soon as a decision can be reached, announcement will be made in this newspaper.

A flood of letters tells us of men who, during the contest, smoked Dutch Masters cigars for the first time and how no other smoke will ever again satisfy them.

So, light up Dutch Masters—they'll put you in a calm, happy mood while waiting for the winners to be announced.

THE WHISPERER

By ROY VICKERS

SYNOPSIS.

"The Whisperer Crimes" have held London terrorized for months. A bandit, working with few accomplices, has kidnaped and held for ransom numerous wealthy persons. The ransom victim is sent a small wireless receiving set, by means of which the bandit speaks, using his own short wave, and gives directions for delivering the ransom demanded. Police dare not interfere, because death results for the captive if the directions are not carried out.

Joyce Merrow is a victim of "The Whisperer." She is engaged to Roland Blatch, secretary to Sir Henry Glazeborough, M. P., a leading philanthropist. In Roland's keeping are valuable jewels, donated to Sir Henry to be sold for charity. Roland is forced to steal them for the bandit to insure the safe return of his beloved. When Joyce is again safely home, Roland decides to accept an offer from the bandit to join his band, and try to recover the jewels. He is sent to an address where a woman named Connie gives him a facial treatment which alters his appearance.

INSTALLMENT VII.

SUSPICIOUS ACTIONS.

There broke from the woman a sigh that was almost a sob, then abruptly she roused herself and spoke with her former briskness.

"The tan will last about a week, but the wrinkles will have to be removed every three days. In any case, you will come here every day between eleven and twelve to see if there are any orders."

"Go ahead."

"Here is a cloakroom ticket for your luggage, which is at Charing Cross station. You will get a retainer of ten pounds a week and an allowance for your hotel bills—and a hundred pounds a day while you are working. The Chief has put you on the pay roll from today—and as you have worked, I am to hand you this." She gave him a packet of treasury notes.

Roland took the notes—one hundred pounds—his fee for robbing Old Glassy.

"This doesn't happen to be a photograph of young Mr. Blatch now, I suppose, Miss Merrow?"

"Thanks!" He stuffed them in the wallet.

"There won't be—unless you make them," he grinned.

"You must help me not to," she gave back.

He did not know what to make of that. In some queer way—against his own inclination—he was being forced into a kind of comradeship with this woman. There might be a tragic side to her story, but after all she was an agent of The Whisperer.

He passed through the shop into the street. Opposite was a tobacconist's, which reminded him that he had no cigarets.

"Fifty Gold Flakes, please."

A youngish man behind the counter, who seemed to be arranging things in the window, looked at him, but made no attempt to serve him. An older man shambled from the back of the shop and gave him what he wanted.

The plain clothes man followed him to the station, saw him collect a trunk and two suitcases and eventually traced him to the Gulverbury hotel.

It was five o'clock before Chief Inspector Larpent succeeded in seeing Joyce Merrow. At his first attempt he had learned that she had gone out in a big car. Later, a telephone message from the porter brought him in a hurry to Porlock Mansions.

Unobtrusively he took a good look at her as she opened the door to him, and agreed that Sir Henry Glazeborough was right in his description of her.

"I am a detective, Miss Merrow," he explained. He noted the quick alarm that spread over her expressive face. Evidently she had something to conceal.

She asked him in, settled him in an armchair and offered him a cigaret. Then, without prompting from him, she told him of her own adventure with The Whisperer.

From the girl's lips he heard the already familiar tale—how, blinded by the spectacles, she had been driven in a car for some twenty minutes into an enclosed courtyard. She had been taken up a flight of stairs to a room, in which she had remained until about mid-day, when she was taken back in the car and set down in Regent's park. Throughout her stay in the room she had seen no one, but from time to time her captor spoke to her by means of a loud speaking telephone.

"And no sooner had you got back here than Mr. Blatch turned up to see if you were all right?" asked Larpent, and noticed the girl's hesitation.

"Yes. But—but he was only here a few minutes before—— "

"Before he bolted," said Larpent. The girl flushed, but said nothing. "He has bolted, you know. Which reminds me. You don't happen to have a photograph of him, do you?"

"No," faltered Joyce, whereat Larpent smiled. He went over to the mantelpiece and picked up a cabinet sized photograph of a young man.

"This doesn't happen to be a photograph of young Mr. Blatch now, I suppose, Miss Merrow?"

Joyce did not answer. He felt very sorry for her. The half formed guess that the whole thing might be a conspiracy between Glazeborough, the girl and young Blatch faded away.

"It's a good face, that, Miss Merrow—full of character! Funny thing! It's not the face of a coward—who runs away and hides when he's got into a mess that he knows isn't really his own fault."

"He's not a coward!" flashed Joyce. "And he's not running away—not for himself, I mean. He said at first he was going to give himself up. O, I—— "

Larpent had made her say more than she had intended. That was part of his job—and sometimes it hurt him to do it.

Joyce stood up and faced him boldly.

"Mr. Larpent, I'm sorry I lied to you about the photograph. But can't you see—if he wants to keep out of the way—for his own reasons—I don't want to help you to find him?"

Straight stuff, thought Larpent. The girl had spirit enough to declare her position honestly.

"Of course, my dear young lady. I quite understand. Now let me tell you something. I don't want your young man. Don't be hurt when I say he's no more than a nuisance to me. What has he done? In a manner of speaking, he's stolen jewels belonging to his employer. Couldn't help himself. I'd have done the same in his place."

"O, I'm so glad to hear you say that!" she exclaimed—and Larpent told himself that she was very must in love with young Blatch. So much the better for his job—if he could get her to see that their interests might be the same.

"The man I want is The Whisperer," resumed Larpent. "Just try and get this. If I ask where you bought a bit of ribbon to tie up your back hair—ah, well, you don't wear 'em nowadays, but you know what I mean—my purpose will be to find The Whisperer. Nothing else! You understand?"

The girl murmured assent and he went on:

"So Mr. Blatch intended to give himself up—then changed his mind."

"I don't really know why. Some one telephoned him here. I don't know what it was about. But he changed his mind after that."

Larpent had a pretty shrewd idea what it was. Perhaps she would let him carry it a step further.

"But he must have said something to you after he had been telephoned."

"Yes. But I didn't understand what he said. And he told me it was a secret—told me not to repeat what he said even though I didn't understand it. So I can't tell you, can I?"

"No," said Larpent promptly. "We won't ask you to break your pledged word to him."

That, he knew, strengthened her confidence.

"I would help you find The Whisperer if I could!" she said eagerly. "But—how can I?"

"I don't know that you can. We've got to keep on groping in the dark. . . . Just tell me where you've been since Mr. Blatch left you."

"With Sir Henry Glazeborough. His car came here and the chauffeur brought a message that he would be greatly obliged if I would come round to see him. That was about three o'clock. His car brought me back here about—O, about a quarter of an hour ago."

"You were there for some time, eh? I don't suppose it's very important, but would you have any objection to telling me what you talked about?"

"No objection at all, but really, I hardly know. We talked about The Whisperer and poor Roland—Mr. Blatch. He gave me tea and when I wanted to go he begged me to stay. He was very upset and said it was a relief to talk to me about it. He—he's rather a sentimental man."

"Hm! You must have been with him a couple of hours. Is he a special friend of yours?"

"I've never seen him until this afternoon."

Larpent was silent. If Sir Henry had never seen the girl before, how had he known that she was beautiful and charming and the rest of it? And why had he wanted Larpent to interview her personally? To prevent a younger detective giving her a rough time? Nonsense! He had kept the girl out of the way until five o'clock. Why? Obviously because he wanted a detective to be with her round about five-thirty.

Then as if chance had decided to answer his question there and then there came a knock at the outer door.

Chicago String Quartet Ends Series at Club

Close Successful Season of Concerts.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

The Chicago String quartet finished its series at the Chicago Woman's club yesterday afternoon, having done so well with its course of concerts that it will probably present another of the same sort next season.

It has an enviably large repertoire, playing not only the standard works but searching the field for seldom heard compositions. Yesterday afternoon, for example, the quartet borrowed the services of Robert Dolejsi as an added viola player, and gave the first American performance of Anton Bruckner's Quintet in F. It is a leisurely, discursive work, tending toward researches in lyricism and ignoring the nerve stimulus of the dramatic. Bruckner seemed to base all his musical life on a slower tempo than that of the present. Wherefore the hearer is obliged to readjust himself, but if he can do that he is reasonably sure of a reward.

Other numbers on the program were Julius Harrison's "Widdicombe Fair" and the Franck Quartet in D. The Chicago String quartet is an eager and ambitious organization, and deserving of all the success it has attained.

The Whitneys are a family and a musical group at one and the same time. Nearly ten years ago two sisters and a brother, Noreen, violin; Grace, cello, and Robert S., piano, combined themselves into a trio and began making public appearances. Some time later they were joined by Edith, second violin; Edna, viola, and their father, Robert P., double bass. As such they appeared at the Cordon club.

The combination is thus capable of playing almost any combination of chamber music for strings with or without piano. Their program contained Alessandro Scarlatti's Concerto for five strings and piano, and pianist's Divertimento for three strings omitting his own instrument, Arnold Bax's Quartet in one movement for three strings and piano, and Schubert's Quintet known as "The Trout" for four strings and piano.

They play with considerable skill, meanwhile giving the impression that the music confronting them is considerably more important than any brilliant display of their own. That fact is part of their charm.

Wide Variety of Designs and Colors Available.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

If you are cotton conscious this spring, the clever things you will fashion for your spring and summer wardrobe will be legion! With four or five yards of gingham, linen, new cotton meshes and other fabrics that can travel back and forth to the laundry tubs without any trouble, you can produce alluring results. There are cottons that are as crisp as crackers, mesh weaves, novelty mixtures that look and act like wool, linens in every shade and tint imaginable, sheer voiles and organdies as transparent as phantoms, and cotton nets, dotted swisses, and other washable materials galore in all the stores ready for those who make their own.

Some eye-smashing combinations in color can be achieved with linen. It is a good mixing medium, and all the smart new tones are now ready for creative designers. And the new prices are as reasonable as any shopper could want. You can go around in stripes this spring without any fear, for the fashionable stripes are the narrow and colorful variety—scarlet, blue, brown, yellow, green and pink, virtually all the sweet stick candy stripes of our childhood memories.

The smartest way to employ stripes is in the V-line manner or chevron style, which will slenderize even the plump bulk of cake and whipped cream addicts. Or, if you like, you can cut and fit each section of your frock in a zigzag formation.

The new meshes will bewitch all shoppers. The way in which the designers have dropped stitches to make new patterns bespeaks an aim to help the sales of costume slips. Some of the meshes look like coarse homespuns, others are flat and thin in squared patterns, still others are woven to remind you of the thin Turkish towels. Some seem to have been copied from woven wash cloths.

You can be discreet in your selection of floral displays, but you will weaken when you see these gorgeous new flowered fabrics. They grow lovelier each season. Bold, flamboyant flights of color compete with almost pastoral effects, and demure, old fashioned nosegays. These new materials will surely make your fingers reach for new dress patterns and thimble, thread and needle.

Dr. Waples to Speak at Library Convention

How the depression has affected the reading of books will be discussed at the annual convention of the American Library association in New Orleans by Dr. Douglas Waples of the graduate library school at the University of Chicago, one of the score of Chicagoans who will present reports at the convention. It will be held April 25 to 30.

Dr. Waples is now on his way home from Europe.

AVOID UGLY PIMPLES

Does a pimply face embarrass you? Get a package of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights, if you are like thousands of others.

Help cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c, 30c, 60c.

Huge Collar of Sable Trims Ivory Broadcloth Wrap for Summer Nights

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Paris dressmakers O. K. the broadcloth evening wrap for the cool of the summer night, and you and I know how cool that sometimes is. These wraps of real, honest to goodness wool are a boon to those of us who have suffered these many years in porous velvets, silks, and chiffons.

The broadcloth that the Paris fashion magnates use is the one with a satin finish, and it invariably comes in a tone of ivory, much newer and more exciting than dead white, this season. These wraps come in all sizes, from the tiny shoulder capes of Lelong to the full length, stately cloaks of Jane Regny. The French couturiers think so well of them that they trim them with such precious furs as sable and silver fox.

The coat in our sketch is an ivory broadcloth evening wrap from Jane Regny, and is a formal wrap which touches the floor in back and has a big collar of sable. The center front closing of the model is smart and unusual, being shirred into two ruffles that cascade down the front to the hipline. The long sleeves, though fitted, are shirred almost to the elbows and also have ruffles at the outside of the shirring.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., April 17.—[Special.]—The British ambassador and Lady Lindsay were hosts at dinner this evening entertaining a small company informally. Last evening they gave a dinner party in compliment to their house guest, the British high commissioner to Canada, Sir William Clarke and Lady Clarke. Other guests included the Argentine ambassador, Mr. Espil; the Canadian minister, Mr. Herridge; Senator and Mrs. George H. Moses of New Hampsire, Representative A. Piatt Andrew of Massachusetts, Representative and Mrs. James M. Beck of Pennsylvania; Representative and Mrs. Hamilton Fish of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brett Noyes, formerly of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Bliss of New York; A. F. Lascelles, secretary to the governor general of Canada, and the Hon. Mrs. Lascelles.

Gen. John J. Pershing was host at luncheon today, his sister, Miss Mary Pershing, acting as hostess for him, entertaining at the Carlton. The guests were Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Mills, Senator and Mrs. Hiram Bingham of Connecticut, the director of the reconstruction finance corporation and Mrs. Charles G. # Here's Answer to Search for New Flower

Modern Delphinium Thing of Great Beauty.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Those who are of the opinion that there is "nothing new under the sun" so far as floriculture is concerned are respectfully referred to the hundreds of Chicagoland gardeners who have been developing modern delphiniums. For a fact finding argumentation they need look no farther.

One of these, Mrs. C. C. Brackett of Deerfield, reminds us that some of the "rost spectacular development in garden flowers has been done with modern delphinium.

"The occasional resemblance to their wild ancestors is scarcely noticeable," she says. "The spindly, weak three or four foot stalk with a foot or so of smoky blue flowers of the recent garden ancestors of delphiniums has been replaced by new monarchs five to eight feet tall, holding blossoms two to three feet long.

"The florets—single, semi-double and full double—are often three inches and more across and the colors range from white and sky blue through violets, mauves, opalescent pinks and fawns, intenser blues, royal blues, purple and plum."

The first steps in hybridizing the modern delphinium are credited to Kelway's in England and Lemoine in France as early as 1890. Then in the beginning of the present century American growers began experimenting.

"It was not until 1921," adds Mrs. Brackett, "when Samuels came out of the north of Wales to take the floral world by storm with his Wrexham strain, that delphiniums came into their own. These modern types are neither too rare nor too new for the gardener with a modest pocketbook to bring into intimate acquaintance in one's own garden."

Mrs. Brackett believes that delphinium culture has really just begun. It is more than a fad, she says, a "thing of beauty and a joy forever."

Nagging Seldom Produces Good Table Manners

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Question: "My boys, who are 10 and 12, used to have such nice table manners and now they are so bad that I am ashamed of them. I correct them and their father does all the time, but they don't seem to improve. Have you any advice?

Answer: Yes, I have—gained in ways practical as well as—shall we say psychological?—though they're both the same.

First, stop all correcting at the table. It really gets to be nagging. When a thing is heard too many times it ceases to register.

Next, boys at this age are becoming more and more vigorous and their appetites keep pace. They have a "bigger gesture" and are beginning to feel restrictions. So accept it as natural, not naughty. But we do have to do something about it. So try this plan: Do all the talking you're going to do about table manners before the meal. Tell them you want them to try to remember what they do know, and that even if they're forgetful you're not going to mention it, because you want to talk about interesting and pleasant things and have a good time together at dinner, not a scolding time.

Question: "Does your 'Sex Education' booklet contain information on proper names of the parts of the body and their functions? My children up to the present time have never used any vulgar names, only 'family names,' as you call them, but I believe as you do that they may pick those up if they do not know the correct ones. Does it give information about the beginning of life?"

Answer: Yes, to both questions. You are wise in beginning now with correct information. No, 6 and 8 are not too young. Even younger is advisable.

Then I saw my Teeth whiten 3 shades in 3 days

Dingy Yellow Disappears Overnight

EVEN if your teeth have been dingy and yellow for years, and faithful care has failed to remedy this unfortunate condition, Kolynos with its unique technique will soon make them clean and attractive. In just 3 days you'll see a great change. Your teeth will look 3 shades whiter.

There's a very definite reason why Kolynos cleans and whitens teeth so remarkably. This double-strength dental cream—utterly unlike anything you've ever used—contains two important ingredients. One—the best and safest cleansing agent known—literally foams into and cleans out every tiny crevice, erases tartar and removes yellowish acid spots. And the second ingredient strikes at the source of most tooth and gum troubles. It kills millions of germs—190 million in 15 seconds, according to tests—that swarm into the mouth and, if neglected, cause decay, discoloration and gum diseases.

Decide to have sound, gleaming white teeth and healthy gums. Start using Kolynos—a half-inch on a dry brush, twice daily. In 3 days a glance at your teeth will tell you why this dental cream is winning thousands of new users every week—your teeth will look 3 shades whiter. Try a tube of Kolynos—buy a tube today.

Hunting News in Plane Told by Larry Rue

Correspondent Tells of Many Thrills.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"I Fly for News," by Larry Rue [Boni].

YOU armchair adventurers who prop your morning papers against the sugar bowl, or fold them into arm space on the elevated and start your day with a survey of the news of the world, have probably often said to yourselves, "Boy, but it'd be great to be a foreign correspondent, seeing things, talking to kings and bandit chiefs and fellows like Einstein and that baby that went up into the upper layers of air, riding around in airplanes . . . those fellows on newspapers certainly live the life of Reilly. Some people have all the luck. . . ."

LARRY RUE.

Just how much luck and exactly the brand that is ladled out to foreign correspondents in their "line of duty" you'll find described in Larry Rue's "I Fly for News," which may make your simple life utterly unbearable to some of you. Others it will make settle back into the cushions with the sage observation, "They can all have their thrills that way that want 'em. Me, I'm for the battle front of Chicago."

Excitement bursts on every page, thrills tremble in every sentence of "I Fly for News." Not that Larry Rue is writing fiction in it. He doesn't have to, because the facts in his life have the adventure stories of Richard Harding Davis and his long line of followers crowded into the bushes for excitement.

Adventure in Everyday Life.

As a matter of fact, leaping over the face of the earth, escaping death, courting it with nonchalance, are so much a matter of fact to the foreign correspondent of Larry Rue's type that he has a hard time making himself think that his life is sizzling with adventure. It's not "adventure" when it's your everyday life. It's because he is so casual about everything, so like the well known cigaret advertisement about being nonchalant in embarrassing moments, that some readers will turn a good Paris green with envy when they read the book. They will feel only the thrills in his pages, and, since he rarely expresses them, miss his fears.

Larry Rue was the first foreign correspondent of an American newspaper to do his news gathering flying his own plane. He made an investigating circuit of the Mediterranean, some 10,000 miles, flying a Moth plane with THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE painted on its side. The story of that flight is the thriller for any one who knows about aviation. To those who are not so blessed, the stories of Larry Rue's penetration into Afghanistan and his record of the interview which he succeeded in getting with Abd-el-Krim are just as exciting.

"Rush! Proceed! Jump!" are the three ways for a foreign news director to begin a cable, he says. "I was on the receiving end of such cables for ten years. As roving correspondent for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE these three words were the joy and bane of my existence."

Stories of His Rushing.

They were the bane because whenever he got himself somewhere where he especially wanted to stay for a while he would receive an order to go somewhere else. The reader is sure, however, that the joys overwhelmed the banes because the author of "I Fly for News" certainly had a swell time answering those commands, "rushing" oftener than merely proceeding.

How violently he rushed, for instance, into the battle scenes of the Riff, are told in his chapters on interviewing Abd-el-Krim. He was in the midst of things in forty-eight hours (by airplane) and got into the land of the Riff by a stratagem a fiction writer might have made up. Getting in was bad enough, but getting out was worse. The story of that assignment makes a grand yarn.

The whole book is a grand yarn and would prove even to the jaded gentleman who reads his paper without any interest whatever in the adventures of getting all of the data in it which he sees so calmly in type that news gathering is no stodgy job. That it is likewise, in many cases, a hazardous one, but (from the point of view of the reporter) a glorious one, is tacit on every page of Larry Rue's "I Fly for News."

Another method of gathering news (nowadays) is through the sound-news films. Charles Peden has told of the thrills of that business of jumping—rarely proceeding or even rushing—over the face of the world in search of pictures and sound records in "News-reel Man" (Doubleday-Doran). The book is illustrated with stills from famous news reels of the last few years.

BY MAE TINEE.

Good Morning!

Again we have young Norman Foster with us! It does seem as if he's in three out of every four pictures lately!

Well—more power to him! His is the gift of acting naturally. Add to this beneficence the facts that he's good-looking, and has an engaging personality and voice, and you realize that Mr. Foster is quite a feller.

"Play Girl," supposedly featuring Winnie Lightner, is a good little programmer that hands Mr. Foster and Miss Young most of the breaks. Winnie is just the big-hearted girl friend of the shop damsel heroine.

Heroine falls in love and weds one whom she believes to be a big business and society man. On her honeymoon she discovers—O, well, I might as well tell you—that he GAMBLES!

Well, young Mrs. Wallie bears up nobly under the strain of his eccentric activities for a while and does a good job of trying to believe her husband's promises to—never, never again! and—"I'll get a regular job tomorrow. . . ."

Then comes the day when the camel's back breaks—now do you suppose Miss Young will sue us for calling her a camel?—and from here on I WON'T tell any more about the plot!

The story is not particularly original, but it has a couple of unexpected twists that pep it up. It is snappily acted and holds the interest because of this fact, sympathetic direction and one's liking for the principals.

AND—on the stage is Rosetta Duncan. Georges Carpentier, who once went to school to Dempsey, is also there.

Hampden Gets Big Welcome with "Cyrano"

Romantic Drama Stages a Comeback.

Edmond Rostand's play in Brian Hooker's verse translation; given at the Blackstone theater April 17, 1932, with Walter Hampden as star, under his own management.

And others.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

Walter Hampden brought the romantic drama back to the Chicago stage last night with his revival of Rostand's gallant, witty, and fantastical "Cyrano de Bergerac," and an audience at the Blackstone theater responded to it with an enthusiasm which seemed to suggest that realism is temporarily out of favor. The gusto and bravura of the good old days was in the performance, and the first nighters gloated over it.

"Cyrano" proved to be as much of a hit as it was in the period of its first vogue, at the dawn of the twentieth century. The chevalier of the redoubtable sword and the incredible nose has apparently lost none of his intimations of immortality.

This heroic comedy, admirably translated by Brian Hooker from its scintillant French rhymed couplets into energetic and eloquent blank verse, may have been familiar to a large section of its première assembly, but certainly there were many in attendance to whom it came as a new adventure in play-going. Yet the latter element, like the "Cyrano" veterans, completely succumbed to the fascination of this glowing, flamboyant character study. The performance, dominated by Mr. Hampden's masterful portrait of the duellist-poet of the comic mask, moved through four of its acts to constant ripples of laughter, and hushed the gayety in the fifth with the poetry of a magnificent death scene.

Even though its hero dies at the end, "Cyrano de Bergerac" is comedy in its design. Its last line is a heroic bon mot celebrating the undying spirit of Cyrano's gleaming wit. And it seems to me, appraising Mr. Hampden's characterization in this revival, which comes seven years after his adoption of the rôle, that he has a firmer grip upon the play than before.

His Cyrano has mellowed and also grown more crisp. His treatment of the character in terms of the comedy of the mind, of Gallic esprit, is more supple and assured. The part bristles with witticisms, joyous or mordant, and Mr. Hampden scores in every line of the elaborate text.

So this Cyrano—the first of importance on the American stage since Mansfield's—strikes me as being better in revival than in the original production. Mr. Hampden's death scene, including the reading of the "gazette," the speaking of the epitaph, and the defiance of the dark angel, was always a superb piece of acting. Now, in the episodes that tell the earlier phases of the story, he comes close to the Cyrano of the reader's imagination. In its briskness of Gallic humor this interpretation may be compared with Coquelin's.

The nose that Mr. Hampden gives to Cyrano is a proboscis that justifies everything said about it by its proud, resentful owner or its awed beholders. It is a nose more flagrantly comic than those worn by the other two famous representatives of the character. It is bulbous, corrugated, and mottled of hue, so overgrown that it interferes with hand-kissing. It gives the impression that Mr. Hampden has modeled it after that line in the dialogue which calls it a "blue cucumber."

The duel of the improvised ballade conveys a true thrill of cut and thrust romance, for Mr. Hampden is a skillful fencer. The long ironic speech beginning, "What would you have me do?" which is the most eloquent passage in the play, is treated with fine effect. The balcony scene, where the hidden Cyrano woos Roxane for the handsome Christian, and himself as well, is shrewdly treated for its interplay of comedy and romance.

Berlin Orchestra Marks Its Fiftieth Anniversary

BERLIN, April 17.—(AP)—The fiftieth anniversary of the Berlin Philharmonic orchestra was observed today with a gala ceremony at which a Goethe medal in gold was presented to Wilhelm Furtwaengler, conductor of the orchestra for a decade, on behalf of President von Hindenburg. Mayor Heinrich Saho announced a municipal subsidy to insure the existence of the organization.

Back to "The Elegant Eighties"

The late Mrs. J. Whitney Farlin ready to start calling in her smartly gotten up victoria in "The Elegant Eighties." Mrs. Farlin was the mother of Mrs. George Henry High of Chicago and the grandmother of Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen Jr. of Lake Forest, and Lady Burney of London.

Ernst Lubitsch Says Good Voice Is Vital to Aspiring Movie Queen

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

When the talkies were first introduced—remember? it was suggested that they would entail a sort of revolution in our manner of speech. They would educate us to better vocal strains, to better pronunciation. Well, I'll leave it to you to decide just how extensively the reform influence has worked!

However, I was interested to hear what Ernst Lubitsch, the famous moving picture director had to offer about the female voice as he meets it in movie stars and applicants. And so, I tracked him down one morning recently.

Mr. Lubitsch says that while the phonetic quality of a voice must be pleasing, the tone alone will not make a beautiful voice, a charming one. [Incidentally, Mr. Lubitsch supports the theory that that indefinable thing in a woman known as charm more often than not may be laid directly to her vocal chords and their pleasing

A pretty voice, like a pretty face, may become darned monotonous after you've had to live with it a while. There must be shading, feeling, expression in the speaking voice, as in the face, to sustain interest. There must be intelligence. And the voice, more than the face, may express intelligence. It has the added advantage of being able to carry on its tonal wings intelligent words and phrases.

The importance of the voice in connection with today's beautiful movie applicant is verified by Mr. Lubitsch. Formerly, to please the eye mattered most. Today, both eye and ear must be done right by, with strong emphasis on pleasing the ear. Great things can be done with voices, to be sure, under proper training and development. The recent screen successes of some of our experienced stage stars bear witness to this vocal value of which we speak.

In Mr. Lubitsch's judgment, Helen Hayes has the most beautiful of voices, exhibiting as it does great artistry in handling. Nancy Carroll's voice is soft and has great charm. Marie Dressler's voice is the voice that Marie Dressler should have, and that brings up another Lubitsch point. Voices should be part and parcel of the personality. A Garbo with a Janet Gaynor voice would be a flop. Or, vice versa, a large energetic woman with childish, piping tones is as incongruous as a baby faced creature with a husky voice. All right for character parts, but not for leading rôles.

We're gravitating toward an adult taste in beauty all around, thinks the moving picture director, as witness the demise in popularity of the "inexpressive ice-cream face" as he calls it. Even the shop window models bear out the adult demand for qualities that are interesting, over yesterday's wax model perfections.

Costumes at $15 or Less Are Featured at Sorority Style Show

How to be chic though thrifty is no longer a problem to the girls of fifteen Chicago chapters of Sigma Tau Gamma, national sorority. At a bridge tea yesterday in the Hotel La Salle they witnessed a parade of their sorority sisters in costumes, and every model was priced at $15 or less.

A two piece suit of lipstick red boucle, trimmed with gray vicuna fox, was worn by Virginia Murphy with a beret in harmonizing shades. Bernice Decker, "Miss Chicago" of 1930, assisted as a model and wore a two-piece brown jericho dress on military lines, with a small brimmed hat of yellow visca. The jericho is a triple sheer crêpe.

Present Play Tonight.

The dramatic club of the Notre Dame Catholic church, Harrison and Loomis streets, will present "The Shannons of Broadway" tonight at the People's institute, Van Buren and Leavitt streets. The proceeds will be used to further the work of the Fathers of the Blessed Sacrament of the church. Miss Helene Swade is president of the club and Myles Sullivan is the director of the play.

OUR SECRET AMBITION

Time Turns Backward at Society Talk

BY JUDITH CASS.

TIME turned backward for two hours yesterday afternoon for the fashionable audience at Herma Clark's illustrated lecture on "The Elegant Eighties" at Orchestra hall. The glory that was Prairie avenue's, the distinction of old North Rush street when it was known as "McCormickville," the city's flurry of entertainment for Gen. Grant, the first vague steps of preparation for the World's Fair of 1893, all came to life again on a screen of stereopticon slides.

There were many in the audience who can recall the quaint Chicago of 50 years ago; there were others who saw themselves or their ancestors pictured as they were in the days when young Chicago was feeling the first consciousness of its proud destiny as a city.

Th Fields, Armours, Pullmans, Blairs, Stones, Medills, Carpenters, Farwells, McCormicks, Dixons, and all the other families who helped to make the history of the era were pictured on the screen from old family album photos.

See Selves as Collegians.

Edward Blair and John V. Farwell, both of whom were in the audience, saw themselves as gay young collegians. Later on Mr. Blair was shown with his round-cheeked, black-eyed baby daughter, Lucy, who is now Mrs. Howard Linn. Mrs. A. A. Carpenter laughed with the audience when she saw herself as a little girl photographed with Ethel Field [Lady Beatty] at the famous Mikado party given by the first Mrs. Marshall Field at the shocking cost of $50,000.

The late Arthur Dixon, a handsome, dark haired young man of the eighties, was mentioned by "Martha," the recorder of the decade, as "a fine citizen, greatly devoted to the Methodist church where he taught a large Sunday school class. His son—and grandson, George W. Dixon and George Jr., both of whom are prominent members of the tall Methodist Temple in the loop today, were in the audience.

Mrs. William J. Chalmers, whose wedding was one of the memorable affairs of the late eighties, was pictured on the screen in the days when she was Joan Pinkerton, a lovely young woman with the beauty and style of Lily Langtry. Mrs. Howard Van Doren Shaw and her sister, Mrs. Charles T. Atkinson, were on the screen, too, as small girls on their father's knee.

Among those in the audience were Mrs. Frederick T. Haskell, Mrs. John G. Shedd and her daughter, Mrs. Kersey Coates Reed [the late John Shedd was pictured in the album], Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Bissell, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew R. Sherriff, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin M. Miller [Mrs. Miller's mother, Mrs. Louise Falk, was shown on the screen as a young woman], Mrs. Otto Schmidt, Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Sims, Mr. and Mrs. Erich Gerstenberg, Miss Alice Gerstenberg, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest R. Graham, and Mrs. Charles E. Kohl.

Arts Club Opens Exhibit.

After the lecture a number of the same people joined the throng at the Arts club tea to open its annual exhibition of paintings and sculpture by its own professional members. The crowd was large at the Arts club, too large, in fact, for more than a hurried glimpse at the works of about 65 artists. There was a great crush at the tea table, where a high tea was being served.

Among the interesting contributions to the show are two small pieces of sculpture by Helen Orb Dawes [Mrs. Neil B. Dawes]; a lovely portrait by Katharine Dudley of the Shreve C. Badgers' small daughter, Anne; a portrait of the stunning Mrs. Potter D'Orsay Palmer by Paul Trebilcock, a Mexican scene done by Florence Noyes on her recent trip; two Arizona landscapes by the late Mrs. Heman Field, and a lovely figure for a children's park by Sylvia Shaw Judson for which her sister, Theodora Shaw, was the model.

May Day Plans for Bryn Mawr.

Mrs. Philip W. Moore and Mrs. John Rice Reilly, both of Winnetka, are the only ones who are definite about going east for the eighth quadrennial Elizabethan May day to be presented at Bryn Mawr college on Friday and Saturday, May 6 and 7, but quite a number of other alumnae from around here are thinking of going, and I have no doubt it will be a good sized contingent that starts east a day or two before the pageant.

Mrs. Edwin P. Dewes and Mrs. William G. Hibbard have been named as chairmen of the Chicago Alumnae May day committee, which includes among its members Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Reilly, Mrs. Anson Cameron, Mrs. Cochran Supplee, Mrs. Edward K. Welles, and Mrs. McDoel Wyman.

May day will open with a great pageant in which Queen Elizabeth, portrayed by Cornelia Otis Skinner, a member of the class of 1922, will ride, attended by her court, followed by oxen drawing the Maypole and by the performers and dancers. The procession will end on Merion green, where after the crowning of the May queen [Cornelia Drake of Miami, Fla., and Lenox, Mass.] the Maypole dances will take place. Old English plays will be given in different parts of the campus during the afternoon and dancing on the green will continue until evening.

Arthur Farwells Return to City.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Farwell returned yesterday from quite an extended stay in Charleston, which, by the way, seems to have entranced every one who has been there this season, for I've heard any number of people who were there say they would like to live in that garden spot.

Now that picnic time is close upon us, we are coming to think about foods in relation to the contents of a large, well filled basket that will produce all sorts of things that taste like more after a drive into the country. Chief among the portable delicacies are sardines, and a better choice for a meat for out of door eating it would be hard to find, unless one intends to build a fire.

With us, here in America, sardines are too often likely to be just sardines. We might well take a little time to consider the different varieties—the mustard, tomato, and oil packs, the size of the fish, the size of the tins. There is, for example, the brisling, that superior sort of Norwegian sardine, behind which there is a most interesting story.

Fish have unaccountable migratory habits. Here today and gone tomorrow doesn't half tell their vagaries. Not much more than fifty years ago, for example, the brisling appeared in the fiords of Norway, where it had not been noticed before, and it has continued to return every summer. Where it spends its time the rest of the year is not known.

The small, shiny brisling fatten themselves in the Norwegian fiords until the fishermen decide they are prime for canning, and they go out after them with purse nets and motor boats. Like our own Gloucester fleet, this one has also been shorn of glamour as it has been increased in efficiency. At the factory the fish are canned with modern tinning machinery that does away with the dangerous process of soldering—dangerous because it was sometimes the cause of lead poisoning.

Most of the brisling are packed in olive oil. And it is a curious fact that, so efficient have fishing methods become, the fish in a can are often worth less than the oil used to preserve them, since the oil has to be imported at considerable expense.

From a tiny enterprise, started in a fishing village, the brisling industry has become a prominent one in Norway. Thousands of people owe their livelihood to it, and all because the brisling suddenly decided to swim into the Norwegian fiords instead of into the waters they had formerly inhabited.

Sardines in general are a good food. They contain the valuable vitamin A, and, like all sea food, iodine that we inland people need. So when you start out into the open to enjoy your spring fever, take along a few cans of sardines, and as you spear their succulent little bodies from the tin reflect that here is something that is not only good, but good for you.

HAM SOUFFLE WITH NEW POTATOES.

1 cup minced cooked ham.
New potatoes.
3 egg yolks.
3 egg whites.
Parsley butter.

Melt the butter, add the milk and flour, cook till thick and season. Add the minced ham, then the well beaten egg yolks. Next fold in the whites, stiffly beaten. Pour into a buttered ring form, set in a pan of hot water and bake till firm. Turn out into a platter and fill the center of the ring with new potatoes which have been rolled in parsley butter.

BANANA CREAM.

2-3 cup confectioner's sugar.
1 tablespoon lemon juice.
1 cup whipping cream.
2 cups coffee cream.
[Canned milk may be substituted for whipping cream.]

Slice the banana very thin, add the sugar and mix thoroughly. Add the lemon juice and coffee cream. Pour into the refrigerator tray and freeze till firm. Put into a chilled mixing bowl and beat with rotary beater till light. Fold in the whipped cream and freeze.

NOW STOP PAIN THIS EASY WAY

If you want to keep your feet free from aching corns just get a bottle of FREEZONE from any druggist. Put a drop or two on the corn. Pain stops instantly, and for good! Then before you know it the corn gets so loose you can lift it right off with your fingers, easily and painlessly. It's the safe way that millions use to get rid of hard and soft corns and calluses. Works like a charm! Try it.

Garbo Insists on Plans to Go to Sweden

MGM Gets First Chance if She Returns.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., April 17.—[Special.]—The closest to personal acquaintance with Greta Garbo that the two principal heads of the MGM studio have been able to get during Greta's five year reign over their lot was last week. As her five year contract ends in May, Louis B. Mayer, executive head of the studio, and Irving Thalberg, head production official, summoned the Swedish star for an official chat. They wanted to find out exactly what her intentions were with respect to accepting a new contract or going back to Sweden in June.

My information as to the outcome of the conference is that Greta expressed determination to go back to Europe this summer, that she did not want to make any more motion pictures at this time, but if she changes her mind in the future she promised to give MGM first chance at her services, either in Europe or by returning to Hollywood.

Slim satisfaction many think at MGM after five years during which the studio paid Greta something over a million dollars in salaries and expended three million more in producing pictures to star her and make her famous.

In making "The Truth About Hollywood" at Radio-RKO studio the director demanded 35 actors and actresses with authentic Hollywood records to do minor bits in the picture. More than twenty of them were ex-directors, ex-leading women, and ex-stars.

Having completed "State's Attorney" with expectations of a box office cleanup Radio is continuing the combination of John Barrymore as star and George Archainbaud as director for one more film, story and title as yet unselected.

Hereafter Don Alvarado, American-Mexican actor, will take his checks for film work in Hollywood instead of in Tia Juana, for he has started suit against Dwain Esper, doing business as the Mendez-Bernal productions, to recover for a $350 salary check paid Alvarado for his appearance in a Spanish language film. The check was paid in Tia Juana, but bounced back when tried on a United States bank. Much of the film was shot in Mexico.

Both Ann Harding and Joan Bennett are shortly to be made colonels; Ann when her late father, Col. George Gatley's old world war unit, the Rainbow Division, holds its reunion here early next month, and Joan when the 347th Field Artillery officers hold their banquet April 30 in Los Angeles.

and Mrs. William J. Black, just back from a lengthy western trip and all enthusiasm about everything they saw. They weren't seeing much of the west for the first time, either, for they go there annually. They are closing up their apartment at 179 Lake Shore drive this week and moving out to their Lake Forest residence for the summer.

Mrs. Black's sister, Mrs. Edward T. Wilder, sailed from France on Saturday and will arrive in Chicago about the middle of next week.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. L. Curtis of 1200 Lake Shore drive are expected home the middle of this week from a trip which included a stay in Florida, a journey through the Panama canal and a fairly long stay in Pasadena.

Mr. and Mrs. James Otis Hinkley, who were at the Lake Shore Drive hotel all winter, have moved out to their Lake Forest residence.

More News of the Travelers.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Cremin of 20 East Scott street and their daughter, Miss Florence, and Miss Noel Cremin will return early this week from a holiday at Biloxi, Miss.

Mrs. Frederic W. Upham and Mrs. Americus F. Callahan motored to Aurora-on-Cayuga last week to spend this week with Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Zabriskie. Mrs. George C. Venard and Mrs. Arthur B. Slade also motored to Aurora last week to visit the Zabriskies.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville J. Taylor of 219 Lake Shore drive are expecting Mr. Taylor's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Taylor, to arrive from San Diego for a visit in Chicago about June 1. The senior Taylors are leaving California soon but will stop in Memphis for a visit with their daughter, Mrs. James W. Bodley, on their way to Chicago.

Mary Hastings Bradley is to repeat her lecture, "Black Kings," which always interests her audience immensely, tonight at 8:15 o'clock in the parish house of Christ church, Winnetka, under the auspices of the Woman's Guild and Auxiliary of the church. Mrs. Wyndham H. Channer and Mrs. Francis E. Hinckley are in charge of the affair.

This morning at 11 o'clock the Winnetka branch of the Infant Welfare society is to hold a special meeting at Mrs. Dudley C. Palmer's, 655 Elm street, to discuss possible means of increasing contributions so that the branch quota of $10,000 may be raised.

More Plans for "Breadline Frolics."

Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, chairman of boxes for the opening performance of the "Breadline Frolics," has met with such success in disposing of the boxes that she felt justified in taking the week-end off from work and going to Wheaton with her husband and children, so she was missing at the meeting of the producers and promoters' committee held Saturday morning at Mrs. Waller Borden's, 1020 Lake Shore drive, but her report was there and every one was "pleased to death" with it.

The list of boxholders already is long and it probably will be longer, for half the main floor of the Majestic theater, where the minstrel show will open next Monday night, is to be roped off for box seats.

The show, you know, is being produced by unemployed men from the city's shelters, and a committee of well known women and men, headed by Mrs. Waller Borden and Mrs. Freeman Hinckley, is helping the men. Mrs. William B. Greenlee, program chairman, announced that Miss Emeline Bush's sketch had been selected for use on the program cover; Mrs. Ernest J. Graham reported that "red-caps" in all the railroad stations would sell tickets, and Mrs. Robert S. Pirie [Betty Borden] suggested that sandwich men on stilts be employed to advertise the benefit, at Saturday's meeting.

As an extra inducement to attend the Chef's Parade Wednesday at the Hotel Sherman under the auspices of the Illinois Republican Women's Clubs and the National Woman's Republican club, a ticket to the first day of the Republican national convention will be given to one ticket holder. The leading chefs of Chicago will prepare their most popular dishes before the audience and give out the recipes for their concoction.

Special Libraries Group to Hold Dinner Meeting

The Illinois chapter of the Special Libraries association will hold a dinner meeting on Thursday evening at the Hotel La Salle. The program will be a round table discussion of unique businesses, with speakers including Raymond E. Hartz, vice president of the Estate Planning corporation; Emma Abplanalp, manager of the Chicago Film Board of Trade; Anderson Pace, president of Pace, Inc., industrial engineers, and Dr. Clarence O. Sappington, director of the division of industrial health of the National Safety council.

Famed Dancing Class an Era in City's Life

Social Leaders in South Side Group.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

For just a moment turn the calendar back to those gay nineties! Then picture, if you will, a Monday evening, a handsome ballroom on East 23d street just off of Prairie, an enthusiastic string orchestra, and a group of society's "best" dancing a cotillion.

Have you guessed? It is a meeting of the South Side Dancing class, that most celebrated of all dancing classes before or since, the forerunner of Chicago's fashionable balls. Mrs. George M. Pullman and Mrs. Wirt Dexter, who started it "because their husbands wanted to learn to dance," are there. The group also includes the Marshall Fields, the Arthur Catons, Gen. and Mrs. Philip H. Sheridan, Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Eddy, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Clark, the Franklin MacVeaghs, and the N. K. Fairbanks.

To learn the latest dance steps, to keep up on the old—these are the purposes of the class, to be sure, but it is also a social event of the first magnitude. Seldom does an important visitor come to town that he is not invited to join in the waltzes and polkas and enjoy at the end of the evening the light refreshments—coffee and sandwiches or lemonade and cake, depending on the season.

Now drop the pages of the calendar back to April, 1932—to yesterday and Alvar L. Bournique who painted this picture. Many is the time Mr. Bournique looked in on the sessions of the south side class, for his father, Augustus E. Bournique, was the instructor and the meetings were often held in the studio ballroom of their 23d street home. Mr. Bournique went on yesterday to talk of the changes that have taken place on this old, old art of dancing.

"In those old days everybody danced to the measure," he explained, "but now it's the beat. The only dance in which we observe the measure today is the waltz. Most of our dances come and go, but fortunately the waltz continues. It is the foundation for so many of the steps we have labeled with interesting names. Take the tango for example." And with this he broke into a tango that illustrated its dependence on the waltz.

The waltz was first danced, history tells us, in 1795 in Bavaria, but not as it is today, for there was no "reversing." The latter half of the 19th century the glide waltz, "leap, glide, three," and the Boston waltz were popular, forerunners of our present smooth "one, two, three."

"When both America and Europe went dance mad just before the war," continued Mr. Bournique, "parents could not understand why their children should learn the waltz. The turkey trot, born out in San Francisco, started the wave which carried in its train the more refined one step, fox trot, and tango. Still the waltz was essential as a foundation, but the only way to teach it was in disguise as an exercise."

The fox trot is an outgrowth of the schottish, popular one day just as the varsovienne, or that gay romp, the gallopade, which was the precursor of the two step. Then there were the picturesque quadrilles or square dances introduced in France about 1815 and danced by R. A. Kinzie, Buckner S. Morris, and John Wentworth at Chicago's own Lake house back in 1838.

"But the quadrilles gave way to the cotillions during the Victorian era," Mr. Bournique went on. "So much more interest and excitement were found in the cotillion, for every step was different. Then, too, the ladies were afforded an opportunity to invite the gentlemen to dance. Today there is nothing that children love more than a cotillion, for it is play rather than work."

What fun to recall these old steps, for all of us have danced sometime—a jig, a reel, a cotillion. Universal as religion, dancing ranges from the war whoops of the savage to the artistic performance of a Pavlova.

With the general awakening of the arts during the renaissance, Catherine de Medici was responsible for popularizing dancing by bringing the minuet to its highest degree of perfection. This was the fairest flower of the court dances with its graceful and stately movements, low salutations, and polite curtsies. It was also a favorite of our colonial days, harmonizing so beautifully with the powdered wigs and crinolines of the period.

Stars on Way to Hollywood

Miss Lilyan Tashman, who is said to be among the best dressed women in the movies, on "The Chief" of the Santa Fe railroad at the Dearborn street station. She is wearing a gray flannel tailor made dress of navy blue suede, stitched beret, with a Russian sable scarf. ### Leave for West

Lilyan Tashman, acclaimed as the best dressed actress in Hollywood, arrived in Chicago yesterday on the Broadway Limited of the Pennsylvania railroad and departed shortly afterward aboard the Santa Fe's Chief. As she boarded the latter train, she met Jean Harlow, of platinum blond fame, who is also returning to Hollywood.

City Historical Society Moving Into New Building

Moving of the records of the Chicago Historical society has begun, it was announced yesterday, in preparation for the opening of the society's new home in Lincoln park about May 1. The present quarters of the society at Dearborn and Ontario streets are to be leased. The 50,000 volumes, 75,000 pamphlets and the large collection of portraits, views and historical objects, which tell the story of Chicago's growth are being moved gradually, L. Hubbard Shattuck, the director, said. It is expected that the same hours will prevail in the new building.

Official Contract

By Charles True Adams

(International bridge authority; author of "Official Contract at Sight")

One reason that the game of bridge is so fascinating is that while we can reach the very height of skill, diagnosis and other intellectual enjoyments it never becomes, nor can it ever become, an exact science. Not only will the human element always play a large part in the game of bridge but the tricks of distribution never make any situation sure.

While a good player will win over the poorer player the majority of the time on any particular game, the underdog has always a chance. This element of the game accounts for its great popularity. But let us look at yesterday's play-a-problem and East's unfortunate lead:

NORTH.
♥—K,Q,8,7,3
♣—Q,J,2

WEST. EAST.
♠—10,7,6,3 ♠—K,5,2
♥—A,5 ♥—J,10,2
♦—Q,6,2 ♦—10,7,4
♣—A,10,7,3 ♣—K,8,5,4

SOUTH [Dealer].
♠—A,Q,J,9
♥—9,6,4

South dealt and bid a spade. West passed. North took out with two hearts. East passed. South now bid three diamonds. West passed. North bid three hearts. After East's pass, South now went to four hearts, having been assured by North's rebid that North held at least five of that suit. Therefore, South's three, or normal support, became adequate.

East opened the ♦ 10, seeking to lead through South's declared diamonds against supposedly weak diamonds in the North hand. Dummy played the J, West the Q, and North the K. Declarer then led the ♠ 8, which dummy took with the ♠ J, dummy leading back with the ♥ 4, which declarer took with the ♥ Q. Declarer then led the ♠ 4, which dummy took with the ♠ Q, returning the ♥ 6, which West captured with the ♥ A. West then returned the ♣ 3, which East took with the ♣ K. To the seventh trick East led the ♦ 7, declarer taking the trick with the ♦ 9. Declarer returned the ♥ K and followed with the ♦ 5, which dummy overtook with the ♦ 8. To the tenth and eleventh tricks dummy led out the ♦ A and ♠ A and then followed with the ♣ 9, which declarer trumped with the ♥ 7. Declarer took the last trick with the ♥ 8, North and South making five odd—their game and an extra trick.

East's opening was certainly not a bad one but most unfortunate. In many hands a similar opening is the very best defense. It would, however, not have cost anything if East had returned a club at trick 7 and allowed West to make his ace. Here is tomorrow's play-a-problem:

♦—K,8,7,5

WEST [Dealer]. EAST.
♠—A,K,3,2 ♠—9,8,7,6
♥—K ♥—A,10,9,7,5
♦—6,4 ♦—A,3,2

SOUTH.
♥—Q,J,8

Bid and play this hand and then compare the result with that printed tomorrow.

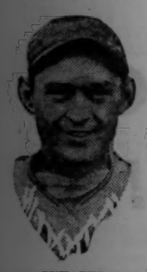
St. Louis, Mo., April 17.—You can ring up victory No. 1 of the season for Guy Bush, the swarthy Mississippian. He met his favorite enemies, the champion Cardinals, today, rolled them back on five safeties, and meanwhile his Cub co-workers did sufficient hitting to fasten themselves to the profitable end of a 4 to 1 score.



GUY BUSH.

Bush was good all the way, so good that the titleholders never had him in a desperate spot, but at least ⅞ part of his success was due to the support furnished him. The Cub infield, with its three youngsters and one old timer in action, fairly ripped the hearts out of the Cardinals whenever they thought they were on the verge of a rally. They all took a turn at digging from the dirt drives which appeared headed for open spaces.

Cubs Hitless for Five Innings.

And, to cap the climax, Ki Cuyler, with a man on and one out in the ninth, crashed into the right center wall after a mad dash to get his hands around a fearfully long drive by Jim Bottomley. Had that ball eluded capture, trouble might have overtaken Bush.

The Cubs did all their scoring against Tex Carleton, the Texas league rookie, whose major league debut would have been doubly impressive had he been more accurate in his throwing. For five innings he stood the Cubs upside down without a hit, but he tempted them during that time with four passes. Then he turned wild in a big way in the sixth, and Riggs Stephenson, with a tainted single, broke the string of scoreless innings.

It was the same Stephenson who, in the seventh, with three on, came through with another hit, which, with some subsequent comical throwing by the champions, clinched the decision with three runs.

Fast Fielding Aids Bush.

It was well for Carleton and equally as bad for the Cubs that Frankie Frisch was performing in his very best fashion in the second inning. Stephenson led off with a speedy grounder toward right. It bore all the earmarks of a hit, but Frisch dived headlong to his left, smothered the ball with his gloved hand, and arose in time to accomplish a successful throw to Bottomley. Then Hemsley boosted a low fly to short right center. This, too, appeared headed for safe territory, but Frisch dashed out, stuck up his hands, and grasped the ball as it came over his shoulder. This was followed by passes to Grimm and Jurges, but Bush bounced out.

Bush's first trace of trouble in the

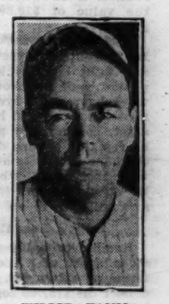
BY EDWARD BURNS.

Two White Sox alumni, George Connally, the old rubber armed sergeant, and Willie Kamm, the suave pride of the Pacific, yesterday collaborated beautifully to cool off the hot brows of the enfevered White Sox. The score of the cold shower was Cleveland, 6; Sox, 1.



WILLIE KAMM.

Connally's contribution to the spanking was the pitching of a six hit game, while Kamm drove in the second and third Cleveland runs, scored the fourth himself, and drove in the fifth and sixth runs. In the book Willie had a perfect day at bat with two walks, a double, and two singles.

Well, Yes and No.

Gaston pitched seven innings for the Sox, a selection which doubtless caused many of the 18,000 Sabbath customers to feel they had been let down a bit through the starting of a pitcher who last year won only two games. Since the Sox premises is swarming with good pitchers, the selection of Gaston, who was a .500 pitcher only one year of his eight in the majors, naturally caused the suspicion that White Sox optimism had risen to the point where the south side folks believe the new Sox can win with any kind of pitching.

There probably was no such confidence, and there certainly isn't after yesterday's demonstration. The starting of Gaston before a big Sunday crowd probably was justified because the veteran showed a lot of stuff in spring training, and though he lost 13 games while winning a pair last year, he is reported to have pitched some good games.

Regardless of how many tough games he lost last year, Milt wasn't very hot yesterday and the team showed little of the pepper which has characterized its work this season. The Indians made from one to three hits in the first six of the seven innings Gaston pitched, and of the total of 11 smacks, three were doubles with men on bases.

Hits? What Hits?

To those who are inclined to pick on Gaston, however, it should be pointed out that the Sox attack on Connally strictly was of their 1931 vintage, which is to say, almost negligible.

Hayes and Watwood singled in the first inning, Watwood singled with two out in the fifth, Anderson singled with two out in the seventh, Blue sin-

Foxx's Homer in Third Starts Assault.

Washington, D. C., April 17.—(AP)—Philadelphia's batting power drove three Washington pitchers from the box today while George Earnshaw struck out 12 batters to defeat the Senators, 11 to 3.

Starting with Foxx's homer in the third inning, scoring two ahead of him, the Athletics knocked out Washington pitchers as fast as Walter Johnson could march them in.

Big Fred Marberry started. He lasted three innings, with Philadelphia scoring six in the third. Lloyd Brown went in in the fourth, and was followed by the Rookies Ragland and Weaver.

Detroit, Mich., April 17.—(AP)—Vic Sorrell allowed the St. Louis Browns only three hits and a walk today, but the Browns put together the pass, a sacrifice and a single to score a run and defeat the Tigers, 1 to 0.

Sparta Whips Maccabees to Win Title, 6-0

BY OFFSIDE.

Sparta won its second consecutive Professional league soccer championship yesterday, defeating the Maccabee All Stars, 6 to 0, at 21st street and Kostner avenue.

Early in the second half the All Stars weakened before Sparta's ceaseless offensive and Matus scored the first goal on a free kick. From then on the game was a succession of goals with Turek adding three more and Vlick and Matus one each.

In the other Professional league game, the Jugo-Slavs were defeated, 2 to 0, by the Brickies, at Kuppenheimer stadium on two goals by Lillie. Robb assisted in the scoring of both goals. The victory gave the Brickies second place.

The Swedes advanced in the Peel cup play, winning a second round match from the McDuffs, 6 to 0. The victory placed the Swedes in the semi-finals. The Olympias also entered the semi-finals, defeating the Vikings of the International league, 6 to 3.

In the International league the Danes and Norwegians played a scoreless tie. The Ravenswood-Schwaben game was halted because of interference by spectators. The Ravenswoods were leading, 3 to 0, at the time.

DE MAR, 44 YEARS OLD, READY FOR BOSTON RACE

Boston, Mass., April 17.—(AP)—With his Olympic hopes blazing brighter than they did 20 years ago, when he first wore the American shield at Stockholm, Clarence De Mar, the peerless marathoner, today quit his Keene, N. H., home and headed for Hopkington, starting point of the Boston's A. A.'s 36th annual marathon race on April 19.

CLARENCE DE MAR.

De Mar, nearing his 44th birthday, has high hopes of automatically qualifying for the American Olympic marathon team, for the fourth time, by winning Tuesday's race. If he succeeds, it will be his eighth victory in 14 starts. His poorest performance in this race was in 1929, when he finished ninth. Last year he was fifth.

RUTH CONFINED TO ROOM WITH GRIPPE ATTACK

Boston, Mass., April 17.—(AP)—Babe Ruth, here with the Yankees, was confined to his hotel room today with a mild case of grippe. Physicians said he would be unable to go to Springfield tomorrow for the Yankees' exhibition game with the Springfield Eastern league club.

Ruth awoke today with a sore throat. Dr. Michael McGarty diagnosed the ailment as "a mild case of grippe." He said Ruth might be able to appear in the Patriots' day doubleheader with the Red Sox Tuesday.

GOLDEN PRINCE, DR. FREELAND TO RACE IN CHICAGO

One Picks Aurora, Other Sportsmen's Park.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Two noted handicap horses which have been racing in the far west throughout the winter will be heading for Illinois early this week to take part in the opening programs of the racing season here. Dr. Freeland is coming from Tanforan with the Inaugural Handicap at Aurora as his objective. Golden Prince will be shipped from the same track to start in the Inaugural Handicap at Sportsmen's Park. Dr. Freeland won the Preakness in 1929. Golden Prince captured the $100,000 Coffroth Handicap the same year.

There has been such a clamor for training quarters in Chicago that the Hawthorne track has been opened and some 300 horses, most of them owned by Chicagoans, are quartered there. Track Superintendent Ben Miller has the racing strip in excellent condition for training purposes. Alderman John Coughlin and Emil Denemark are represented by the most horses. Coughlin's Karl Eitel, a noted stake winner a couple of seasons ago, has turned in sensational trials and will be ready for his best racing effort within a few days.

Top Flight's mile in 1:43 4-5 at Belmont Park caused many Chicagoans who have backed her at short odds in the Kentucky Derby futures to sleep more soundly last night. This training move indicated that the unbeaten Whitney filly is near her best form and, barring training mishaps, will fill her early season engagements in the 3 year old specials.

James Simpson Jr., nominated by the Republicans of the 10th Illinois district as a candidate for congress last week, will be represented by eleven horses at Belmont Park, Arlington Park and Saratoga this season. There are six 2 year olds in the string, which will be raced over the flat and five steeplechasers. Fred Preece is training the horses at the Benning track near Washington. The most promising 2 year old in the band is a bay son of High Time-Sous Marine. He is a big fellow, has good legs, is well ribbed and has the general conformation of a stayer. He has shown excellent trials this spring. His big stable will reach Chicago for the opening at Washington Park.

Most everybody agrees that the battle for this year's handicap championship will be fought out by Equipoise, Twenty Grand, Mate, and Jamestown. They have often raced against one another. Here's the standing up to date:

Equipoise defeated Mate twice and conquered Twenty Grand once. He has been beaten three times by Twenty Grand and twice by Mate and Jamestown.

IT'S FRASIER VS. FERRELL TODAY

The Indians and White Sox will play again today and the Cleveland experts continue to guess Wes Ferrell as their pitcher. The Sox probably will assign Vic Frasier, who doesn't care whom he pitches against, although it isn't his turn to go today.

Ted Lyons faced seven batsmen in his 1932 American League bow—the start of his tenth year in the league. One man reached first. Ted gave Kamm a perfect day at bat when he walked him with one out in the ninth.

Bob Poser, former University of Wisconsin basketball and baseball star, made his first appearance as an American League player when he batted for Gaston in the seventh. Bob took three strikes without getting his bat off his shoulder, for the Sarge's first strikeout.

A good thermometer toted to the ball park by a Tribune author was hung up in the upper stand just outside the press box. It showed 37 degrees, which is not a baseball temperature.

The Sox are expecting some of the Cubs out to see them tomorrow. It is an off day for the National Leaguers. The Indians and Sox will participate in their final of the series.

Willie Sullivan, who can not play third base, as witness the fact he led all third basemen in errors last season though he played a fraction of the schedule, can hit. The pinch single with which he made his 1932 entrance was one of those liners in which he specialized last year.

Sarge Connally was a fair hitter while with the Sox. But the best he could do yesterday was tap one to the the third baseman, then strike out three straight times. He still lifts his left foot high when bearing down.

ROOT SLATED FOR 2D START

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., April 17.—Charley Root, who hasn't pitched since opening day, will have the pleasure of facing the champions in the second and final of the abbreviated series tomorrow. The Cardinals' pitching assignment will be intrusted to Flint Rhem.

Tex Carleton, who started against the Cubs today, began at the bottom rung of the ladder. His first baseball lessons were assimilated while he performed as bat boy for the Fort Worth Texas league team.

Tom Kearney, a local bookmaker of long standing, has shifted the odds he was offering on the chances of the Cincinnati Reds to cop the pennant. He originally had them at 50 to 1, but when they acquired Chick Hafey, the quotation dropped to 15 to 1.

The anti-Hornsby scandal mongers already are at work. Because Grimes couldn't pitch at Cincinnati, the whisperers are circulating a report that dissension between the manager and veteran spitballer and not an attack of flu, was the cause. The several doctors serving in the case can testify to the presence of the flu bugs.

The attendance today was in the neighborhood of 13,000. Morning rain, which indicated a game would be impossible, probably was repsonsible for keeping folks away. In the four games prior to today's the Cards drew a grand total of 15,000.

The Cubs had young Carleton on the ropes in the eighth, but he squirmed away undamaged. Grimm walked, making his fourth acceptance of such a gift, and Jurges doubled him to third. Bush and Hack then fanned and Herman bounced out by way of short.

BUSINESS FINE FOR LEVINSKY; PROVING WHAT?

Apparently the Race Isn't Always to Swiftest.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The statement, which hasn't been denied, that King Levinsky has done a gross business of $100,000 since that September night in 1930 when he knocked out Leo Lomski and found his first $11,000 may make a lot of people wish they had taken up prize fighting for a profession.

KING LEVINSKY.

In these times there are many who can reflect on months of diligent attention to business in which thousands of dollars and years of experience have been invested which show no such profit as King Levinsky has piled up with no equipment other than a childlike smile and a swinging right hand.

Better than Peddling Fish.

Such pugilists as the west side king, who is reported to have completed his formal education somewhere around the fourth grammar school grade, add to the misconception that all professional boxers become wealthy. There is a further thought and unassailable, of course, that Levinsky, who is expected to receive $20,000 for his ten rounds or less with Mickey Walker a week from Friday night, has made more money in two years in the ring than he ever could have been worth to the fish peddling business, his first love.

The memory of Dempsey's and Tunney's big purses lingers on. And the average man, who sits in the far reaches of the Stadium and sees the King snort and heave for 30 minutes for a check of $20,000 will be among those who chorus, "I'd take a licking myself for all that jack."

Takes Bitter with Sweet.

King Levinsky has taken a few lickings, too, and for many of them he got only a fraction of his purse next week. And as he gradually advances to the class of the old-young men who at 28 or 30 discover they no longer can prance through ten rounds, a more accurate estimate of the value of $20,000 purses can be gained.

Right now Levinsky is an attraction. He presents a perpetual puzzle, for in any fight he may knock out his opponent, and knockouts are to boxing what home runs are to baseball. His race—need we add he's Jewish—is an asset, coming and going. Successful he remains a hero of his race, but in the background is a host of fans who wait that night when Levinsky will be stretched out for the ten count and will pay to see it.

Only a Few Really Profit.

Boxing probably is the most lopsided sport of all, considered from a financial viewpoint. Babe Ruth may collect his $75,000 for six months daily labor, but there are scores of other ball players who will draw checks well in five figures. In the boxing business, after you check off the Levinskys, Walkers, Sharkeys, Schmelings of the heavyweights and a few of the lighter division leaders, such as Canzoneri, there remain a vast army of mediocre professionals exploited in many instances by unscrupulous managers and who always will live in a $2 a week rooms and eat hot dogs instead of porterhouse.

Even these lads, after a period of futility, will pack away their purple trunks and scuffed shoes, but it won't be as easy to forget oversize ears or to eliminate tendency to walk on their heels. One of Chicago's young professionals, who has been giving and taking for a couple of years, the other night worked six hard rounds for $19.25. After he'd paid his handler and $6 additional for renewal of his Illinois state license, he tucked away $9.25 into the fund on which he expects to retire.

Old Lure Remains.

But the lure of the ring remains. A host of doddering old gents now threaten to come out of retirement. Jess Willard would fight Jack Johnson for a price. Sammy Mandell of more recent vintage begins a second comeback. And Benny Leonard moves along the same trail at an unsteady pace.

Earl Mastro, who only a few months ago fought for the featherweight championship of the world and lost, quit in the ninth round of his recent comeback bout in Sacramento. Mastro, clever boxer and one of the sport's model young men, has less than $2,000 left of his earnigs, it is said. Much of his cash has been expended on treatment for an eye infection, the product of an opponent's stray thumb.

Final Ballyhoo Begins.

In the meantime, Walker and Levinsky begin the final ballyhoo for their fight at the Stadium with the announcement, lacking official confirmation, that the winner expects to be named the alternate to Sharkey in the heavyweight title bout this summer with Max Schmeling. Walker will arrive in Chicago the last of the week to train at Trafton's gymnasium.

Over at the Arcade Levinsky holds forth. There also are Dave Shade and Jack Kilbourne, who headline the White City fight Thursday night. Shade is assured $1,000, while Kilbourne's purse depends on the number of fans in attendance.

NEW BEDFORD IS SOCCER VICTOR OVER HAKOAH, 1-0

New York, April 17.—[Special.]—Playing in a strong wind, the New Bedford soccer eleven defeated the Hakoah All Stars, 1 to 0. During the first period the play was even with neither side able to score. Thirty minutes of the second period had elapsed when Nilsen scored for New Bedford. Gruenfeld almost tied the score for the All Stars, but his shot just skimmed over the top of the cage. Hakoah obtained four corners and New Bedford three, but all were cleared.

SMITTY—HE SAID A MOUTHFUL

NUVOLARI SETS MARK IN MONACO SPEED CLASSIC

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

MONTE CARLO, April 17.—[Special.]—A new record for the Grand Prix Automobile Classic was set today when the Italian driver, Nuvolari, raced the 318 kilometer course, through the narrow streets of Monte Carlo and Monaco in 3 hours, 32 minutes and 25¼ seconds.

Sir Malcolm Campbell, the British speed king, started the racers on their way. Among the huge crowd attending the event were Lord Inchcape, Jan Paderewski, and the royal family of Monaco.

Chicago Women Bowlers Smash Doubles Record

St. Louis, Mo., April 17.—(AP)—Mrs. Margaret Frank and Mrs. Edith Kirk of Chicago took the lead in the doubles of the women's international bowling congress tournament today by making a score of 1,218 to smash the previous record of 1,186 held by Bee Ramsay and Helen Foell, also of Chicago. Today's bowling brought no other changes among the leaders.

Mannie Goodman nine routed the Phil Billiards yesterday in a Chicago Softball league game, 6 to 0, at Logan Square park. The victors were aided by Golden's four hits. Other scores:

Doc Coffeys, 4; Nappertandys, 0.
Yaricks, 6; Rosenberg-Arveys, 4.
Judge Ellers, 1; O'Briens, 0.

Make Liberty Limited 8 to 1 to Win Derby

Louisville, Ky., April 17.—(AP)—Chances of the far west providing the winner of the 1932 Kentucky Derby have been increasing daily as Liberty Limited improves in training at Churchill Downs. The Limited is considered the most advanced of any of the Derby eligibles in workouts here.

Nominated by the Three D's stock farm of Texas, owned by W. T. Waggoner and Sons, Liberty Limited was quoted at 100 to 1 in the winter books when they opened in February. At last reports, he had been backed down to 8 to 1, rating him fourth among the 115 eligibles.

Top Flight Still Favorite.

Top Flight, C. V. Whitney's crack filly, has retained her winter book favoritism throughout, with tick on and burning blaze second and third choices. The precipitate drop in the odds on Liberty Limited have placed him in the select category of the horses to beat.

Liberty Limited started six times as a 2 year old, won only once, was second twice, third twice and among the also rans once. His total earnings as a juvenile were $6,400, not an impressive figure when compared to top flight's $219,000.

Liberty Won On Derby Day.

But the one race the Limited won was accompanied by the thunderous cheers which greet a winner on Derby day. He won a purse race for juveniles on Derby day last year, and has had a taste of the excitement attendant on the Blue Ribbon event of American racing.

Liberty Limited worked a mile at the Downs today in 1:45 3-5 over a damp track, held hard all the way. At times his exercise boy stood up in the stirrups trying to restrain him.

His best workout so far is a mile in 1:44 over a dead track, breezing. Today's move under heavy wraps was considered excellent, as he showed himself full of run. The fractional times were :25, :50 3-5, 1:17 2-5, and 1:45 3-5.

Delivered Works Out.

W. F. Knebelkamp's Delivered, which has been suffering with an injured heel, was given a slow gallop today. His trainer plans to give him a regular workout tomorrow, and upon his performance depends the decision regarding his start in the Derby. Burning Blaze, leading contender owned by the Shanson farm, also was given a slow gallop.

The fastest move today was negotiated by the Longridge stable's Oscillation, a mile in 1:44. A. B. Leteller's Sazerac ran the mile in 1:44 3-5, and J. B. Respess' Our Fancy went the same distance in 1:46, with no effort. R. M. Eastman's Cathop ran the three-quarters in 1:15.

COLEMAN CLARK WINS NATIONAL PING PONG TITLE

New York, April 17.—[Special.]—Coleman Clark of Chicago, won the National Amateur championship conducted here by the American Ping-Pong association.

In the final round, last night the Chicagoan brought the remarkable winning streak of Abraham Krakauer of New York university, to an end by scores of 21-10, 21-13, 21-15. Clark succeeds Marcus Schussheim of New York, as champion and holder of the Parker cup.

In the doubles, the championship went to George T. Bacon and James Jacobson of New Rochelle, who defeated W. C. Wells Jr. of Mount Vernon and C. G. Schaad of New Rochelle, 21-14, 21-15, 21-12.

CANUTE TAKES $1,600 PURSE AT LONGCHAMPS

PARIS, April 17.—(AP)—W. E. Celestin's Canute captured the Prix la Jonchere, 1,400 meter feature of the Longchamps racing program today. Marquis de Llano's Ziani was second and Pierre Wertheimer's Le Commissaire third.

The winner paid 74 francs for five and earned the major share of a purse of 40,000 franc [about $1,600].

Ralph Beaver Strasburger's Bishop's Rock, accounted for the Prix Marroniers, worth 20,000 francs [about $800] and run at 1,800 meters. Jean Prat's La Gopede was second and Lady Granard's Blackamoor third. The winner paid 54½ francs for five.

WIND DESERTS YACHTS RACING TO CUBAN PORT

St. Petersburg, Fla., April 17.—(AP)—Nine racing yachts en route to Havana in the third annual international race from St. Petersburg to the Cuban capital were experiencing difficulty tonight in making progress toward their destination. Light winds that had blown them almost a hundred miles down the Florida coast died out this afternoon and left the fleet becalmed.

Radio dispatches from the coast guard cutter Tuscarora said the schooner Haligonian of Tampa was maintaining its early lead. The last position reported for the Haligonian was 35 miles west of Captiva pass.

Jamestown conquered Equipoise twice and Mate once, and was never beaten by either of them. He hooked up once with Twenty Grand and was outrun.

Mate has beaten Twenty Grand three times and Equipoise twice. Twenty Grand and Equipoise each gave him two trimmings. He lost once to Jamestown.

ELEANOR HOLM HEADS STARS IN SWIM TONIGHT

New York Team to Visit I. W. A. C. Pool.

Joan McSheehy, Susan Robertson and Lisa Lindstrom complete the New York list. Miss McSheehy, who is a former national back stroke champion, and Elizabeth Henry of the I. W. A. C., one of Chicago's outstanding swimmers, will be Miss Holm's chief rivals.

Three Teams in Relay.

The feature race will be the 120 yard medley relay, in which each contestant will swim 40 yards each of the breast, back and free style strokes. The Indianapolis Athletic club, Women's Swimming association of New York and the Illinois Women's Athletic club teams will participate.

The Milwaukee Athletic club will send Ruth Dierolf, former central district breast stroke champion, who will compete against Emma Shemaitis, I. W. A. C., and Jane Showalter of the Indianapolis Athletic club.

Helen Meany Withdraws.

Helen Meany, diving star, who was recently reinstated by the Central A. A. U., withdrew yesterday, due to lack of practice. Miss Meany, a member of the American Olympic team in 1924 and 1928, will join the New York team soon, and will go to Los Angeles for the national championships April 28 to 31.

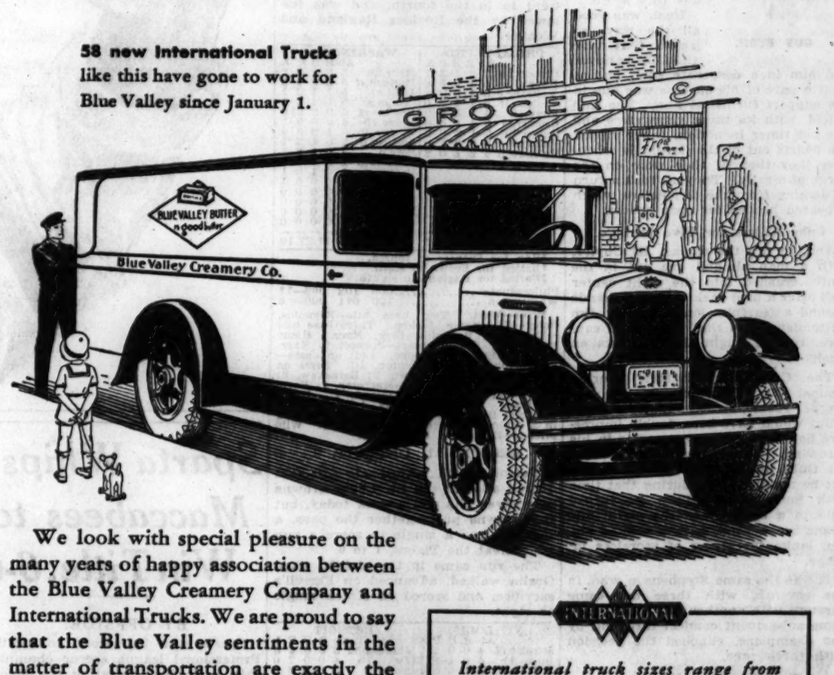
International Harvester says:
Hats off to the BLUE VALLEY CREAMERY CO.
—Builders of Prosperity!

58 new International Trucks like this have gone to work for Blue Valley since January 1.



We look with special pleasure on the many years of happy association between the Blue Valley Creamery Company and International Trucks. We are proud to say that the Blue Valley sentiments in the matter of transportation are exactly the same as ours, and it is always the truck user's feeling that counts.

Hundreds of International Trucks have worked for the fine Blue Valley organization during past years, and the fleet numbers in hundreds today. At all their 24 branches throughout the country, the vital matter of hauling economy is left safe in the hands of International Trucks and Service. Some of the trucks are twelve years old and going strong today. From executives to salesmen-drivers, Blue Valley will tell you — for all-around truck satisfaction, go International!

Right now Blue Valley is showing Chicago an inspiring example of the spirit that whips defeatism and depression. Through the newspapers, over the radio, and in the grocery stores you will hear of the new line of mayonnaise products they are putting out along with the celebrated Blue Valley butter. Many more men have been put at work, and Blue Valley is prospering accordingly.

In this program of expansion 58 new Internationals—a magnificent addition to the fleet—are playing their expected, loyal, economical part. Blue Valley success is in large measure a transportation success, and that depends on International Trucks and the peerless service behind them. They will surely do as well by you. Come in and look over the line or call us for a demonstration.

GIANTS SHUT OUT BRAVES, 6-0, FOR FIRST VICTORY

Schumacher Allows Only 2 Hits; Vergez Gets Homer

New York, April 17.—(AP)—Harold Schumacher, recruit right hander of the New York Giants, making his second big league start, shut out the Boston Braves with two hits today, and the Giants won their first victory of the season, 6 to 0.

Johnny Vergez, who contributed several errors to the Giants' previous defeats, redeemed himself by smacking a home run with the bases full in the sixth inning to decide the game.

Brooklyn, N. Y., April 17. — (AP) — A great pitching duel between rookie right handers here today ended in the 11th inning when Van Lingle Mungo, 20 year old pitcher of the Dodgers, weakened. Klein's single, Hurst's double, and Lee's triple with two out enabled the Phillies to score a 2 to 0 victory.

Fine support in earlier innings enabled Mungo to move along on even terms with Ed Holley, 30 year old recruit of Burt Shotton's staff. Holley fanned nine in 11 innings and allowed only five hits. The Quakers obtained ten hits off Mungo.

Fishers Forget Chilly Weather; Unlimber Rods

BY BOB BECKER.

Illinois fishermen haven't waited for balmy spring breezes to blow in order to unlimber their fly rods, because a number of them have been getting strings of fish in the northern lake region even though a chilly north wind sweeping down the lake country spread an atmosphere that suggested March rather than April.

Inasmuch as the Illinois fishing regulations permit the taking of rock bass, crappies, sunfish, bluegills and white bass at this time, the fly rod enthusiasts have been finding a lot of fun catching some of these species on small flies. Last week a number of casters who know how to handle a long rod fished a dry fly for crappies and bluegills and had no trouble in making a better record than the bait fishermen during the hour or hour and a half before sundown.

It really takes a light weight fly rod to get the most sport out of such species as the crappie, bluegill, sunfish and rock bass. These fish are sometimes called the "minor basses" because of their size. To catch them with a long heavy cane pole or a stiff bait casting rod doesn't give them a chance. But to hook them on a slim, lightweight fly casting rod is a lot of fun because the fish have a chance to put up a little scrap. Moreover, it is sport to see them rise and take a bit of feathers on the surface.

It is surprising how comparatively few fishermen who regularly go after crappies, bluegills, rock bass, and sunfish know what can be done with a fly rod in catching these species. We have been on lakes where the rock bass were so eager to swat a floating bass bug that they actually interfered with our getting large mouth black bass.

In Illinois the bag limit on rock bass, sunfish, and bluegills is 25 per day and the legal length is six inches. On crappies and white [or silver] bass the legal length is 8 inches, with the same bag limit prevailing. The large and small mouth black bass can't be taken until June 15 in this state.

MASON, DIXON NET MEET DRAWS 5 OF TOP STARS

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., April 17.—(AP)—Five of America's ten top ranking players will compete in the 12th annual Mason and Dixon tennis tournament, opening on the Greenbrier courts here tomorrow.

The entire Davis cup squad, including the national champion, Ellsworth Vines, and Frank Shields, Wilmer Allison, and John Van Ryn, have entered the men's singles as have Gregory S. Mangin of Newark, Berkeley Bell of New York, J. Gilbert Hall of South Orange, N. J., and Dr. Eugene McAuliff of New York.

Vines, beaten by Allison in the finals of the north and south tournament at Pinehurst, N. C., last week, ranks No. 1 nationally; Shields, No. 3; Allison, No. 9; Bell, No. 10; and Mangin No. 11.

MAGNUSSEN, STAR CENTER, TO JOIN IOWA ELEVEN

Iowa City, Ia., April 17.—[Special.]—Marcus Magnussen who, in 1929 was rated one of the best centers in the western conference, will be available for the University of Iowa football team next fall.

The Clinton, Ia., star was elected co-captain of the 1930 Hawkeye team, but was ruled ineligible for the season. Last September he sustained a broken leg in scrimmage and did not play. Magnussen is enrolled in the college of medicine and Ossie Solem, the new Iowa coach, expects him to be the mainstay of the Hawkeye line.

MANAGERS TO MEET.

MOON MULLINS—AND HE'S BEEN THAT WAY EVER SINCE

Fast Fielding, Bush's Pitching Beat Cardinals

airtight argument turned up in the second, when Collins singled with one out. He was out trying to steal after Martin had lofted to Barton. Another Cardinal threat appeared in the fourth. Adams set the inning in motion with a single just inside third base. Some brilliant fielding wiped out this menace. Watkins poked a high powered bounder to Herman, who scooped it up and tossed to Jurges to force Adams. Jurges then lined the ball to Grimm for a double play. A popup off Frisch's bat ended the inning.

Both factions enjoyed a limited amount of exercising on the base lines in the fifth. The Cubs' share was limited to a pass to Grimm, who stood on first while watching three of his mates expire. What the champions did almost became serious. Bottomley started off with a pass, but Grimm made a great stop of Collins' bounder and pegged to second to force Sunuy Jim. In trying for a twin killing, Jurges threw wild to first, putting Collins on second. Herman then helped again with theft of a possible hit by Martin and Jurges tossed out Wilson.

Walk Starts Cubs' Scoring.

Plans for the run with which the Cubs broke the string of scoreless innings in the sixth were laid when Carleton walked Herman, the first man up. Frisch sprinted back into short center for Cuyler's pop up. Barton exercised patience and was rewarded with a pass. Then Stephenson drilled a hard grounder straight to Adams, but it skidded under the little fellow's hands for a single, and Herman ran home. Barton moved from second to third on Hemsley's fly to deep center. The bags became clogged on a pass to Grimm, his third of the game, but Jurges could no nothing better than roll a soft grounder back to Carleton.

It didn't take Carleton long to get himself into the mess which netted the Cubs three runs in the seventh. Bush walked up and banged a clean single into center. Hack did nobly by bunting past Carleton for a hit. Herman's sacrifice moved the two runners along and when Cuyler struck out for the second time, it looked as if the rally wasn't going to blossom.

Stephenson Swoops One.

It was only starting, however. Barton walked to fill the bases. Stephenson punched his second hit past Bottomley to score Bush and Hack. Watkins threw the ball to third to stop Barton, but the throw went wild and Barton went home. Adams recovered the loose ball and threw wild to the plate, letting Stephenson reach third. Hemsley then boosted to Gilbert.

Watkins scratched a single past Hack to open the home seventh and this grew into the Cardinals' only run. Frisch was tossed out by Bush. Bottomley sent a high fly to left, but Moore, who had replaced Stephenson, couldn't get over to make the catch. It dropped for a double, and Watkins scored. It was Bottomley's first hit of the season and even though it was slightly fluky, the crowd gave him a hand. The next two men did nothing.

How I Got My Start in Baseball

BY BILL CISSELL.
[As told to Edward Burns.]

BILL CISSELL.

I made up my mind that I was going to be a major league ball player during the world series of 1925 while I was on a cavalry hike from Des Moines to Omaha. At the time I was corporal of my squad in the 14th U. S. cavalry and had the privilege of pulling up to get bulletins at every settlement along the route that we touched afternoons.

It rained all along the trip and if you've ever ridden a horse cross-country in the rain 30 miles a day for five days you'll agree with me that it's no such life as that of a major league ball player. As much as I loved horses I decided on that hike that the cavalry was not to offer me my career.

I can't say that my first ball playing, before I got in the cavalry, was a roaring financial success. When I was 14 years old I was engaged to play third base for Perrysville, Mo., in the Iron Mountain league, an informal group which wasn't outlaw and still wasn't in organized ball. I lived in St. Louis at the time and traveled 100 miles week-ends to Perrysville to play Sundays, but after a while I discovered that it was costing me more to travel.

There was nothing strange about my being a baseball player, but it would have been strange if I had not broken into the game. Down where I come from in the Ozarks they used to say there never was a Cissell who could not and did not play baseball.

Close to thiry years ago Perryville had a baseball team composed of nine Cissells. About six years later, however, Perryville had its best team. Max Cissell, my dad, played first. Uncle Denton played second and I believe he was the biggest second baseman there ever was. He was bigger than Smead Jolley. They still tell great stories down home of how he used to hit. They swear he was the strongest man who ever played baseball. He would positively knock the cover right off the ball. Uncle Sam was in the outfield and Uncle Fred pitched.

Uncle Fred's left arm was cut off at the shoulder, but what a game he could pitch and how he could bat! But that team had another pitcher, Jeff Tesreau, who afterward helped John McGraw win a bunch of pennants. When Jeff got really good Uncle Fred went to short, as the team simply had to have him because of his hitting.

My superiors allowed me to duck camp on Sundays and I made $25 a game playing with the Junction City semi-pros. The $100 a month I got sweetened up my $42.50 corporal's pay, considerably.

In 1925 I got steamed up on patriotism again and reënlisted, this time with the 14th cavalry. Then that hike in the rain with the world series going on between Washington and Pittsburgh.

By that time Lee Kaiser of the Des Moines club had seen me play ball and didn't have to argue much in persuading me to buy my discharge from the service. I put in for my discharge and with the payment of $85 got out of the cavalry and signed with Des Moines.

My advise to youngsters is: "Don't get sold to a major league club for $123,000." The ballyhoo I got after Portland sold me for that sum was the greatest burden any ball player ever carried into the majors. I couldn't help figuring all the time how many good cavalry horses you could buy with $123,000.

WILDCATS MEET BRADLEY TECH AT EVANSTON TODAY

Bradley Tech, recent victors over Wisconsin in a double header, will meet Northwestern at Roycemore field in Evanston today to round out a busy week-end schedule for the Wildcats, who lost to Iowa, 13 to 10, on Friday and were rained out Saturday in the fourth inning after taking a 2 to 1 lead.

Coach Paul Stewart of Northwestern will probably start Lefty Harris, his sophomore pitching star. If Harris is not ready so soon after hurling at Iowa City, he will be replaced by Solly Farber.

Today's game is the first of two on the Wildcats' schedule this week. They play Western State Teachers' college of Kalamazoo, Mich., at Roycemore field, Friday.

Tilden Opens Season with Victory Over Nusslein

Briarcliff Manor, N. Y., April 17.—[Special.]—William Tilden, world's professional champion, defeated Hans Nusslein of Germany, professional champion of Europe, today to open the outdoor tennis season in the metropolitan area.

Playing on a heavy court and with a biting wind blowing down upon them, Tilden defeated the young German 6-3, 5-7, 6-3.

White Sox Turn in Best Record of First Week in Big Leagues

New York, April 17.—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox ran away with the honors of the first week of the major league baseball season.

The Sox finished the week with a better average than any team in either big circuit, winning four out of five games, and showed all around strength by pounding out 50 hits, the high total, scoring 25 runs for third place on the list, and holding their opponents to 12 runs with a series of fine pitching performances.

Yankees Score Most Runs.

Detroit and Washington were next to Chicago in the American league, each with three victories and one defeat, while three clubs, Philadelphia, Brooklyn, and Boston, shared the top of the National league, each winning two games and losing one.

The New York Yankees led the scorers with 34 runs. The St. Louis Cardinals were next with 30. Pittsburgh, making 49 hits to lead the National league, and scoring 24 times, failed to keep its opponents down and lost three out of five games. The Pirates' opponents scored 35 runs.

The Chicago Cubs were the only team in the major leagues who got through the first week without making an error while the New York Giants went to the other extreme, making 15 misplays, eight in one game. The Washington Senators made only one error and presented the best all-around defense record. Their opponents scored only ten runs in four games. Brooklyn also was scored on only ten times.

19 Homers in American.

Led by Babe Ruth and Sam Byrd of the Yankees, who clouted three apiece, the home run hitters started off fast. The Yanks made eight of the 19 American league homers and the Philadelphia Athletics seven. Two each by St. Louis and New York topped the National league.

Last week's major league records of games won and lost, runs, hits, errors, opponents' runs and home runs follow:

SOUTH AMERICAN AUTO CHAMPION AT RACE SCENE

Indianapolis, Ind., April 17.—(AP)—Juan Gaudino, automobile racing champion of South America, arrived here today to prepare for the annual 500 mile race at the Indianapolis speedway May 30.

Speaking through an interpreter, Gaudino said he did not expect to finish better than fifth and would be highly pleased if he was among the first ten to complete the long run. A spin around the rough 2½ mile brick course convinced him he would need a lot of practice laps.

Gaudino, a racing hero in his own country, has an eight cylinder car. It was made in the United States and is the same mount the South American used in his last contests.

An American mechanic will ride with Gaudino provided he qualifies to start in the race. The qualifying minimum speed has been increased to 100 miles an hour. The forty fastest cars entered will be eligible to start.

Hall and Peters Win Elks' Doubles Pin Title

Toledo, O., April 17.—(AP)—The doubles team of E. Hall and B. Peters, Springfield, Ill., totaled 1,280 for the only upset as the Elks' national bowling tournament came to an end today. The total brought the Illinois pair first place. Honors in the team event went to the Hank Smith No. 1, Detroit, squad, which toppled 3,068 pins last night. The singles crown went to G. Kielwasser, Ann Arbor, Mich., with a 728 score. Bill Mattison, Toledo, won the all-events with a 1,978 total.

New Leaders Appear in Indiana Pin Tourney

Anderson, Ind., April 17. — (AP) — New leaders appeared today in the doubles and singles divisions of the Indiana Bowling association tournament. D. McKnew and R. Haislup, Indianapolis, rolled into the doubles lead with 1,242, while C. Mahoney, also of Indianapolis, led the singles with 676.

AMATEURS' ALBUM
Charles Bartlett

[This is the fifth of a series of sketches on the low handicap players of the Chicago District Golf association.]

CHARLES EVANS JR.

CHICK EVANS.

Francis Ouimet proved in the national amateur tournament last year that they can come back, so why can't Chick Evans do the same this year? That's a question going around the Chicago district since the veteran from Edgewater won the first midwest amateur championship at French Lick a week ago with some of the most amazing spring golf of the season.

Chick won the meet with a score of 216, having rounds of 73—68—75, the second day's score being four strokes under par for the Hoosier course. What he is particularly proud of, however, is the fact that he missed only one short putt in the entire 54 holes, a good indication that he's ready to come back for a share of the spotlight that he dominated more than a decade ago.

Chick is a one handicap player on the honor roll of the Chicago District Golf association. At 42 he can look back on one of the greatest competitive records in golf, and certainly the greatest from this district. He won the Chicago city title in 1907, 1908, 1911, and 1914; the western amateur in 1909, 1912, 1914, 1915, 1920, 1921, 1922, and 1923; the western open in 1910 and 1911; the national open and national amateur in 1916, the only player aside from Bobby Jones to win both in the same year; the French amateur and north and south titles in 1911, and the national amateur again in 1920. He was runnerup in the amateur in 1912, 1922 and 1927, second in the open in 1914, and a member of the Walker cup team in 1922, 1924 and 1928.

MONTREAL BIKE GRIND BEGINS BEFORE 4,000

MONTREAL, Que., April 18.—[Monday.]—(AP)—Twelve teams started in Montreal's sixth semi-annual six day bicycle race at 12:01 this morning.

Three teams began the grind as joint favorites. They included the combinations of Torchy Peden of Vancouver and Jules Audy of Montreal; Alf Letourner of France and Henri Le Page of Montreal, and Reggie McNamara and Harry Horan of Newark.

A crowd of 4,000 saw the start of the race which will end at 11 p. m. Saturday night. The entries follow:

AFTER 44 YEARS GEN. SMITH GETS HIS "A" AT ARMY

West Point, N. Y., April 17.—[Special.]—After forty-four years of support and close observance of army athletics, Maj. Gen. William R. Smith, retiring superintendent of the U. S. Military academy, was presented with his major A this afternoon by the Army footfall squad.

The presentation was made by Cadet John A. Price, last year's football captain, at a dinner at the quarters of Maj. and Mrs. Ralph I. Sassie. Cadet Price gave the general the gold football which is awarded letter men in that sport.

In 1888, when Gen. Smith entered West Point, there were no cadet athletic teams. Prior to his graduation a football and baseball team was organized.

St. George Preps Win Swim Title

St. George High school won the swimming championship of the Catholic league in the All Catholic meet yesterday in the St. George pool, nosing out St. Mel, 33 to 22. St. George was trailing 19 to 18 until the diving event in which it took first, second, and fourth places, and then won the medley. Loyola was third with 19 points and Fenwick fourth with 14 points. St. Leo had 3 points and Mount Carmel one.

Howlett of St. Mel was the individual start, winning first the 40 and 100 yard free style events. He set a new Catholic league record of 19.7 seconds in the starter event. The previous record was 22 1-5 seconds, set two years ago by Tom McGurk of St. George. Steffens of St. George won the diving, was second in the breast strike and swam on the medley relay team, which equaled the league record.

FEDERAL TAXES LARGER FACTOR IN TRADE PLANS

While Commodity Prices Show Some Gains.

New York, April 17.—(AP)—Many industries were said last week to be standing back until they can get a concrete idea on what effect new federal tax schedules may have on prices before they will elect to do more than merely carry on from a hand to mouth basis.

But regardless of the inevitable uncertainty which that question creates, there were some developments which brought a fair degree of enthusiasm. Among them was the lifting of tension which for several weeks had gripped the utility industry. Announcement of a receivership for Middle West Utilities proved somewhat reassuring, because it indicated that the Insull difficulties would not seriously hamper the operating divisions of his enterprises.

Commodity Prices Better.

Although decision was reserved as to whether it might forecast a fundamental turn in trend, the week's evidence that commodity prices were stiffened, proved encouraging last week, the general trend was higher. Prices of wheat, corn, flour, coffee, and petroleum registered gains which more than offset losses reported in the copper, rubber, sugar, and textile divisions.

Production of electric power showed another sharp reduction, the week ended April 9 showing sales of electricity 11.1 per cent lower than in the corresponding week of 1931.

Carloadings Decline.

The carloadings barometer likewise showed a further decline, amounting to 16,157 cars for the week. Nevertheless, there were moderate increases in movement of merchandise and miscellaneous freight. There was a shrinkage of 22,341 in coal shipments.

In one of the major industry considerable hope was out for an early change in the present low rate of general business activity. This was in the steel industry which, while frankly disappointed over the failure of automobile orders to pick up, is still expectant. Production of automobiles last week, leading trade estimates showed, was only a shade greater than the week before.

SEES RECEIVER FOR COTTON BELT IF FUNDING FAILS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 17.—Details of the plan for meeting on June 1 bank loans and a $20,727,750 bond maturity of the St. Louis Southwestern Railway [Cotton Belt line] are announced in a letter to holders of the bonds by Daniel Upthegrove, president. Mr. Upthegrove said that one bank holding the notes has agreed to the plan and that the prompt acceptance of the other bank was confidently expected.

"The Reconstruction Finance corporation," Mr. Upthegrove said " with the approval of the interstate commerce commission and upon conditions by this company, including those specified in the decision of the interstate commerce commission, has agreed to loan the company $15,813,415, sufficient to pay the interest in full and one-half the principal of the maturing obligations in cash, provided that the company refund the remainder of the bank loans by promissory 5 per cent notes payable June 1, 1935, and the remainder of the principal amount of first consolidated mortgage 4 per cent gold bonds by exchange therefore, of a like principal amount of the company's general and refunding mortgage 5 per cent gold bonds, series A, due July 1, 1990, bearing interest coupons payable semi-annually beginning July 1, 1932.

"If the proposed plan is not accepted, a receivership, with possible loss of principal and interest, as well as expense and indefinite postponement of the payment of claims must inevitably follow. In view of the established earning power and financial condition of the company in normal conditions, a receivership is wholly unwarranted and can become necessary only if these maturities are not funded as provided in this plan."

Cancel National Tea Co., Piggly-Wiggly Franchises

New York, April 17.—(AP)—Albert H. Morrill, president of Piggly Wiggly corporation, a chain store system, announced today that all Piggly Wiggly franchise contracts held by National Tea company through subsidiaries had been canceled. This affects 118 Piggly Wiggly stores in Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul, Des Moines, Minneapolis, Rockford, Davenport, South Bend, and smaller cities in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, and Iowa. A new corporation is to receive the operating franchise for Chicago and vicinity and negotiations are under way to place contracts in other parts of the territory affected by the cancellation. Reasons for the change were not disclosed here.

DRY OR RAIN? CARRIES FATE OF WHEAT PRICE

Traders Here Watch Weather Reports.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Crop reports on wheat in the southwest are the most sensational for years. Trade sentiment, although radically bullish during a greater part of the week, moderated somewhat in the closing days. That was due to scattered reports of showers over the southwest, inducing profit taking and a little short selling by professional traders, while curtailing buying by the public. The latter has not come in with a rush of buying and has largely confined its purchases to breaks, taking profits on sharp bulges. The pit element has traded in the same way, making a nervous market with sharp fluctuations.

Responds to Shower Reports.

It was the impression amongst trade leaders that damage crop reports have grown stale and the trade became extremely sensitive to reports of showers.

All reports from the southwest suggest a lowering of crop estimates as compared with the government's returns of 458,000,000 bu. and 425,000,000 bu seems more likely as suggested by private experts at the close.

High winds and dust storms have taken the surface moisture out of the wheat fields all over the southwest and it will take more than ordinary showers to revive the wheat plant. A crop expert, discussing the situation, calls attention to a most important factor in the crop condition, pointing out that stooling has been imperfect and that it will be impossible to raise a large crop under such conditions.

Spring Wheat Prospects Good.

Prospects for spring wheat in the American and Canadian northwest while generally favorable, indicated that they were none too promising. The same tone also came from abroad as to conditions in many of the leading countries. In the face of the latter, however, advices from Europe said importers were not uneasy over the advance in wheat prices and the crop situation in the United States and were not increasing their purchases to any extent.

Were the foreigners to become panicky as they did in the latter part of 1924 and the first part of 1925, trade leaders expres the belief that materially higher prices would result. To have a heavy reduction in wheat production is regarded as the best thing that could possibly happen for the benefit of farmers and for business interests of this country. That should mean increased prices and a reduced wheat surplus, the latter being most essential. There will be liberal carryovers, however, so that there will be no scarcity of wheat even in the face of another short crop of spring wheat in the northwest.

Big Gain in Sales.

Speculative sales of wheat futures in Chicago last week of 284,421,000 bu compared with 233,524,00 bu the previous week, and 129,583,000 bu last year. Open interest in May wheat has been cut down over 14,000,000 bu of late, while that in July increased more than 7,000,000 bu, with September 3,600,000 bu more.

At the high point of the week wheat prices were up 8@8¾c from the low of the previous week, with the close at net gains of 2¼@2¾c over a week ago. July finished at 61⅞@62c, September 64¾@64¾, with May 58⅞@59¼c. Prices follow:

Corn traders are regarding the market as more two sided. Prices are low, and there is more disposition on the part of professionals to take the buying side on breaks. A feature of the trading was the large closing of spreads between wheat and corn, the latter being sold and wheat bought, showing good profits of late. Liquidation has been liberal and elevator interests are changing their hedges from May to July at around 3½c spread. In a few instances, hedges have been transferred from May to September. Corn stocks are expected

GLOBE-WERNICKE HEAD ASKS REORGANIZATION TO PROTECT COMPANY

New York, April 17.—H. C. Yeiser Jr., president of the Globe-Wernicke company, Cincinnati, has written to holders of 7 per cent convertible coupon notes, $6 preferred stock, and common stock of the company asking a voluntary reorganization of the concern. Mr. Yeiser says he is a large holder of the common stock and so far as he knows the largest holder of the notes, and intends in the reorganization plan to be "of material financial assistance."

"With the further decline in business since Jan. 1," the letter says, "it is our judgment that inventory values should be further drastically reduced. It has also been necessary to modify our views as to the amount of business probably obtainable during 1932. I believe it is apparent that the company has idle plant capacity which puts an overhead burden upon reduced volume, which adds to our problems.

"Under all these conditions I have come to the conclusion that the capital structure of the company is such that it can no longer be carried in its present form and it occurs to me that a voluntary reorganization in which the holders of the 7 per cent convertible coupon notes, the preferred stockholders, and the common stockholders all participate might be the salvation of the noteholders and the means of preserving some equity for the present preferred and common stockholders.

"It should be possible to handle a voluntary reorganization at a minimum of expense. I would like to suggest that in order to enable us to work constructively and to accomplish the reorganization as quickly as possible with the least possible expense, that three separate committees of three men each be formed. We have requested the First National bank of Cincinnati to act as depositary for the three committees when formed."

TARDIEU PRAISES QUOTA SYSTEM AS TEMPORARY AID

UIROMAGNY, France, April 17.—(AP)—Premier André Tardieu, speaking to his own constituency of Belfort, near the eastern border, today defended the quota system whereby imports into France are regulated. The quota system has been protested by American interests. The premier declared the system necessary in surmounting the present crisis.

"The hour has not yet returned for the policy of the open door," he said. "We must defend ourselves in order not to be submerged by massive low priced imports which nearly dealt us a death blow."

The premier praised the quota system for its suppleness and its efficiency, but said it could be only a temporary remedy and that as soon as possible France would prepare to turn the corner by adjusting her tariff.

The premier concluded his address with an attack on the Socialists. He said their presence in office would have the unavoidable consequence of the franc at less than a sou. (Normally a sou is equal to an American one cent piece, but is now worth one-fifth of a cent).

SOME OF STEEL DISTRICTS SHOW BETTER BUSINESS

Slight gains in steel production at Buffalo and Pittsburgh compensated for declines at Cleveland and in eastern Pennsylvania last week, holding the steelmaking rate at about 22 per cent, but substantial improvement at Birmingham reinforced by a modest increase at Youngstown and a comeback at Cleveland should lift the rate a point or two this week, states the magazine Steel.

Due to resumption of two blast furnaces and the Ensley mills of the Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railroad Co., the Birmingham rate this week will jump from 21 per cent to almost 50. A long-idle charcoal stack in Tennessee has been lighted.

Small Gains Reported in Wholesale Merchandise

A continued spotty condition in the wholesale and retail trade with a little change for the better in the underlying feeling of conservatism of both buyers and sellers characterized the last week in Chicago, according to trade observers of the Chicago Association of Commerce. A few leading wholesale lines presented small gains. Though buyers were brought into the market through several exhibitions and special anniversary sales the general tone still remained irregular.

CITIES SERVICE OIL EARNINGS DROP SHARPLY

Utility Income Good During 1931.

New York, April 17.—(AP)—The annual report of the Cities Service company issued today attributes the shrinkage in net earnings to $63,106,000 for 1931 from $84,862,000 in the previous year almost entirely to the chaotic conditions which prevailed in the oil industry.

This company, controlling widespread public utility and petroleum properties, reported total assets at the end of 1931 of a book value of $1,312,000,000. Gross earnings for the year were $177,046,000, against $263,036,000 the year before.

Utility Revenues Steady.

Revenues from its utility properties showed little change from the year before—$86,784,000 in 1931 against $87,789,000 in 1930—but a sharp decrease was reported in earnings from its oil division, which declined to $70,027,000 from $102,181,000 in 1930, the highest in the company's history.

"The demoralization of the petroleum business was the worst in its history," Henry L. Doherty said, as chairman of the board, in his statement to stockholders. "Proration regulation and martial law, rather than ability to produce, governed the domestic production of crude oil by your subsidiaries."

Mr. Doherty said oil is now being produced at a lower unit cost than ever before. He also expressed satisfaction over "a greater disposition in several oil producing states to strengthen laws to prevent waste of both oil and gas, and a greater spirit of coöperative endeavor within the industry itself."

Has 614,712 Stockholders.

The company had 614,712 stockholders at the end of the year, and Mr. Doherty stated that "there are now more than 1,000,000 investors in the securities of Cities Service company and subsidiaries."

Accounts and notes payable of the company and its subsidiaries, including Federal Light and Traction company and its subsidiaries, were reduced by $25,000,000 during the year and funded debt by more than $17,000,000.

The consolidated balance sheet showed current assets of $115,665,000, against current liabilities of $95,014,000, compared with current assets of $179,209,000 in 1930 and current liabilities of $116,800,000. Cash account stood at $41,817,000 against $73,186,000 the year before, notes payable were reduced to $68,784,000 from $91,603,000 the year previous. Surplus account stood at $230,444,000 against $229,600,000 at the end of 1930.

"Since the close of 1931," Mr. Doherty added, "two funded debt obligations aggregating $6,250,000 have been paid. The only remaining funded debt maturity in 1932 is $35,000,000 Toledo Light and Power 5 per cent secured gold notes, due Dec. 1. There are no other funded debt maturities of any large amount until 1942, except $8,000,000 of bonds maturing in 1937."

Chile Copper Earnings Drop.

Chile Copper company and its subsidiaries, comprising one of the principal operating properties in the Anaconda Copper mining group, reports for 1931 operating revenue of $10,366,000, against $25,774,000 in 1930. Net income amounted to $518,000, which compared with $8,250,000 in 1930 before depletion charges.

Andes Copper Mining company, another Anaconda subsidiary, reports for 1931 operating revenue of $4,757,000, against $17,082,000 in 1930. Net loss of $24,000 was recorded for the year, against net income of $5,076,000 in 1930 before depletion.

The Greene Cananea Copper company, which is 90 per cent owned by Anaconda, had $2,640,000 revenues in 1931, against $5,960,000 in 1930. Net income of $236,000 was reported for the year, against $1,276,000 in 1930 before depletion.

Morgan Utility Investing Company.

The United Corporation, Morgan-sponsored public utility investing company, shows for the first quarter of 1932 that it fully earned its common dividend with a margin to spare.

Dividends and interest received in cash by the company, not including dividends received in stock, amounted to $3,904,000. After payment of interest and current expenses there was a balance applicable to dividends of $3,651,006. After payment of the quarterly dividend on the $3 cumulative preference stock, there was a balance of $1,785,006 left for the common, equivalent to 12 cents a share against the quarterly payment of 10 cents.

Balance after all dividends amounted to $332,000 which was carried to surplus, increasing that figure to $7,873,000.

The company reported $18,445,000 net for the full year 1930. First quarter earnings for this year were at an annual rate of $14,607,000.

WABASH RECEIVERS REPORT $7,050,746 AS LOSSES DURING 1931

New York, April 17.—(AP)—The receivers for the Wabash Railway company, in submitting to stockholders the annual report for 1931, disclose that the road suffered a net loss during the year of $7,050,746 compared with net income in 1930 of $3,781,755. In explaining the appointment of receivers for the road, last Dec. 1, the report states:

"Owing to the depression in general business, which has continued from late in 1929 with a subsequent falling off in freight and passenger traffic and widespread financial stringency, your company was unable to meet all its maturing obligations, such as interest and principal on funded debt obligations, pay rolls, vouchers for labor and material, etc."

The road's total operating revenues for the year amounted to $49,163,325, compared with $61,970,751 for the previous period. Net operating income totaled $366,994 against $7,711,675 for 1930. At the same time total operating expenses dropped from $47,249,762 in 1930 to $42,024,254, although traffic expenses actually increased $70,382.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 17.—L. F. Loree, president of the Delaware and Hudson railroad, resumes his attacks on the four system consolidation plan in a brief to be filed with the interstate commerce commission tomorrow. Mr. Loree bought control of the Lehigh Valley and Wabash roads five years ago, with the purpose of assembling a fifth trunk line, but the opposition of the four eastern trunk lines caused him to abandon his scheme, and he then sold control of the two lines to the Pennsylvania railroad.

In his latest move against the four system plan he charges that its proponents would partition his railroad, with resultant detriment to its stockholders. Under the plan control of his road would be shared by the four trunk lines, but their briefs do not suggest compulsory mergers. Mr. Loree also asserts that joint control of his line would not necessarily improve its efficiency, and that, if anything, the contrary would result.

The Delaware and Hudson's brief, which is signed by H. T. Newcomb, solicitor for the railroad, contends that, through losses in investments incurred as a result of buying key lines, some of the four system applicants "have become, and must for a long time remain, financially impotent to consummate their consolidation plans, even should those plans be forthwith fully approved."

Japan Doubles Cotton Buys at Little Extra Expense

The national foreign trade council says that Japan imported twice as much cotton last year as in 1930. Low prices enabled it to take the increase at a rise of only 21 per cent in cost.

Bond Mart Does About Face as Prices in All Groups Gain

New York, April 17.—(AP)—The bond market, after days of steady declines and low price records, did a turn-about-face toward the close of last week, with all classes of loans participating in substantial recoveries.

Previously, the United States government list had been the center of investment interest, while corporate issues generally went begging. The federals almost daily established new year's tops, with the demand the heaviest in months.

Other Bonds Get Chance.

Then, on Friday, things changed. The hard pressed utilities, railways, and industrials joined forces and the aristocratic "governments" had to take a back seat. But the moderate reactions that came into the government department were attributed mostly to profit taking.

Various factors were given credit for the belated rally of bonds. In the first place, there was the announcement that the federal reserve system intended to stem the deflationary tide by increasing its purchases of government bonds to around $100,000,000 a week.

Also the Middle West Utilities company situation, which had been hanging like a sword over the market, came to a head with a friendly receivership. At the same time, dealers pointed out, investors and traders suddenly realized that many securities were actually selling at prices much less than the salvage value of properties they represented.

Utilities and Rails Benefit.

While the highest grade loans took part in the ensuing rally, the utilities and railroads of the speculative contingent received the greatest play. The utilities took the lead on Friday and held it most of Saturday until, in the latter part of the short session, the carriers came forward with a rush and gained first place in the upturn of the averages.

In the two final days gains of from 1 to 10 or more points were registered by bonds of Atchison, Baltimore and Ohio, Allegheny corporation, Canadian Northern, Canadian Pacific, Missouri Pacific, Nickel Plate, Wabash, New York Central, Frisco, New Haven, Baltimore and Ohio, Central Pacific, Chesapeake corporation, Chesapeake and Ohio, St. Paul, Chicago and North Western, Erie, Northern Pacific, and Pennsylvania.

The utilities ran almost neck and neck with the rails and the industrials were not far behind. Notable advances were made by some liens of American Telephone, International Telephone, Columbia Gas, Cincinnati Gas, Postal Telegraph, Western Union, American and Foreign Power, Armour & Co., California Petroleum, Dodge Bros., International Paper, and a host of others.

The foreign section was somewhat quiet, although most of these bonds firmed at the week-end, led by the Argentines and Germans.

PHILADELPHIA CO. REPORTS DECLINE IN ITS EARNINGS

Philadelphia company, holding company for extensive utility properties in the Pittsburgh area, yesterday reported net income of $14,278,285 for 1931 available for common and preferred dividends. This compares with net earnings in 1930 of $15,330,103. Gross earnings were $56,036,779, against $60,521,044 in the preceding year.

Earnings were adversely affected by the depressed state of business in the Pittsburgh area last year, the report says. The company put into effect a supplemental rate schedule on gas during the year to stimulate sales, Frank R. Phillips, president, stated. This applied to certain off season uses and special industries, he said.

The company is controlled by the Byllesby interests of Chicago through ownership of the common stock of Standard Gas and Electric company, a subsidiary of Standard Power and Light corporation.

CITROEN ASSAILS WORK METHODS IN U. S. FACTORIES

PARIS, April 17.—(AP)—Andre Citroen, French automobile manufacturer, recommended to American manufacturers in an international radio broadcast tonight the French system of reducing the hours of workmen rather than closing factories while they get rid of stocks.

The United States was behind Europe in the way of introducing new cars to the public, he said. He urged the American makers to keep their factories going full time and rigorously abstain from closing them for several months, then reopening their plants only to close them again.

"It is better to do what we have done in France, namely, to try to keep all workmen on, reducing if need be, the number of hours weekly," he said. "It is preferable to have courage to continue manufacture, rather than to dismiss workmen."

Farrell to Attend Last Steel Meeting as President

Stockholders of United States Steel corporation will hold their annual meeting today at Hoboken, N. J. This is the last session at which James A. Farrell will appear in the president's rôle, for on Tuesday William A. Irvin takes over that office. Also, it will be the first appearance of Myron C. Taylor as chairman of the board.

PRICES CALLED FAR TOO LOW IN WALL STREET

BY ALEXANDER D. NOYES.

[Financial Editor, New York Times.]

New York, April 17.—The United States senate is not usually the place in which keen, searching and accurate views of the financial markets would be looked for, but when Senator Smoot appealed last week to the American people, not to let their security holdings go if they could possibly help it, on the ground that "there is more intrinsic value back of all of them than is shown on the market today," he stated precisely what is believed and declared by every practical and experienced judge of financial values.

Senator Smoot's statement was supplemented by the scornful comment in another quarter that the present investing public "seems determined to give away America." It is supported by a distinguished visiting financier from England, who remarked last week that the New York Stock exchange market 's just now the anomaly of the world, because it no longer appraises by its movement actual events and values but is misused by the investing public in a manner which makes false valuations inevitable.

Values Too Low Now.

The relation between existing market prices [especially for bonds] and the real value of the properties, is exactly, with the market's trend inverted, what the relation was between market prices and real values in the middle of 1929. With the dispelling of that period's monstrous illusions—the excited bidding of 200 and 300 for shares paying 5 or 6 per cent, the 400 price for a stock that had never paid dividends—there seemed to be a chance that the sobered investment community would construct its future ideas of values intelligently and unemotionally.

But, having convinced itself in 1929 that no price was too high for anything, that an advance of 100 points was merely proof of a further and greater rise, the same public reappeared in 1931 and 1932, insisting that no price could be too low, and that the only meaning of a fall of 40 or 50 points was that another and still more violent decline was immediately impending.

Public Judgment Inflated.

Nowadays, every one is aware of the reason for the fantastically high prices of 1929. It was the fact that an entire community, totally misjudging intrinsic values, was buying

UTILITY SHARES ARE FEATURES OF CURB MARKET

Insull Stocks Are Among Those to Rise.

New York, April 17.—(AP)—A change for the better in market sentiment toward the utilities reversed curb trend sharply last week, although not until further liquidation in the earlier sessions had brought substantial losses.

Words that Peoples Gas, Commonwealth Edison and Public Service of Northern Illinois would not be affected by the Middle West Utilities receivership and announcement that loans of two Electric Bond and Share companies, American and Foreign Power and United Gas, had been extended for a year lifted the load of liquidation which had borne down virtually all members of the group.

Bond and Share Rallies.

Electric Bond and Share, after selling down to the neighborhood of 10, rallied smartly on the appearance of this news and a first quarter earnings statement, while the preferred shares, whose dividends were covered nearly three times over, jumped several points each. Commonwealth Edison soared above 70 on the subsequent rebound. Middle West stock had completely discounted the receivership.

Oils reacted when it was learned that crude output had been increased, although a firmer tone appeared coincident with an advance in gasoline prices. Humble made a new low during the dip. Cities Service got better support coincident with a reported short sequeeze on the Chicago exchange; there was some rather active covering in the local market.

Aluminum Shares Heavy.

Aluminum of America, currently one of the most active industrials, reached a new low at 24, but recovered above 31. U. S. Dairy Products "A" broke more than 30 points in light trading around mid-week. Pittsburg and Lake Erie railroad was also heavy and several thinly traded preferred issues of miscellaneous descriptions suffered wide losses before the general market hardened.

Atchison February Surplus Small After All Charges

Atchison System reported net income for February of $2,021 after taxes and charges, compared with a net loss of $956,575 in January. The comparison with February last year, however, is unfavorable as net income in the like 1931 month was $277,536. Current assets as of February 29, 1932, totaled $48,099,480, against $69,313,166 a year previous; current liabilities $19,573,556, against $25,359,754. Investments in stocks and bonds other than affiliated companies amounted to $23,825,014 against $23,107,578.

Paramount Publix.

Please advise me as to the earnings of Paramount Publix for 1931. How about the stocks and bonds?—C. E. W.

Paramount Publix corporation was one of the pioneers in the motion picture field. It now ranks among the leaders in the industry, operating in the producing, distributing, and exhibiting divisions.

During 1931 net income was $6,345,000, or $2.01 per common share against $18,381,000, or $5.90 per share, for 1930. Net for 1929 was $15,545,000, against $8,713,000 for 1928.

On Dec. 26, 1931, current assets were $35,728,000 and current liabilities were $23,682,000. Cash was $4,249,000, notes payable were $7,500,000, and purchase money obligations maturing within twelve months totaled $4,684,000. Working capital was $12,047,000, against $23,498,000 the year before.

Numerous acquisitions have been paid for in common stock. This the company contracted to repurchase on demand at various times at $80 per share. This was a drain on cash in 1931. A notation on the Dec. 26, 1931, balance sheet indicated that all such obligations had been fulfilled.

On April 1, 1932, a press dispatch stated that credit of $13,000,000 to $15,000,000 on six months notes renewable for an additional six months had been arranged.

There were 3,160,596 shares of no par common outstanding, which have paid no dividend since the 2½ per cent stock disbursement on Dec. 31, 1931.

In March, 1932, the company sold its half interest in Columbia Broadcasting System, Inc., for $5,200,000.

The results of motion picture companies in 1931 indicate that the industry is not depression proof, despite record earnings for 1930. Much, of course, depends upon the quality of plays produced. Any improvement in earnings in the near future, however, will probably depend more on economies effected rather than an increase in gross.

The industry appears to be passing out of the initial stage of experimentation and huge profits, and to be entering the stage of intense competition, where strict business policies are required.

The stock is speculative at present. The 6 per cent debentures due 1947 and the 5½s due 1950 are a business man's risk.

United Public Service.

I have a United Public Service 6½ per cent bond, due Oct. 1, 1933. How do you rate it?—Mrs. M. M. B.

to be reduced heavily by large shipments by lake to Buffalo as navigation opens Saturday. This corn, however, is not sold. Country holders took advantage of the bulge in prices to sell corn more liberally, and somewhat better receipts are expected.

Corn planting is on in the south and along the southern border of the corn belt, but weather conditions are against a general planting movement at present.

May corn closed Saturday at 33⅞c, July 37@37⅛c, and September 39⅛@39¼c, prices being unchanged to ⅛c lower for the week. Prices for the week follow:

Limited Changes in Oats.

Northwestern cash interests were said to be good buyers of oats on breaks, and there were changing operations from May to July. Local elevator interests are said to have done no changing so far. Commission house buying was of only fair volume. It is too early to make any report as to oat seeding. Closing trades on May were at 23⅞c, July 24¼c, and September 24⅝c, prices being ⅛c higher to ¼c lower compared with the previous week's finish. Prices follow:

Rye traders await buying orders from abroad, which are disappointing in size and number. The market's action has been influenced largely by that of wheat. Closing trades were ⅛c lower to 1⅜c higher than the previous week, May being 45⅝c, July 47⅝c, and September 49c.

PLAN TO REVISE CAPITAL SETUP OF CHATILLON CO.

A program for the revamping of the capital structure of the Tubize-Chatillon corporation will be submitted to stockholders at a special meeting May 16, Roland L. Taylor, president, announced yesterday.

The proposal calls for a simplification of the capital set-up through elimination of the so-called differential between the classes of stock which was adopted by the time of the merger of the Tubize and Chatillon companies.

Under the new structure the capitalization will consist of 25,000 shares of 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock, 135,715 shares of class A $7 dividend stock of $100 par value and 293,650 shares of common stock. The $2,000,000 American Chatillon corporation first mortgage 7 per cent bonds will not be affected by the changes.
